U.S.-Backed Rule Ousted In Viet Nam

Diem Overthrown In Bloody Uprising; Military Steps In

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Paratroop battalions overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem today in a brief but bloody before-dawn uprising. The rebels set up a military regime pledged to strengthen the nation's fight against Communist infiltration and end the rule of the Diem family.

Between 20 and 30 persons were killed and many others were wounded in sharp fighting between the rebel battalions and troops loyal to Diem. But by 3 p.m. calm prevailed in the capital. Armored units rolled into the city from Mytho, 75 miles to the south, in answer to a call from the president—but they joined the rebels.

The rebel military committee which took over the government was headed by paratrooper Col. Nguyan Chanh Thi. It claimed the full support of the army, navy and air force and said it had formed a temporary government.

No casualties were reported among the several thousand Americans in the country as military or civilian advisers to the Diem government.

The bachelor president, 59, a dedicated anti-Communist whose dictatorial methods and family influences had often come under fire, was reported alive inside the palace.

There was no word of the president's brother, Ngo Diem Nhu, or his wife. They were Diem's closest advisers, lived in the palace with him, and have been considered the powers behind the president.

The rebel military committee, in a broadcast announcing the ouster of the pro-American president, charged:

"Ngo Dinh Diem adopted a family dictatorship and was unable to face the situation which has deteriorated because of mounting Communist danger. The army has been divided and the population is without any freedom."

There was absolutely no indication that the army rebels contemplated a neutralist policy, as neighboring Laos has just adopted.

What Factors Led To Election As President?

Kennedy's Close Victory Analyzed

What factors led to John F. Kennedy's election as president? This becomes particularly significant in view of the closeness of the popular vote, the surprise results from some areas and the ballot splitting in others. Political experts were asked to supply their own analyses. The AP's Arthur Edson, himself a veteran of the political campaigns, summarizes in the following article.

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy has won the presidency, and the question today is, what brought him victory?

Why did Kennedy, and not Richard M. Nixon, win this hairsbreadth decision?

What produced this result, so close in state after state, some won by Kennedy, some by Nixon, the verdict could have gone the other way by shifting comparatively few votes?

To find out what's behind this exceptionally close verdict—not in this century have we had such a close one—The Associated Press has called on political experts from New York to California to Hawaii.

Their answers show how difficult it is to figure the voter's mind in this vast country.

In general, the experts seem to agree that Kennedy's Roman Catholicism helped him more than it hurt him, that he won ground on his television appearances, that he won much of the Negro vote, that Nixon lost in economically distressed areas.

In all these explanations, though, there still is no answer to this puzzler:

Since more voters are registered Democratic than Republican, how did Kennedy win so many points and still have such difficulty in pulling through?

But here's a rundown of key states in democracy's most fascinating story, the way it chooses its leader:

OHIO

Possibly no other state provided as big a surprise. Nearly everyone figured Ohio in the bag for votes went to Nixon, by a fairly substantial margin.

Why?

Gov. Michael V. Di Salle blames himself. He put through a tax program last year that cost more than three hundred million dollars. This, he says, may have made the Democratic party unpopular.

And Di Salle, a Catholic himself, added: "I guess I would be less than honest if I didn't say the religious issue was an important factor in Ohio."

Michael Bradshaw, editor of the Toledo Blade, disagrees with Di Salle on the importance of the religious issue, particularly in Ohio. Bradshaw blames the tax increase — and Democratic overconfidence.

SOUTH CAROLINA

If Ohio was the biggest blow to Kennedy, South Carolina must have been the most distressing news to Nixon. Nearly everyone was sure—especially Nixon supporters — that South Carolina's eight electoral votes would swing his way.

The Negro vote helped beat Nixon here, but a heavy Democratic vote by textile workers and an historic South Carolina reluctance to vote Republican were cited as added factors by S. L. Latimer Jr., editor of the Columbia State.

Latimer cited one Negro precinct that gave half its votes to Eisenhower in 1956 but went 4-1 for Kennedy this year.

Both Latimer and Wayne Freeman, editor of the Greenville News, said Negro registration was much heavier than in 1956 and Freeman added: "I think that may have played a part."

"The religious issue worked in reverse in this state, I think," Freeman said. "The Democrats very cleverly kept it alive and turned it to their own advantage."

L.S. Hembree, editor of the Anderson Independent, said the experts underestimated the effect of Kennedy's visit and of the whistle stop tour by his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

NEW YORK

This is the big one, with 45 electoral votes. And Kennedy won it big, with a 400,000-vote margin.

Three of the five political writers consulted by the AP think Kennedy's religion was a major factor in sweeping New York.

Leo Egan of the New York Times put it this way: "A great many Catholics who have been voting Republican apparently switched to Sen. Kennedy this time in the hope of electing a Catholic president for the first time in this nation's history."

Poor economic conditions, Egan added, hurt Nixon in some areas.

Jack Medoff of the Buffalo Evening News agreed, saying: "There are only two logical conditions why so many Republicans voted for Kennedy and then went back to their own party on the voting machines:

"1. Buffalo is predominately Catholic, an estimated 65 per cent.

"2. Even if it is said in hush-hush tones, the Buffalo area is very much depressed."

Dulles As CIA Head, Hoover, FBI Chief, To Stay In Office

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy flies to Palm Beach today to begin a working vacation, with a schedule that includes completing the blueprint of his Cabinet and a conference in Texas with his running mate Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy Receives Macmillan Message

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A personal message from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was delivered this morning to President-elect John F. Kennedy at his Hyannis Port home.

D'Arcy Edmondson, British counsul general in Boston, brought the message personally, but there was no immediate indication of the contents.

There were indications that he might ask President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon to shoulder important responsibilities in the incoming government.

And Adlai E. Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, appeared to be in his plans somewhere. Considerable speculation has centered on the possibility that Stevenson might be the next secretary of state.

Kennedy was moving ahead, full-tilt, with the business of government, barely 48 hours after winning the presidential election.

He announced that two super-important positions already are filled—by requesting the incumbents to remain in office.

They are Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both agreed to stay.

As to other possible appointments, Kennedy said this in his first news conference as president-elect:

Q. (On Eisenhower)—"You told President Eisenhower that you hoped his long experience could be drawn on further in the years to come. Have you anything specifically in mind?"

A. "I have some thoughts, but I thought I would wait until I talked to him about it."

Q. (On Nixon)—"Is there any possibility that you might ask him to serve?"

A. "I would rather talk with him before I would say anything. I think we ought—I don't know what he is planning to do."

Q. (On Stevenson)—"Do you plan to give a major role in your administration to Adlai Stevenson?"

A. "I talked to Gov. Stevenson

3 Fires Cause $4,700 Loss At Wellsville

Double Garage And Car Destroyed In Blaze Ending Lull

In their first calls since August, Wellsville firemen were kept busy Thursday evening and early today extinguishing three separate blazes that caused damages estimated at more than $4,700.

A 14th St. man draining gasoline from an auto escaped injury in one of the fires when fumes apparently became ignited from a gas space heater in his garage.

Firemen said Frank Luckino, 408 14th St., was under the car draining gasoline from the tank into pans when the fumes ignited and destroyed a late model auto and his new double-garage.

The fire destroyed the 1959 Plymouth of Luckino's brother-in-law, Jerome Drago, 410 Broadway, and burned the roof off the concrete block garage.

Firemen set the loss at $4,000, including $2,000 to the building, $400 to its contents, and $1,600 to the auto. The blaze occurred at 7:20 p. m. Thursday.

Firemen added Luckino had just slid from under the auto when the fire broke out. The doors of the garage were open while he was draining the gasoline, Luckino said. The loss is believed covered by insurance.

Shortly before extinguishing the garage blaze, firemen had been called to the home of Dr. Campbell, 636 Henry Ave., when fire of undetermined origin in a clothes press caused about $700 damage.

Eleven firemen responded to the alarm at 5:35 p. m. The loss included about $300 to the home owned by Walter Jarvis, and $400 to contents of the clothespress. The blaze was discovered by an occupant.

A light bulb was blamed for igniting a tarpaulin hung over the end of a new section of building under construction at the Buckeye Works of the McLain Fire Brick Co., Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., on Clark Ave., at 4:20 a. m. today.

Firemen said the big tarpaulin was draped over an open end of the temporary structure as a windbreaker. Fire caused by the hot light bulb ignited the canvas, destroying it and damaging part of the roof.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis was to investigate further. Firemen made no estimate of the damage.

Firemen said the loss in the three fires amounted to more than had been listed for entire year. Firemen were idle most of the summer, with the last fire of any major proportion occurring early in August.

Man Crushed To Death By Falling Piano

Instrument Tumbles From Truck Onto Victim At Wellsville

An elderly East Palestine man was crushed to death when an old piano he was helping to load fell on him in Wellsville Thursday afternoon.

Mosie Stuart, 60, of 196 Alice St., was accidentally killed while helping to steady the cumbersome upright piano which toppled from the truck and crushed him against the pavement.

Police said the piano was being loaded onto the truck by Ralph Hostetter of Wellsville R. D. 1 and Clyde Hostetter of near East Palestine.

The piano was being transported from the Gospel Mission. The mission is in the O'Hara Building on Main St.

Dr. R. C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, ruled that death was the result of a crushed chest received when the one-ton piano toppled on Mr. Stuart from the bed of a modified pickup truck.

Dr. Costello discounted speculation that Mr. Stuart, a night watchman at the Pittsburgh Chair Co. in East Palestine, might have suffered a heart attack leading to the accident.

Mr. Stuart was afflicted with a bad elbow and was not actually lifting the piano, but was steadying it while the two companions were securing it on the truck. Mr. Stuart was asked to steady the back side of the piano and it toppled and crushed him in the gutter. Dr. Costello said he was dead on arrival at City Hospital at 5:55 p. m.

Wellsville police are continuing an investigation.

Mr. Stuart was born at Riverside, Tenn., June 17, 1900, a son of John S. and Elizabeth Leidig Stuart. He was married in 1946 to Bessie Allshouse, and had been employed at the furniture firm for five years.

Mr. Stuart moved to East Palestine from Negley in 1945.

Survivors include his widow; step-father Charles Becker of West Salem; a brother, William I. Stuart of Darlington, and two sisters, Mrs. Willie Moore of Valencia, Pa., and Mrs. Cora Carter of Detroit.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home at East Palestine by the Rev. H. Dale Rough of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery at East Palestine.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Machine Falls Over Hillside, Killing Driver

Construction Firm's Employe Loses Life In Hancock's Mishap

A 37-year-old Morgantown area construction worker was fatally injured along Route 66 in Hancock County this morning about 7:45 when his large high-lift machine toppled over an embankment.

John Rice of Brandonville, W. Va., died of loss of blood as first aid was about to be administered by ambulance attendants at the site about a mile south of the intersection with the Congo Rd.

Mr. Rice apparently was driving the machine to the Ohio River bank where his firm is clearing the shoreline area in preparation for the rise of the river pool after completion of the Stratton Superdam.

The victim was found about a half hour after the mishap by his supervisor, who said the high-lift apparently slipped down the embankment due to a mechanical failure.

Dr. J. E. Hall of Newell, called to the scene, said death was caused by shock due to loss of blood. The man's left leg was crushed.

Alvin (Pete) Arner of Chester, ambulance operator, was about to administer first aid immediately after he arrived, but Mr. Rice expired before treatment could be given.

The accident occurred on a steep slope along the highway, between the road and the adjacent Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks. Mr. Rice was headed toward the river bank site to work.

He was employed by the Glisan Lumber Co. of Markleysburg, Pa., doing the work under a government contract.

Mr. Rice roomed at the home of Harry Lytton of Grant St., Newell, while working in this area.

The Arner Chester Chapel is making funeral arrangements.

Mistaken Identity

'Dead' Girl Found Alive In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—How did the body of the "wrong" airline stewardess get into a coffin scheduled for burial in the Bronx?

Who, then, was the unconscious girl in a California hospital?

A tragic case of mistaken identity, a coroner explained Thursday.

The announcement brought crushing despair to the family of one girl and joyous hope to another.

Last Monday, four stewardesses were in a head-on traffic crash while riding in a taxicab near the San Francisco Airport. They were taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame. One stewardess died. And on the basis of a few scattered personal papers found at the scene she was identified as Mary Hawthorne, 26, a tall blonde from New York City.

The survivors underwent surgery. One girl, her face bandaged, remained unconscious. She was identified as Joan Frost, 26, of New York City.

But the identifications were wrong and the body of Miss Frost was shipped to New York for burial.

Coroner Paul Jensen, 52, of San Mateo County, said identification was made on the basis of the purse and personal effects arriving at Peninsula Hospital.

"Here you have the situation—four girls arriving at the hospital all in the same uniforms. All with the same hairdos, and all with the same type of attire," he said.

The body of the dead girl had been placed in a sealed casket and when she arrived here the lid remained closed.

Only a sentimental gesture on the part of Miss Hawthorne's friends halted the funeral, scheduled for Thursday.

Norma Pugh, also an American Airlines Stewardess, and another of Miss Hawthorne's friends, Robert Evans, an American flight engineer, went to the Bronx funeral home Wednesday to pay their last respects.

Miss Pugh had one of Miss Hawthorne's favorite rings — a pearl friendship ring. She and Evans asked that the coffin be opened so they could place the ring on Mary's finger.

"Oh, my God," cried Evans. "That's not Mary."

They called Mary's stepfather and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schnell, of the Bronx.

Hurried calls were placed to California.

The bandaged girl regained consciousness Thursday and murmured: "I'm Mary Hawthorne."

The correct identification came as a shock to Thomas Frost, father of the dead girl. He had flown to California to be near the girl he thought to be his daughter. He couldn't know that her body was in a funeral home across the country.

When told, he collapsed. He and his son, William, 21, flew to their Philadelphia home last night. He was too grief-stricken to comment.

Mary Hawthorne still is in grave condition, but her family has hope.

Probe Asked On Charges Of Voting Fraud

GOP Chairman Calls For Investigation In States, Counties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton has asked state and county GOP chairmen to investigate charges of voting irregularities, particularly in Texas, the Carolinas, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said Thursday it had received many complaints alleging fraud, vote buying and other irregularities.

The spokesman said Morton had asked local officials to determine the facts and advise him and the Justice Department if they found a substantial basis for the complaints.

The New York Herald Tribune said today that allegations of election irregularities in several states caused Republican leaders to check all returns—and wonder if their concession of victory to Sen. John F. Kennedy might have been premature.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added that one top Republican figure told the Herald Tribune that if "half the reports we've been getting can be run down quickly enough to be proven," it is "quite possible" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would become president-elect.

The story also said in part:

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Nixon campaign, was less optimistic. He said a mass of reports from "almost a dozen states" indicated there had been serious irregularities — especially in Texas and Illinois. But he said his offhand view was that it may be too late to "catch enough of it" to switch the election result.

It was learned, however, that a preliminary survey at a conference Thursday convinced party leaders that the situation was serious enough to warrant challenges and possible federal investigations.

On the basis of unofficial returns, it seemed possible — although an extremely remote possibility—that the final outcome could switch, either to elect Nixon or to leave the decision to the House of Representatives because neither Kennedy nor Nixon won the necessary majority of 269 electoral votes. Twenty-six of the 537 electoral votes are not legally pledged to any candidate.

Official Count Shows No Material Changes

"No material changes" have been shown so far in the Columbiana County Election Board's official canvass of returns from the general election Tuesday, Frank R. O'Hanlon,, clerk of the board, commented this morning.

If there is an indication late this afternoon that the canvass can be completed within a few more hours, the staff will work tonight, O'Hanlon said. Otherwise, the job will be continued into Saturday morning.

O'Hanlon estimated about 33 per cent of the official count had been completed when the work resumed this morning. The official count was launched Thursday morning. Completion of the canvass makes the election results official. The figures will be certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus.

Canton Seaman Dies In Turnpike Accident

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—An auto rammed into the rear of a stopped truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike west of the Beaver Falls Interchange early today, killing a sailor riding in the car.

Police said the truck had stopped because of minor collision ahead.

The dead sailor was Paul Zengler, 20, of the Canton, Ohio, area. He was en route home from his station at Lakehurst, N.J.

The driver of the car, Jack W. Campbell, 22, of Poland, Ohio, was treated for minor cuts and abrasions. Police said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Irish Patrol Ambushed By Tribesmen, Kills 10

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — An Irish patrol ambushed by Baluba tribesmen in Katanga province apparently killed 10 of the attackers and wounded 10 others in a deseparate burst of fire before they were overwhelmed.

The U.N. Congo Command announced today that 10 wounded Baluba tribesmen had been captured at the site of Tuesday's ambush and 10 other tribesmen were found dead. Only two of the 11-man Irish patrol escaped unhurt.

Union Asserts Expiring Pact To Halt Work

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has served notice on the U. S. Potters Association that it will follow a "no contract, no work" policy when the present union-management agreement runs out Dec. 1.

The assertion was made in connection with two bargaining sessions between the USPA and the IBOP which ended in stalemate. The negotiators met first in New York City Oct. 4-14. Reconvening in Cleveland Nov. 2, the two sides broke off on Nov. 4 despite intervention of a federal mediator. They are expected to meet again at the call of the mediator.

The IBOP charged that the proposals which the USPA offered in the Cleveland meeting "would only mean 31 cents per month increase. . ." It said the proposal was rejected by the Generalware Wage Policy Committee of the union.

The IBOP is scheduled to open negotiations in Cleveland Nov. 21 with spokesmen for 5 chinaware firms with which it also has contracts. They include the Sterling China Co. and Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville.

Faces Arraignment

WELLSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Magistrate Angelo Ciccolella of Follansbee is to be arraigned Monday before Circuit Judge J. J. P. O'Brien on charges of embezzlement and larceny.

Marilyn Monroe Seen Headed For Divorce

NEW YORK (AP)—The marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller has broken up and the couple will seek a divorce, Earl Wilson said today in a copyrighted story in the New York Post.

Wilson quoted Miller, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, as saying "It's all over—there's no possibility of reconciliation. There'll be an announcement soon."

Brazil Rail, Coastal Shipping Strike Ends

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's railroad and coastal shipping strike ended today. About a half million government transport workers who struck Tuesday returned to their jobs.

Officials said the walkout was backed by Communists in an apparent test of strength of President Juscelino Kubitschek's administration.

Kennedy Edge Takes New Cut To 278,277

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trickling late returns from Tuesday's election cut Sen. John F. Kennedy's popular vote lead down today to 278,277 out of nearly 70 million ballots tabulated. That gave him 50.2 per cent of the total.

The count, with only 1,875 of the nation's 166,078 voting units unreported: Kennedy 33,567,212, Vice President Richard M. Nixon 33,288,935.

The revisions, minor in relation to the record total, had no effect on the electoral vote outcome.

Kennedy had 300 votes, well above the required 269, and held a thin lead for 32 more in California. The California outcome will be determined by the count of more than 200,000 absentee ballots next week.

Nixon had 188 and a lead for 3 more in Alaska with a few dozen remote polling places unreported.

Firemen said Frank Luckino, 408 14th St., was under the car draining gasoline from the tank into pans when the fumes ignited and destroyed a late model auto and his new double-garage.

The fire destroyed the 1959 Plymouth of Luckino's brother-in-law, Jerome Drago, 410 Broadway, and burned the roof off the concrete block garage.

Firemen set the loss at $4,000, including $2,000 to the building, $400 to its contents, and $1,600 to the auto. The blaze occurred at 7:20 p. m. Thursday.

Firemen added Luckino had just slid from under the auto when the fire broke out. The doors of the garage were open while he was draining the gasoline, Luckino said. The loss is believed covered by insurance.

Shortly before extinguishing the garage blaze, firemen had been called to the home of Dr. Campbell, 636 Henry Ave., when fire of undetermined origin in a clothes press caused about $700 damage.

Eleven firemen responded to the alarm at 5:35 p. m. The loss included about $300 to the home owned by Walter Jarvis, and $400 to contents of the clothespress. The blaze was discovered by an occupant.

A light bulb was blamed for igniting a tarpaulin hung over the end of a new section of building under construction at the Buckeye Works of the McLain Fire Brick Co., Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., on Clark Ave., at 4:20 a. m. today.

Firemen said the big tarpaulin was draped over an open end of the temporary structure as a windbreaker. Fire caused by the hot light bulb ignited the canvas, destroying it and damaging part of the roof.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis was to investigate further. Firemen made no estimate of the damage.

Firemen said the loss in the three fires amounted to more than had been listed for entire year. Firemen were idle most of the summer, with the last fire of any major proportion occurring early in August.

Man Crushed To Death By Falling Piano

Instrument Tumbles From Truck Onto Victim At Wellsville

An elderly East Palestine man was crushed to death when an old piano he was helping to load fell on him in Wellsville Thursday afternoon.

Mosie Stuart, 60, of 196 Alice St., was accidentally killed while helping to steady the cumbersome upright piano which toppled from the truck and crushed him against the pavement.

Police said the piano was being loaded onto the truck by Ralph Hostetter of Wellsville R. D. 1 and Clyde Hostetter of near East Palestine.

The piano was being transported from the Gospel Mission. The mission is in the O'Hara Building on Main St.

Dr. R. C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, ruled that death was the result of a crushed chest received when the one-ton piano toppled on Mr. Stuart from the bed of a modified pickup truck.

Dr. Costello discounted speculation that Mr. Stuart, a night watchman at the Pittsburgh Chair Co. in East Palestine, might have suffered a heart attack leading to the accident.

Mr. Stuart was afflicted with a bad elbow and was not actually lifting the piano, but was steadying it while the two companions were securing it on the truck. Mr. Stuart was asked to steady the back side of the piano and it toppled and crushed him in the gutter. Dr. Costello said he was dead on arrival at City Hospital at 5:55 p. m.

Wellsville police are continuing an investigation.

Mr. Stuart was born at Riverside, Tenn., June 17, 1900, a son of John S. and Elizabeth Leidig Stuart. He was married in 1946 to Bessie Allshouse, and had been employed at the furniture firm for five years.

Mr. Stuart moved to East Palestine from Negley in 1945.

Survivors include his widow; step-father Charles Becker of West Salem; a brother, William I. Stuart of Darlington, and two sisters, Mrs. Willie Moore of Valencia, Pa., and Mrs. Cora Carter of Detroit.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home at East Palestine by the Rev. H. Dale Rough of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery at East Palestine.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Official Count Shows No Material Changes

"No material changes" have been shown so far in the Columbiana County Election Board's official canvass of returns from the general election Tuesday, Frank R. O'Hanlon,, clerk of the board, commented this morning.

If there is an indication late this afternoon that the canvass can be completed within a few more hours, the staff will work tonight, O'Hanlon said. Otherwise, the job will be continued into Saturday morning.

O'Hanlon estimated about 33 per cent of the official count had been completed when the work resumed this morning. The official count was launched Thursday morning. Completion of the canvass makes the election results official. The figures will be certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus.

Canton Seaman Dies In Turnpike Accident

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—An auto rammed into the rear of a stopped truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike west of the Beaver Falls Interchange early today, killing a sailor riding in the car.

Police said the truck had stopped because of minor collision ahead.

The dead sailor was Paul Zengler, 20, of the Canton, Ohio, area. He was en route home from his station at Lakehurst, N.J.

The driver of the car, Jack W. Campbell, 22, of Poland, Ohio, was treated for minor cuts and abrasions. Police said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Marilyn Monroe Seen Headed For Divorce

NEW YORK (AP)—The marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller has broken up and the couple will seek a divorce, Earl Wilson said today in a copyrighted story in the New York Post.

Wilson quoted Miller, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, as saying "It's all over—there's no possibility of reconciliation. There'll be an announcement soon."

Brazil Rail, Coastal Shipping Strike Ends

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's railroad and coastal shipping strike ended today. About a half million government transport workers who struck Tuesday returned to their jobs.

Officials said the walkout was backed by Communists in an apparent test of strength of President Juscelino Kubitschek's administration.

Machine Falls Over Hillside, Killing Driver

Construction Firm's Employe Loses Life In Hancock's Mishap

A 37-year-old Morgantown area construction worker was fatally injured along Route 66 in Hancock County this morning about 7:45 when his large high-lift machine toppled over an embankment.

John Rice of Brandonville, W. Va., died of loss of blood as first aid was about to be administered by ambulance attendants at the site about a mile south of the intersection with the Congo Rd.

Mr. Rice apparently was driving the machine to the Ohio River bank where his firm is clearing the shoreline area in preparation for the rise of the river pool after completion of the Stratton Superdam.

The victim was found about a half hour after the mishap by his supervisor, who said the high-lift apparently slipped down the embankment due to a mechanical failure.

Dr. J. E. Hall of Newell, called to the scene, said death was caused by shock due to loss of blood. The man's left leg was crushed.

Alvin (Pete) Arner of Chester, ambulance operator, was about to administer first aid immediately after he arrived, but Mr. Rice expired before treatment could be given.

The accident occurred on a steep slope along the highway, between the road and the adjacent Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks. Mr. Rice was headed toward the river bank site to work.

He was employed by the Glisan Lumber Co. of Markleysburg, Pa., doing the work under a government contract.

Mr. Rice roomed at the home of Harry Lytton of Grant St., Newell, while working in this area.

Irish Patrol Ambushed By Tribesmen, Kills 10

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — An Irish patrol ambushed by Baluba tribesmen in Katanga province apparently killed 10 of the attackers and wounded 10 others in a deseparate burst of fire before they were overwhelmed.

The U.N. Congo Command announced today that 10 wounded Baluba tribesmen had been captured at the site of Tuesday's ambush and 10 other tribesmen were found dead. Only two of the 11-man Irish patrol escaped unhurt.

Mistaken Identity

'Dead' Girl Found Alive In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—How did the body of the "wrong" airline stewardess get into a coffin scheduled for burial in the Bronx?

Who, then, was the unconscious girl in a California hospital?

A tragic case of mistaken identity, a coroner explained Thursday.

The announcement brought crushing despair to the family of one girl and joyous hope to another.

Last Monday, four stewardesses were in a head-on traffic crash while riding in a taxicab near the San Francisco Airport. They were taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame. One stewardess died. And on the basis of a few scattered personal papers found at the scene she was identified as Mary Hawthorne, 26, a tall blonde from New York City.

The survivors underwent surgery. One girl, her face bandaged, remained unconscious. She was identified as Joan Frost, 26, of New York City.

But the identifications were wrong and the body of Miss Frost was shipped to New York for burial.

Coroner Paul Jensen, 52, of San Mateo County, said identification was made on the basis of the purse and personal effects arriving at Peninsula Hospital.

"Here you have the situation—four girls arriving at the hospital all in the same uniforms. All with the same hairdos, and all with the same type of attire," he said.

The body of the dead girl had been placed in a sealed casket and when she arrived here the lid remained closed.

Only a sentimental gesture on the part of Miss Hawthorne's friends halted the funeral, scheduled for Thursday.

Norma Pugh, also an American Airlines Stewardess, and another of Miss Hawthorne's friends, Robert Evans, an American flight engineer, went to the Bronx funeral home Wednesday to pay their last respects.

Miss Pugh had one of Miss Hawthorne's favorite rings — a pearl friendship ring. She and Evans asked that the coffin be opened so they could place the ring on Mary's finger.

"Oh, my God," cried Evans. "That's not Mary."

They called Mary's stepfather and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schnell, of the Bronx.

Hurried calls were placed to California.

The bandaged girl regained consciousness Thursday and murmured: "I'm Mary Hawthorne."

The correct identification came as a shock to Thomas Frost, father of the dead girl. He had flown to California to be near the girl he thought to be his daughter. He couldn't know that her body was in a funeral home across the country.

When told, he collapsed. He and his son, William, 21, flew to their Philadelphia home last night. He was too grief-stricken to comment.

Mary Hawthorne still is in grave condition, but her family has hope.

Union Asserts Expiring Pact To Halt Work

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has served notice on the U. S. Potters Association that it will follow a "no contract, no work" policy when the present union-management agreement runs out Dec. 1.

The assertion was made in connection with two bargaining sessions between the USPA and the IBOP which ended in stalemate. The negotiators met first in New York City Oct. 4-14. Reconvening in Cleveland Nov. 2, the two sides broke off on Nov. 4 despite intervention of a federal mediator. They are expected to meet again at the call of the mediator.

The IBOP charged that the proposals which the USPA offered in the Cleveland meeting "would only mean 31 cents per month increase. . ." It said the proposal was rejected by the Generalware Wage Policy Committee of the union.

The IBOP is scheduled to open negotiations in Cleveland Nov. 21 with spokesmen for 5 chinaware firms with which it also has contracts. They include the Sterling China Co. and Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville.

Faces Arraignment

Probe Asked On Charges Of Voting Fraud

GOP Chairman Calls For Investigation In States, Counties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton has asked state and county GOP chairmen to investigate charges of voting irregularities, particularly in Texas, the Carolinas, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said Thursday it had received many complaints alleging fraud, vote buying and other irregularities.

The spokesman said Morton had asked local officials to determine the facts and advise him and the Justice Department if they found a substantial basis for the complaints.

The New York Herald Tribune said today that allegations of election irregularities in several states caused Republican leaders to check all returns—and wonder if their concession of victory to Sen. John F. Kennedy might have been premature.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added that one top Republican figure told the Herald Tribune that if "half the reports we've been getting can be run down quickly enough to be proven," it is "quite possible" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would become president-elect.

The story also said in part:

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Nixon campaign, was less optimistic. He said a mass of reports from "almost a dozen states" indicated there had been serious irregularities — especially in Texas and Illinois. But he said his offhand view was that it may be too late to "catch enough of it" to switch the election result.

It was learned, however, that a preliminary survey at a conference Thursday convinced party leaders that the situation was serious enough to warrant challenges and possible federal investigations.

On the basis of unofficial returns, it seemed possible — although an extremely remote possibility—that the final outcome could switch, either to elect Nixon or to leave the decision to the House of Representatives because neither Kennedy nor Nixon won the necessary majority of 269 electoral votes. Twenty-six of the 537 electoral votes are not legally pledged to any candidate.

Kennedy Edge Takes New Cut To 278,277

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trickling late returns from Tuesday's election cut Sen. John F. Kennedy's popular vote lead down today to 278,277 out of nearly 70 million ballots tabulated. That gave him 50.2 per cent of the total.

The count, with only 1,875 of the nation's 166,078 voting units unreported: Kennedy 33,567,212, Vice President Richard M. Nixon 33,288,935.

The revisions, minor in relation to the record total, had no effect on the electoral vote outcome.

Kennedy had 300 votes, well above the required 269, and held a thin lead for 32 more in California. The California outcome will be determined by the count of more than 200,000 absentee ballots next week.

Nixon had 188 and a lead for 3 more in Alaska with a few dozen remote polling places unreported.

Close Victory By Kennedy Is Analyzed

And Arvis Chalmers of the Albany Knickerbocker News:

"1. Kennedy's religion.

"2. Support of ethnic groups whose backing had helped achieve New Deal victories of the 1930s and 40s.

"3. A better-than-usual vote in economically depressed areas."

Tim O'Hara of the New York Herald Tribune was impressed with the way Kennedy ran his campaign.

"The Kennedy personal planning was astounding in its depth. The Kennedy personal machine kept up a steady barrage on the voters by bringing in distinguished speakers almost daily. Republicans complained even during the campaign that their man failed to do this."

And Dick Lee of the New York Daily News said: "Nixon's unpopularity with the New York voters, plus the economic conditions throughout the state and a slight touch of Mr. Rockefeller's high taxes, were responsible for the shift."

MINNESOTA

When Minnesota's 11 electoral votes went to Kennedy, at noon Wednesday, he was home a winner.

Sidney Goldfish, who directs the Minneapolis Tribune's poll, bases his analysis on his pre-election samplings.

Goldfish found that, in Minnesota at least, Kennedy had a stronger appeal for young voters and for women than Adlai Stevenson had in 1956. And Kennedy outdrew Stevenson also among college-educated persons, 33 per cent to 21 per cent, the polling indicated.

The Duluth Herald said editorially poor economic conditions in northern Minnesota, including the famous Iron Range, helped Kennedy.

And Managing Editor Franklin Rogers of the Mankato Free Press comes up with what could be the greatest irony of the 1960 campaign.

In West Virginia's primaries Kennedy ran over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., so convincingly Humphrey dropped out of the race completely.

Yet, Rogers says, "Kennedy owes his Minnesota victory to the popularity of Sen. Humphrey, who led his ticket by a wide margin. If Humphrey had not been on the ticket, it's doubtful if Kennedy would have carried Minnesota."

PENNSYLVANIA

As far as Kennedy is concerned, the big news here (32 electoral votes) is the Philadelphia story.

Or in the words of James R. Doran, editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News:

"Sorting out causes for Nixon's defeat in Pennsylvania: (1) The astounding 326,407 Democratic plurality piled up by Rep. William J. Green's Philadelphia city machine. (2) The Republicans' 200,000 deficit in 10 distressed area counties. And (3) The religious issue."

Joseph M. Miller of the Philadelphia Inquirer points out that Democrats have a city registration of 587,000 votes — and Kennedy polled 612,000. Republicans registered 409,000 and Nixon polled 285,000.

"The complete collapse of the Philadelphia Republican organization," Miller says, "was the chief factor contributing to the outcome in Pennsylvania."

Adrian Lee of the Philadelphia Bulletin says unemployment and and religion were the big factors in Pennsylvania. And on religion, Lee believes Kennedy was a big winner.

Republican Catholics flocked to Kennedy, but "in most of the so-called Bible belt counties, the anti-Catholic feeling didn't generate much bigger majorities than president Eisenhower got in 1956."

And the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette & Sun-Telegraph said in its post-election analysis: "The overriding factor in Pennsylvania undoubtedly was economic. There are pockets of serious unemployment and under-employment."

TEXAS

Texas wandered off the Democratic reservation in 1952 and 1956—and many believed it would give its 24 electoral votes to Nixon, too.

And when you wonder why it went to Kennedy you get three different reasons from three observers.

Sam Kinch of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram thinks personality played a major role: "Nixon was never able to match the popularity of Eisenhower. When he let himself get drawn into that debate series, he came off second best."

Raymond Brooks of the Austin American-Statesman credits Lyndon B. Johnson with getting the Democrats to close ranks and attack the Republicans.

"He had bridged most of the old Democratic family conflicts, drawing into teamwork many who had spent the last eight years fighting each other."

And Bob Hollingsworth of the Dallas Times Herald:

"The religious issue cut both ways for Kennedy. Protestant rural areas chose to remain Democratic rather than vote against a Roman Catholic. And Kennedy won areas where Catholic Latin Americans are concentrated, El Paso, San Antonio and South Texas to the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"Much of this went to Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956."

ILLINOIS

Kennedy won Illinois' 27 votes —by a whisker.

"The religious issue," John Dreiske of the Chicago Sun-Times said, "proved to be a big factor in saving Kennedy in Illinois."

Dreiske thinks many Catholics who normally vote Republican went for Kennedy. And he thinks the Negro vote in Chicago was a big item in helping Kennedy carry the state.

Chicago's American said editorially: "The Democratic sweep in Cook County (Chicago) proved again the enormous influence wielded by Mayor (Richard J.) Daley and the well oiled efficiency of his organization.

"Elsewhere in the state the trend was toward splitting tickets. In Chicago the trend was countered by the massive straight ticket vote marshaled by the disciplined Democrats."

MICHIGAN

Kennedy was supposed to take this state's 20 electoral votes fairly easily. It wasn't easy, but he won them.

Here's William C. Kulsea, Lansing bureau chief for the Booth Newspapers, Inc., and his view of what happened:

"Kennedy took Michigan because of a superior Democratic-AFL-CIO political machine and his attraction to women voters. He fired up party workers much more than Stevenson did in 1952 and 1956, and was able to overcome the issue of religion which did hurt him some in outstate Michigan."

Ray Courage, who handles politics for the Detroit Free Press, says:

"The most significant factor in Michigan is that the results seem to indicate that this state definitely is in the Democratic column now, chiefly from population increases."

CALIFORNIA

With its 32 electoral votes, this was a major—and unpredictable—battle. Kennedy was leading, but the margin was so close Republicans still hope enough Nixon votes will be found to pull this, his home state, back into his column.

Earl C. Behrens, the veteran political editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, thinks religion was important, and he thinks minority groups, especially Negroes and the Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles, swung from Eisenhower to Kennedy.

Carl Greenberg, the political editor of the Los Angeles Examiner:

"Primarily, I believe the TV debates had tremendous impact. They utterly destroyed an earlier image of Kennedy as an immature young man.

"Additionally, I'm inclined to believe the management of the Nixon campaign somehow got off the track."

COLORADO

Here Republican hustle helped swing its six electoral votes to Nixon.

Bert Hanna of the Denver Post says that at a time when "the Democratic organization on the state level was demoralized," there was a "vastly improved and militant Republican organization."

The Rocky Mountain News said editorially that "concern for the sound dollar and a firm foreign policy" influenced Colorado voters, and "the much discussed 'farm revolt' just wasn't there."

WASHINGTON

Before the election, the pitch was that Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini was in trouble and was clutching desperately for Kennedy's coattails.

Yet Rosellini was re-elected, Kennedy lost Washington's nine electoral votes.

Stub Nelson of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and Ross Cunningham of the Seattle Times agree that this is partly due to Washington's independent, unpredictable voters, plus a Kennedy organization run by amateurs and a Nixon organization staffed by professionals.

HAWAII

The vote is so close it could go either way, and unofficially has switched already from Nixon to Kennedy and back to Nixon.

And what happened out there?

William H. Ewing, editor of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin:

"The international Longshoremens and Warehousemens Union support of Nixon in the islands did have some effect as shown by the returns from the outside islands, heavily for Nixon."

Adam A. Smyser, managing editor of the Star Bulletin, said:

"The election once again proved that Hawaii is a middle-of-the-road state."

Nation Pays Its Tribute To War Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation pays tribute to the veterans of all American wars in ceremonies originally scheduled to commemorate the armistice that ended World War I.

The Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery form the pattern for similar observances being conducted by veterans and patriotic organizations in other parts of the country.

At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month — the very moment when the guns went silent along the Western Front in Europe 42 years ago—a presidential wreath will be placed at the Tomb of The Unknowns.

For the first time this year, a torch that was lighted in Antwerp, Belgium, and flown across the Atlantic Ocean, will be presented in the amphitheater adjoining the tomb. Another torch, lighted in this country, has been flown eastward across the ocean for presentation at similar ceremonies in Antwerp.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., former commandant of the Marine Corps, will address representatives of the veterans organizations in the amphitheater.

The day was observed as Armistice Day through 1953. Thereafter, by act of Congress, the name was changed to honor the services of veterans of all wars.

Sponsorship of the Arlington ceremonies is rotated yearly among veterans organizations. This year the Marine Corps League is in charge.

By agreement among the organizations, regional observances are being conducted elsewhere in the country with the ceremonies being in charge of the following organizations:

The American Legion at New Orleans; Veterans of Foreign Wars at Long Beach, Calif.; Army Navy Legion of Valor at Trenton, N. J.: Disabled Veterans at Birmingham, Ala.; and the Amvets at Louisville, Ky.

Winners Listed In Magazine Sale

A sophomore girl finished as the top salesman in the magazine contest conducted by East Liverpool High School students.

Winners of four other major awards along with the top rooms in each class were announced today by Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys.

Leslie (Boots) Erwine won the $50 award as the high individual salesman, reporting a total of $745.25.

Second place and $35 went to Marvin Feldman with $361.83 while Beverly Couch won $30 for her sales of $205.40. Susan Vodrey finished fourth with $181.59, winning $25, and Bruce Weiner was fifth with $121.56, good for $20.

Miss Erwine's sales boosted the sophomore room taught by Joseph Gruszczynski to first place in the school with $801.55 and automatically winning a theater party for the room by passing the $600 total. As teacher of the high room, Gruszczynski won a steak dinner for two.

Other winners of theater parties by classes were Miss Mary Anna Lindsey's sophomore room, $414.50; Robert Hedmond's junior room, $338.03; and Miss Mary Underwood's senior room, $294.78.

Russians Hear Kennedy

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio broadcast for home service listeners today the text of President-Elect John F. Kennedy's reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's congratulatory telegram on Kennedy's election.

Groups Meet At Salineville

Plans were made to sell a clock and Christmas ribbon to raise funds to provide baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving at Christmas.

Mrs. Nina Peterson, president, was in charge. Lunch was served by Miss Grace Kellogg and Mrs. Peterson. The group will meet Nov. 22 for a coverdish dinner at the clubroom at Kellogg's Confectionery. A pinning ceremony will be held and baskets filled.

The Neighborhood Club met Wednesday night with Mrs. Lela Lewis of Salem, former Salineville resident. Games were played and lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Joy Louise Lewis.

First nomination of officers was held at a meeting of Cable Rebekah Lodge Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall.

Second nomination will be held at a "past Noble Grand Night" Nov. 22. Mrs. Beulah Gardner, noble grand, presided. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hazel Hart, Mrs. Margaret Enright and Mrs. Helen Starkey.

Plans for a Christmas party Dec. 12 were completed at a meeting of the Buds and Blossoms Flower Club Wednesday night with Mrs. Clyde Fergason of Commerce St. The party will be held with Mrs. Robert Bettis.

Mrs. Margaret Carter directed games. Mrs. Bella Carter won a prize. Care of African violets was discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Collins of Cleveland visited Thursday with Miss Minie Maley and Thomas Maley.

Truck Driver Cleared In Deaths Of 3 Girls

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP) —A truck driver has been cleared of blame in the deaths of three girls in a runaway truck crash. Absolved by a Cambria County coroner's jury Thursday night was Arthur Morgan, 31, of Newton Falls, R.D. 2, Ohio.

Morgan's truck roared out of control down steep Prospect Hill in Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 17 and crashed into a building, killing three girls and injuring four persons. Morgan told the jury he was unable to shift the truck into a lower gear and the brakes failed to slow the rig.

Go On Hunger Strike

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP)—One thousand prisoners went on a hunger strike today in protest against a ban on visits by wives and sweethearts for conjugal purposes—a standard practice in Latin American jails. Officials of La Ladera Prison called the visits immoral.

yesterday on the matter of—I would prefer to postpone until I come back to the whole question of roles, appointments, responsibilities."

Kennedy also announced that he has named Clark Clifford, Washington lawyer, to be his representative as liaison with the Eisenhower administration during the period between now and the day he takes office. Clifford served as special counsel to former President Truman.

The duties of the liaison agent are to meet regularly with government officials and to keep the president-elect advised on developments in defense, foreign affairs, the preparation of the budget, etc—to be the main link in the orderly transition of government.

He assigned four members of his personal staff to duty in the White House.

They are: Pierre Salinger, former San Francisco newspaperman, political manager, and one-time piano student, to be White House press secretary. Salinger now lives in Falls Church, Va.

Andrew Hatcher, of San Francisco, official of the California State Labor Commission, to be assistant press secretary. Hatcher is a Negro.

To be special assistant he named Kenneth O'Donnell, of Worcester, Mass. O'Donnell was a key man in the team of advisors who worked with Kennedy during the presidential campaign.

Theodore Sorenson, of Lincoln, Neb., to be special counsel to the president. Kennedy said Sorenson has "worked with me in policy matters for the past eight years."

For a special study of federal regulatory agencies, Kennedy asked James M. Landis, of New York to submit a report. Landis is former dean of the Harvard Law School. Kennedy said the Landis study is being undertaken "with a view to maximizing the effective dispatch of their (the agencies) business." He said the first report would be submitted by Dec. 15.

The president-elect said he hopes to nominate appointees for all cabinet posts by "late November or early December."

He made this statement in answer to a question as to whether the name of the incoming secretary of state would be announced before Dec. 1.

Kennedy said he would break his vacation next week to fly to Johnson City, Tex., for a conference with Sen. Johnson.

He has talked with Johnson by telephone several times since the election. A reliable informant said Johnson made "two good suggestions which will be adopted."

Sources close to Kennedy indicated that, as vice president, Johnson would be given important assignments and that he would be consulted on a wide range of questions. It is generally believed that Johnson will play as big, and perhaps a bigger role, than Nixon played in the Eisenhower administration.

On related matters, Kennedy said:

1. He hopes to meet Eisenhower in Washington some time this month, after his vacation, and depending on the President's schedule.

2. He replied to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's message, telling Khrushchev "a just and lasting peace will remain a fundamental goal of this nation, and a major task of its president."

3. He is in good physical condition. "I have never had Addison's disease. I have been through a long campaign and my health is very good today."

4. He has not discussed with his brothers whether they will play any part in his administration. It is known on good authority that Robert Kennedy, who was his campaign manager, would like to serve in government but has made no decision as to where, if at all, he will take office.

5. He will resign his Senate seat in December. He said it is Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo's responsibility to fill it, "but I hope to have a chance to talk with him about the matter". Furcolo is a Democrat.

Close Victory By Kennedy Is Analyzed

And Arvis Chalmers of the Albany Knickerbocker News:

"1. Kennedy's religion.

"2. Support of ethnic groups whose backing had helped achieve New Deal victories of the 1930s and 40s.

"3. A better-than-usual vote in economically depressed areas."

Tim O'Hara of the New York Herald Tribune was impressed with the way Kennedy ran his campaign.

"The Kennedy personal planning was astounding in its depth. The Kennedy personal machine kept up a steady barrage on the voters by bringing in distinguished speakers almost daily. Republicans complained even during the campaign that their man failed to do this."

And Dick Lee of the New York Daily News said: "Nixon's unpopularity with the New York voters, plus the economic conditions throughout the state and a slight touch of Mr. Rockefeller's high taxes, were responsible for the shift."

MINNESOTA

When Minnesota's 11 electoral votes went to Kennedy, at noon Wednesday, he was home a winner.

Sidney Goldfish, who directs the Minneapolis Tribune's poll, bases his analysis on his pre-election samplings.

Goldfish found that, in Minnesota at least, Kennedy had a stronger appeal for young voters and for women than Adlai Stevenson had in 1956. And Kennedy outdrew Stevenson also among college-educated persons, 33 per cent to 21 per cent, the polling indicated.

The Duluth Herald said editorially poor economic conditions in northern Minnesota, including the famous Iron Range, helped Kennedy.

And Managing Editor Franklin Rogers of the Mankato Free Press comes up with what could be the greatest irony of the 1960 campaign.

In West Virginia's primaries Kennedy ran over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., so convincingly Humphrey dropped out of the race completely.

Yet, Rogers says, "Kennedy owes his Minnesota victory to the popularity of Sen. Humphrey, who led his ticket by a wide margin. If Humphrey had not been on the ticket, it's doubtful if Kennedy would have carried Minnesota."

PENNSYLVANIA

As far as Kennedy is concerned, the big news here (32 electoral votes) is the Philadelphia story.

Or in the words of James R. Doran, editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News:

"Sorting out causes for Nixon's defeat in Pennsylvania: (1) The astounding 326,407 Democratic plurality piled up by Rep. William J. Green's Philadelphia city machine. (2) The Republicans' 200,000 deficit in 10 distressed area counties. And (3) The religious issue."

Joseph M. Miller of the Philadelphia Inquirer points out that Democrats have a city registration of 587,000 votes — and Kennedy polled 612,000. Republicans registered 409,000 and Nixon polled 285,000.

"The complete collapse of the Philadelphia Republican organization," Miller says, "was the chief factor contributing to the outcome in Pennsylvania."

Adrian Lee of the Philadelphia Bulletin says unemployment and and religion were the big factors in Pennsylvania. And on religion, Lee believes Kennedy was a big winner.

Republican Catholics flocked to Kennedy, but "in most of the so-called Bible belt counties, the anti-Catholic feeling didn't generate much bigger majorities than president Eisenhower got in 1956."

And the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette & Sun-Telegraph said in its post-election analysis: "The overriding factor in Pennsylvania undoubtedly was economic. There are pockets of serious unemployment and under-employment."

TEXAS

Texas wandered off the Democratic reservation in 1952 and 1956—and many believed it would give its 24 electoral votes to Nixon, too.

And when you wonder why it went to Kennedy you get three different reasons from three observers.

Sam Kinch of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram thinks personality played a major role: "Nixon was never able to match the popularity of Eisenhower. When he let himself get drawn into that debate series, he came off second best."

Raymond Brooks of the Austin American-Statesman credits Lyndon B. Johnson with getting the Democrats to close ranks and attack the Republicans.

"He had bridged most of the old Democratic family conflicts, drawing into teamwork many who had spent the last eight years fighting each other."

And Bob Hollingsworth of the Dallas Times Herald:

"The religious issue cut both ways for Kennedy. Protestant rural areas chose to remain Democratic rather than vote against a Roman Catholic. And Kennedy won areas where Catholic Latin Americans are concentrated, El Paso, San Antonio and South Texas to the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"Much of this went to Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956."

ILLINOIS

Kennedy won Illinois' 27 votes —by a whisker.

"The religious issue," John Dreiske of the Chicago Sun-Times said, "proved to be a big factor in saving Kennedy in Illinois."

Dreiske thinks many Catholics who normally vote Republican went for Kennedy. And he thinks the Negro vote in Chicago was a big item in helping Kennedy carry the state.

Chicago's American said editorially: "The Democratic sweep in Cook County (Chicago) proved again the enormous influence wielded by Mayor (Richard J.) Daley and the well oiled efficiency of his organization.

"Elsewhere in the state the trend was toward splitting tickets. In Chicago the trend was countered by the massive straight ticket vote marshaled by the disciplined Democrats."

MICHIGAN

Kennedy was supposed to take this state's 20 electoral votes fairly easily. It wasn't easy, but he won them.

Here's William C. Kulsea, Lansing bureau chief for the Booth Newspapers, Inc., and his view of what happened:

"Kennedy took Michigan because of a superior Democratic-AFL-CIO political machine and his attraction to women voters. He fired up party workers much more than Stevenson did in 1952 and 1956, and was able to overcome the issue of religion which did hurt him some in outstate Michigan."

Ray Courage, who handles politics for the Detroit Free Press, says:

"The most significant factor in Michigan is that the results seem to indicate that this state definitely is in the Democratic column now, chiefly from population increases."

CALIFORNIA

With its 32 electoral votes, this was a major—and unpredictable—battle. Kennedy was leading, but the margin was so close Republicans still hope enough Nixon votes will be found to pull this, his home state, back into his column.

Earl C. Behrens, the veteran political editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, thinks religion was important, and he thinks minority groups, especially Negroes and the Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles, swung from Eisenhower to Kennedy.

Carl Greenberg, the political editor of the Los Angeles Examiner:

"Primarily, I believe the TV debates had tremendous impact. They utterly destroyed an earlier image of Kennedy as an immature young man.

"Additionally, I'm inclined to believe the management of the Nixon campaign somehow got off the track."

COLORADO

Here Republican hustle helped swing its six electoral votes to Nixon.

Bert Hanna of the Denver Post says that at a time when "the Democratic organization on the state level was demoralized," there was a "vastly improved and militant Republican organization."

The Rocky Mountain News said editorially that "concern for the sound dollar and a firm foreign policy" influenced Colorado voters, and "the much discussed 'farm revolt' just wasn't there."

WASHINGTON

Before the election, the pitch was that Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini was in trouble and was clutching desperately for Kennedy's coattails.

Yet Rosellini was re-elected, Kennedy lost Washington's nine electoral votes.

Stub Nelson of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and Ross Cunningham of the Seattle Times agree that this is partly due to Washington's independent, unpredictable voters, plus a Kennedy organization run by amateurs and a Nixon organization staffed by professionals.

HAWAII

The vote is so close it could go either way, and unofficially has switched already from Nixon to Kennedy and back to Nixon.

And what happened out there?

William H. Ewing, editor of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin:

"The international Longshoremens and Warehousemens Union support of Nixon in the islands did have some effect as shown by the returns from the outside islands, heavily for Nixon."

Adam A. Smyser, managing editor of the Star Bulletin, said:

"The election once again proved that Hawaii is a middle-of-the-road state."

Nation Pays Its Tribute To War Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation pays tribute to the veterans of all American wars in ceremonies originally scheduled to commemorate the armistice that ended World War I.

The Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery form the pattern for similar observances being conducted by veterans and patriotic organizations in other parts of the country.

At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month — the very moment when the guns went silent along the Western Front in Europe 42 years ago—a presidential wreath will be placed at the Tomb of The Unknowns.

For the first time this year, a torch that was lighted in Antwerp, Belgium, and flown across the Atlantic Ocean, will be presented in the amphitheater adjoining the tomb. Another torch, lighted in this country, has been flown eastward across the ocean for presentation at similar ceremonies in Antwerp.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., former commandant of the Marine Corps, will address representatives of the veterans organizations in the amphitheater.

The day was observed as Armistice Day through 1953. Thereafter, by act of Congress, the name was changed to honor the services of veterans of all wars.

Sponsorship of the Arlington ceremonies is rotated yearly among veterans organizations. This year the Marine Corps League is in charge.

By agreement among the organizations, regional observances are being conducted elsewhere in the country with the ceremonies being in charge of the following organizations:

The American Legion at New Orleans; Veterans of Foreign Wars at Long Beach, Calif.; Army Navy Legion of Valor at Trenton, N. J.: Disabled Veterans at Birmingham, Ala.; and the Amvets at Louisville, Ky.

Winners Listed In Magazine Sale

A sophomore girl finished as the top salesman in the magazine contest conducted by East Liverpool High School students.

Winners of four other major awards along with the top rooms in each class were announced today by Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys.

Leslie (Boots) Erwine won the $50 award as the high individual salesman, reporting a total of $745.25.

Second place and $35 went to Marvin Feldman with $361.83 while Beverly Couch won $30 for her sales of $205.40. Susan Vodrey finished fourth with $181.59, winning $25, and Bruce Weiner was fifth with $121.56, good for $20.

Miss Erwine's sales boosted the sophomore room taught by Joseph Gruszczynski to first place in the school with $801.55 and automatically winning a theater party for the room by passing the $600 total. As teacher of the high room, Gruszczynski won a steak dinner for two.

Other winners of theater parties by classes were Miss Mary Anna Lindsey's sophomore room, $414.50; Robert Hedmond's junior room, $338.03; and Miss Mary Underwood's senior room, $294.78.

Groups Meet At Salineville

Committee reports were given at a meeting of the Alpha Zeta Sorority Wednesday night with Mrs. Stanley Fitch of West End, Salineville.

Plans were made to sell a clock and Christmas ribbon to raise funds to provide baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving at Christmas.

Mrs. Nina Peterson, president, was in charge. Lunch was served by Miss Grace Kellogg and Mrs. Peterson. The group will meet Nov. 22 for a coverdish dinner at the clubroom at Kellogg's Confectionery. A pinning ceremony will be held and baskets filled.

The Neighborhood Club met Wednesday night with Mrs. Lela Lewis of Salem, former Salineville resident. Games were played and lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Joy Louise Lewis.

First nomination of officers was held at a meeting of Cable Rebekah Lodge Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall.

Second nomination will be held at a "past Noble Grand Night" Nov. 22. Mrs. Beulah Gardner, noble grand, presided. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hazel Hart, Mrs. Margaret Enright and Mrs. Helen Starkey.

Plans for a Christmas party Dec. 12 were completed at a meeting of the Buds and Blossoms Flower Club Wednesday night with Mrs. Clyde Fergason of Commerce St. The party will be held with Mrs. Robert Bettis.

Mrs. Margaret Carter directed games. Mrs. Bella Carter won a prize. Care of African violets was discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Collins of Cleveland visited Thursday with Miss Minie Maley and Thomas Maley.

Truck Driver Cleared In Deaths Of 3 Girls

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP) —A truck driver has been cleared of blame in the deaths of three girls in a runaway truck crash. Absolved by a Cambria County coroner's jury Thursday night was Arthur Morgan, 31, of Newton Falls, R.D. 2, Ohio.

Morgan's truck roared out of control down steep Prospect Hill in Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 17 and crashed into a building, killing three girls and injuring four persons. Morgan told the jury he was unable to shift the truck into a lower gear and the brakes failed to slow the rig.

Today Is For The Veterans

World War I (1914-1918), they said, was the "war to end wars."

This country, which had been involved in the last 19 months of the bloodletting, remembered the devotion of its young men by designating Nov. 11 as Armistice Day.

Taps were played, wreaths were placed and patriotic speeches were made each year.

Peace after the "war to end wars," however, became only a short interlude punctuated by the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Exactly 23 years and 26 days after the Armistice was signed, the United States became involved in a second world war even more terrible than the first.

The United States fought in World War II from Dec. 7, 1941, to Aug. 14, 1945.

The nation hardly had regained its peacetime footing when it was plunged into the Korean conflict.

Cold war, near-hot war, rumors of hotter war and unrest have characterized the period since Korea.

The cold facts that two additional wars had occurred since World War I finally occasioned a change in name of the Nov. 11 observance, from Armistice Day to Veterans Day.

Veterans of all American wars are saluted on Veterans Day.

East Liverpool will pause to remember especially the men from this territory who were killed in action or died in the two world wars and Korea.

Remembered, too, will be those who died in the Spanish-American War in 1898—most of them as the result of illness.

No accounting is available on the number of district men wounded in the three wars, but the figure far exceeds the number of deaths.

"War to end wars," they said in 1918.

The Best Wasn't Good Enough

Our basic argument in favor of the Nixon-Lodge ticket this year was its strong leadership of the Republican party, which we contend is all that's left of the two-party system in the United States.

It is in truth and in fact a political party, with a national policy, a sense of discipline and a strong sense of responsibility to voters.

The Democrats, we feel, have become a coalition of warring minorities — politicians who cannot speak to one another, like Sen. Byrd of Virginia and Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, Lyndon Johnsons and Averell Harrimans, civil righters in the North and Orval Faubuses in the South, wild spenders and open-handed internationalists in the East and thrifty non-interventionists in the Middle West.

We do not say this is wrong. We marveled at the way Franklin Roosevelt held the coalition together, and we marvel at the way John Kennedy has put it back together. But it is not a political party.

UNDER VICE PRESIDENT NIXON, the Republican party reached its highest potential. Nixon had the confidence of the party chiefs and the party workers. He knew the political ropes. No one could have done a better job of keying a party to fighting pitch, and with the enthusiasm still engendered by the party's all-time vote-getting champion, Dwight Eisenhower, this was a vintage year for organized Republicanism, as far as producing votes was concerned. The 1960 national election wasn't lost by default.

But the best wasn't good enough. It's tempting to point out how much was won and how much was almost won, despite the handicap of big-city majorities piled up by Democratic machine politicians. But close ones don't count. There is no payoff for good tries. The Democratic coalition has captured the executive branch of the government again. It already had an armlock on the legislative branch. In an eight-year executive span, it will have sewed up the judicial branch.

During the 20-year hiatus of the Roosevelt-Truman era, political scientists peered forward and backward to see if they could find out where the Republican party would get the strength to keep it from turning into a chronic minority, as the Democratic party used to be until it finally ceased to be a national party and became a coalition of expedient bedfellows.

THEY QUIT DOING this when Dwight Eisenhower swamped his political opposition at the head of the Republican ticket in 1952 and again in 1956. But the problem of being a chronic minority in the places where votes are most numerous still remains.

With Dwight Eisenhower getting ready to leave the public scene, the question for Republicans is how they ever will match the voting strength of the Democratic coalition with its formidable blocs and its southern core of Democratic electoral votes that cannot be dislodged. There are no more Eisenhowers in sight.

The obvious solution would be for Republicans, themselves, to turn into a coalition of voting blocs and pressure-group minorities with a solid core of electoral votes.

But where would they find the solid core?

Where would they find blocs and minorities not already tied up by the Democratic opposition?

Takes Two To Make A Contest

No one ever remembers to congratulate the losers in political contests.

They are left on their own. One of them was musing about this the day after election. "It's funny," he said, "how no one seems to know you. They have forgotten what you look like. They don't want to hear your views on anything — not even why you lost."

It's true. But there's more to it than the bald truth. Part of the reason for avoiding the candidate who lost is tact. Maybe he'd rather not talk about it. At the same time, you'd rather not talk about it, especially if it means telling a white lie — that you voted for him.

"If all the people who have told me they voted for me were telling the truth," chuckled the musing loser who started this line of thought, "my defeated opponent would be demanding a recount."

It's like the losing side in a football game, or any kind of athletic contest. The cheers are for the winner — always. The winner gets the attention. But a gracious winner acknowledges there could have been no contest without a loser.

Actually, most political contestants know this and take it into account. It's the public that ignores the losers in political contests and forgets to congratulate them.

There are places and races in this country that never have known political competition. Yet, there always are contestants. Republicans run for mayor of New York City, Chicago and Cleveland. Not even in the Solid South are Democrats permitted to win by default in important contests. There, particularly, losers deserve to be congratulated.

But they should be remembered gratefully everywhere and most gratefully in races they had no chance to win, provided they ran their best. In so doing they contribute as much to good government as the winners.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

"Know But To God," it says there;
How might the record run—
Was he a roaring scrapper
Or just "the quiet one"?

Did he exult in combat,
Glorying to the cheers?
Was he the type that "came through,"
Knowing a thousand fears?

BROADWAY'S LATEST musical "The Unsinkable Mollie Brown" is based on a true story, but the play seems so farfetched it leaves customers exclaiming, "How unbelievable can musical books get!" The star is so wonderful the title could be changed to "The Unsinkable Tammy Grimes." Mollie Brown, by the way, is a sort of Eliza Doolittle of the mining camps and high seas.

Admitting that it takes less work to cut hair of a baldheadedman than a man with a bushy growth, a New Jersey barber has announced he will make estimates before fixing his charge. (This is a great break for baldies and comes just as we were going to send our scalp out for competitive bids).

One Nobel prize winner says he got idea for important discoveries in nuclear physics by watching bubbles in a pitcher of beer. That was way back when a man could afford a pitcher of beer on a professor's salary.

British jurors have decided that "Lady Chatterley's Lover" written over 30 years ago, is not objectional. That's a long time for any lady to have to wait for a verdict she is fit company for man and bookstall.

A youth peace corps in which young men will volunteer to serve in an army devoted to cause of amity is proposed. We can see where a kid could be a conscientious objector on the ground that peace-making these days calls for extra violence.

A retired rear admiral, 40 years in the Navy, was fined $15,000 on a charge of sending 504 bottles of liquor home marked "household effects." Well, liquor has become such a common feature in the homes of this country that the labeling could be called accurate (40 years of naval service can make a man pretty thirsty at the finish and cause him to overestimate supplies needed to attain his last objective.)

Millions of drug clerks and doctors' patients will be happy to know something is to be done about the handwriting of physicians as revealed on prescriptions, hospital charts, etc. Reporting that important records can't be read in hospital libraries because of "henscratches," and that doctors, when called in, can't read their own writing, one big hospital is starting penmanship "clinics" for physicians. (If a man to whom you trust your life can't even tell what's the matter with his handwriting, it's time for action. Mt. Sinai Hospital declares.) Probably it's because of haste. The doctor tells a patient to relax, take it easy and never hurry. Then he dashes off a prescription with such speed it takes a conference to diagnose its meaning.

Making Him Just A Bit Edgy

Kennedy Will Now Hear From Labor

By Victor Riesel

Just 12 days before election, Jack Kennedy dropped a note to this column revealing inwardly he was never certain of victory even when outwardly flashing confidence to those who loved a parade. I had asked him who was the secretary of labor in his shadow cabinet and had suggested that, as in Britain, each candidate should run with a full publicly pledged set of cabinet members.

Victor Riesel

"As I have already stated," Kennedy wrote, "I would hope to draw only upon the service of those who are qualified to fill positions of responsibility. I am consulting with many of them during the campaign. . .

"You will understand however, why I do not wish at this time to select members of a Cabinet.

"The folly of making appointments in advance was never clearer than in 1948 when Gov. Dewey's 'Cabinet' evaporated with the election returns in the early hours of Nov. 3.

"His experiment was not considered a notable success and it is not one which I should care to repeat. . ."

JACK KENNEDY'S cabinet would not have evaporated in the early morning hours of Nov. 9—but only because he had the most hard-hitting, the most far-reaching, skillfully directed, scientifically created labor political campaign machinery behind him.

That is the story, it seems to me, of this campaign. Jack Kennedy would not have won if labor had not delivered the marginal balance of power — small but strategically placed — in the key industrial states.

The 20th century tornado would have been a quiet northeasterly wind in those early morning hours if labor had not put everything it has — including its postage stamps —into the drive.

He would not, for example, have taken New York State. There, labor was neutral before the nomination.

On the morning of June 17, however, America's Mr. Labor Lawyer, Arthur Goldberg, brought John Kennedy together at breakfast with New York's union leaders.

Some were diffident. Some were distrusting of the man who had been active in creating the new labor law.

They met in the Victoria Suite of Manhattan's Hotel Carlyle, later to become Kennedy's personal hideaway headquarters. The union men questioned him for a while.

Then John Kennedy talked for a half hour — directly and frankly. He won them over.

HE WON them over not for himself alone, but, later at Los Angeles, Arthur Goldberg and the New Yorkers prevented the rest of the labor contingent from exploding when Lyndon Johnson was nominated.

Then there was that ooment during the campaign itself when Lyndon Johnson entered a suspicious New York. He was worried.

Dave Dubinsky, who really dynamoed the New York campaign for the Democrats, learned that there was a time hole in Johnson's schedule big enough to drive a fleet of loud speakers through for several hours.

Dubinsky swiftly organized a hotel meeting of Liberal party labor committeemen. They cheered Johnson and picked up the slack and the bills. Then came the strategically timed garment district mass demonstration.

That was the breakthrough. The atmosphere was set for the million or more liberal-labor-independent-Adlai Stevenson voters.

THERE WERE similar breakthroughs in New Jersey, where the Reuther machine delivered the balance of power vote in the northern counties. Thus it was in Michigan where the auto union apparatus saved the state by saving the Detroit area for their candidate.

In Southern Texas where the unions, woven into the Democratic party, piled up votes to balance off the Dallas area.

Thus, too, in the big cities and the steel districts, the aircraft and missile production centers, the mine patches and the garment "jungles." That is why, in virtually every industrial state, Democratic leaders telephoned labor leaders between 11 p.m. and 4 a.m. to convey their thanks.

Soon the phone calls will be going the other way. I give it to you as fact that what the labor officials now want is a legislative blitz in the "first hundred days."

These calls will be made to congressional leaders. Congress will be urged to deliver on the Los Angeles platform, just as labor delivered.

Jack Kennedy will hear from labor, too. After all, it elected him.

Reform The Campaign

By Raymond Moley

In the course of the next four years, responsible party leaders should reconsider the sort of campaigning which we have witnessed this year.

The public's curiosity and the advent of new mechanical devices have created conditions which not only demand more from the candidates than any human beings should bear but frustrate any real examination of the issues by voters.

Television and the airplane have not helped the public to understand what is going on. Perhaps democracy will, as it has in many instances in world history, destroy itself.

No one who saw, on the ground or on the television screen, the exhausted candidates in their final two weeks needs to be told what the physical exactions were.

WE HAVE HEARD a lot about the times demanding young men as candidates. The Wisdom of that can be questioned but even young men can be battered into the ground by too much campaigning. And considering the fact that many ailments in these days, especially coronary failure, become more prevalent among men in the 40s and 50s, this sort of strain might well provide us, as it has in the past, with presidents who are unable to bear the weight of office after election.

The burdens of the presidency exceed those of any other job on earth, excepting, perhaps, that of the prime minister of the Soviet Union.

The dizzying hopping from place to place by air by the candidates involves such hazards that only the grace of luck has spared one or the other, or even both, a fatal crash.

To meet an engagement in Boston, Nixon flew into an airport which had been closed because of dense fog.

On another occasion, the Nixon plane made an instrument landing at Casper, Wyo., in a snowstorm which covered the ground to the depth of seven inches.

The flight to Alaska in November weather was nothing less than a stunt.

If one candidate had been killed in the course of these perils and exertions, the choice of the voters would have narrowed to one. For despite provision for a substitution, voters would have had little option except to vote for the one they knew best.

THIS SORT of campaign provides less education than that conducted by William McKinley, who limited his campaigning to his own front porch.

That was a campaign in which William Jennings Bryan traveled more miles and received relatively few more votes than preceding Democratic candidates who moved sparingly and talked very little.

Since the pace of the campaigning during the past six weeks called for several speeches by each candidate each day, no newspaper could reflect in any detail what they were saying. Toward the end, both candidates were incessantly repeating themselves.

Speeches delivered in the midst of howling mobs in Chicago, Los Angeles, and New York were reduced to a few short sentences and gestures. Stevenson in 1956 and Nixon to a limited degree this year tried to fill in the gaps with papers on specific subjects.

In the turmoil, these were read by a relatively few. And so an uninformed electorate has gone to the polls to vote for two completely wornout candidates. Considering what the candidates went through, they are lucky to be alive.

Election Post-Mortems

By David Lawrence

Religious Factor Seen Aiding Kennedy

Anybody who tries to figure out just what was the mandate of the election will find it difficult to defend his analysis. About the only thing the election indicated is that the American people, dividing their votes about equally between the two nominees, gave no evidence of how they really feel about the various issues discussed in the campaign speeches.

David Lawrence

Did they decide, for instance, by a narrow margin that one candidate was better looking or would have better judgment in the presidency than the other?

Did they decide that the Eisenhower policies were to be repudiated — that America was "standing still" and needed to "restore" its "prestige" abroad?

Moscow naturally is rejoicing and claims the Eisenhower administration has been repudiated and that Sen. Kennedy will be more reasonable.

Just what did decide the election?

Nobody can prove his thesis absolutely but it turns out that the pre-election polls were accurate in their forecast of the closeness of the vote.

Hence, it is logical to believe that the polls were also accurate in diagnosing in advance the tremendous part the so-called religious issue played in the final voting.

THIS CORRESPONDENT last week wrote that Sen. Kennedy's election was assured by reason of a shift of about five million Catholics from their vote four years ago for the Republican ticket to the Democratic ticket this year.

The forecast was based on the results of the Gallup Poll which showed that the Catholics, who had voted 51 per cent Democratic in 1956, would vote 79 per cent Democratic in 1960. No other religious group or minority bloc showed any such shift in the Gallup Poll.

It was easy enough to calculate the popular vote by subtracting this five million from the Republicans and putting it in the Democratic column. Thus, in 1956 about 35.6 million votes in all were cast for the Republican presidential nominee, who won.

Taking five million away leaves 30.6 million. By adding this five million to the Democratic total of about 26 million of four years ago, the total this time would become 31 million. And that's just about how the contest shaped up this week.

Analyzing the results on the basis of the percentages predicted in the Gallup Poll on the Catholic vote, it is to be noted that, while Catholics gave Stevenson a margin of only 309,000 votes four years ago throughout the country, the Catholics are estimated—using the same percentages—to have given Kennedy a margin of 9.3 million votes.

This shift helped Kennedy in the big states — New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California — where the Catholic population is very large in number.

IN NEW YORK STATE, for instance, with 45 electoral votes, Catholic voters are estimated to have given the Democratic national ticket a margin of only 57,000 votes four years ago, but this time the margin of Catholics for Kennedy over Nixon was 1.7 million, and the state finally went by about 400 000 for Kennedy.

The Catholic margin in Pennsylvania for the Democrats this year was 1.1 million, as compared with a margin of only 35,000 for the Democratic ticket from the Catholic voters four years ago.

In California, a 26,000 majority of the Catholic vote for Stevenson four years ago was transformed this year into a 600,000 majority for Kennedy.

In Illinois a 28,000 majority among the Catholics for the Democratic ticket in 1956 was changed in 1960 to a majority of almost 900,000 from Catholic voters for Kennedy. Thus the 847,000 margin for Eisenhower in the state was entirely erased.

If it was fated for a Roman Catholic to become president — and many people, including a large number of Protestants, felt that the precedent should be established sometime — it is too bad that it wasn't a landslide election so that America would appear before the world as having disregarded any religious factor and as having elected the better man decisively on his own qualifications or proposed policies.

IT IS APPARENT that there were many Protestant Democrats who switched to the Republican ticket this time because of religious prejudice, but the number was proportionately small, especially in the South, where loyalty to the Democratic senators and congressmen and the Democratic slate and local organizations superseded any anti-Catholic influence.

The Gallup Poll showed a shift of only 3 per cent among Protestants for the whole country away from the Republican ticket.

The South, with its large bloc of electoral votes, could have changed the election result had there been an anti-Catholic vote of the proportions often predicted during the campaign. Instead, it cast its decisive votes for the Democrats, while in the North, especially in the states with big Catholic populations, at least 80 per cent of the Catholic voters supported Sen. Kennedy, making it possible for the first time in history for a Roman Catholic to become president.

As was indicated in these dispatches last week, this factor, rather than any issue relating to public policy or qualifications for office, swung the American presidential election of 1960.

Remember, Ma'am

By Truman Twill

Mrs. John F. Kennedy
Enroute to White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. Kennedy:

You don't know me, but I extend sympathy. As First Lady-elect of the United States, what is going to happen to you shouldn't happen. It will.

You are going to be second-guessed, torn apart, worked over, sniffed at, elbowed, clawed, scratched and shin-kicked by a countryful of pursed-lip, glint-eyed, prim-backed women who won't give you the benefit of a doubt or their old fingernail parings because they resent you with every indignant fiber of their beings.

Don't let it scare you, ma'am. These ladies are your countrymen. They are fellow members of the human race, female branch. And they can't help hating you at this stage of your life and your marriage, because you're young, you have had advantages, your husband is a success story, you have a young daughter all the biddies think they know more about raising than you do, and you do not dress to please them but yourself.

Oh, lady! As if that weren't enough, you do not buy your clothes off plain gaspipe racks, you have made no effort to act as if you felt older than you are, and there is that awful thing about speaking four (or is it 44?) languages hanging over your piled-up coiffure.

All you have to do to set off a women's march on Washington, madam, is to admit you don't do your own washing and ironing and that housework bores you.

Or it would be quicker and slicker just to let a snooping photographer snap a picture of you strolling on the east lawn of the White House next May in a pair of those toreador pants, maybe puffing a cigar. We're kidding about the cigar, ma'am. We don't want to get rumors started.

But it's no rumor that all the sturdy women of America who are older than you and many who are younger will make a hobby of clawing your eyes out.

It's going to be the cattiest episode since Grover Cleveland married his law partner's young daughter and set her up as First Lady. They didn't like Frances Cleveland, and they aren't going to like Jackie Kennedy.

Why am I telling you this ma'am?

Because I like you. I've had nothing against any of the First Ladies — Martha, Abigail, Dolly, Rachel, Anna, Letitia, Sarah, Jane, Julie, Ellen, Grace, Lou, Bess and Mamie. I even liked Eleanor, as long as she remembered it wasn't her job to fool with politics as long as she had the country's leading expert sitting at the head of the table.

But you I like especially, without knowing you, because I like the idea of a young mother in the White House. I like the idea of middle-aged mothers, too; I was strong for Grace Coolidge. And I like the idea of grandmothers; Mamie has been a passion of mine in a distant way.

I am looking forward to coming to Washington next spring and looking for a line of diapers flapping in the White House back yard and a baby buggy parked on the balcony. You might be in sight with that little girl. I'd like that.

But remember, ma'am, that for every sentimentalist like met here will be a couple of upstanding American women trying to catch you in the act of doing something they won't approve of — and essentially what they won't approve of is your being in the White House. Don't let it scare you and don't let it embitter you. When you've lived as long as most of the girls have, you'll be sniffing at things too. It's human nature, ma'am.

Today Is For The Veterans

World War I (1914-1918), they said, was the "war to end wars."

This country, which had been involved in the last 19 months of the bloodletting, remembered the devotion of its young men by designating Nov. 11 as Armistice Day.

Taps were played, wreaths were placed and patriotic speeches were made each year.

Peace after the "war to end wars," however, became only a short interlude punctuated by the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Exactly 23 years and 26 days after the Armistice was signed, the United States became involved in a second world war even more terrible than the first.

The United States fought in World War II from Dec. 7, 1941, to Aug. 14, 1945.

The nation hardly had regained its peacetime footing when it was plunged into the Korean conflict.

Cold war, near-hot war, rumors of hotter war and unrest have characterized the period since Korea.

The cold facts that two additional wars had occurred since World War I finally occasioned a change in name of the Nov. 11 observance, from Armistice Day to Veterans Day.

Veterans of all American wars are saluted on Veterans Day.

East Liverpool will pause to remember especially the men from this territory who were killed in action or died in the two world wars and Korea.

Remembered, too, will be those who died in the Spanish-American War in 1898—most of them as the result of illness.

No accounting is available on the number of district men wounded in the three wars, but the figure far exceeds the number of deaths.

"War to end wars," they said in 1918.

The Best Wasn't Good Enough

Our basic argument in favor of the Nixon-Lodge ticket this year was its strong leadership of the Republican party, which we contend is all that's left of the two-party system in the United States.

It is in truth and in fact a political party, with a national policy, a sense of discipline and a strong sense of responsibility to voters.

The Democrats, we feel, have become a coalition of warring minorities — politicians who cannot speak to one another, like Sen. Byrd of Virginia and Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, Lyndon Johnsons and Averell Harrimans, civil righters in the North and Orval Faubuses in the South, wild spenders and open-handed internationalists in the East and thrifty noninterventionists in the Middle West.

We do not say this is wrong. We marveled at the way Franklin Roosevelt held the coalition together, and we marvel at the way John Kennedy has put it back together. But it is not a political party.

UNDER VICE PRESIDENT NIXON, the Republican party reached its highest potential. Nixon had the confidence of the party chiefs and the party workers. He knew the political ropes. No one could have done a better job of keying a party to fighting pitch, and with the enthusiasm still engendered by the party's all-time vote-getting champion, Dwight Eisenhower, this was a vintage year for organized Republicanism, as far as producing votes was concerned. The 1960 national election wasn't lost by default.

But the best wasn't good enough. It's tempting to point out how much was won and how much was almost won, despite the handicap of big-city majorities piled up by Democratic machine politicians. But close ones don't count. There is no payoff for good tries. The Democratic coalition has captured the executive branch of the government again. It already had an armlock on the legislative branch. In an eight-year executive span, it will have sewed up the judicial branch.

During the 20-year hiatus of the Roosevelt-Truman era, political scientists peered forward and backward to see if they could find out where the Republican party would get the strength to keep it from turning into a chronic minority, as the Democratic party used to be until it finally ceased to be a national party and became a coalition of expedient bedfellows.

THEY QUIT DOING this when Dwight Eisenhower swamped his political opposition at the head of the Republican ticket in 1952 and again in 1956. But the problem of being a chronic minority in the places where votes are most numerous still remains.

With Dwight Eisenhower getting ready to leave the public scene, the question for Republicans is how they ever will match the voting strength of the Democratic coalition with its formidable blocs and its southern core of Democratic electoral votes that cannot be dislodged. There are no more Eisenhowers in sight.

The obvious solution would be for Republicans, themselves, to turn into a coalition of voting blocs and pressure-group minorities with a solid core of electoral votes.

But where would they find the solid core?

Where would they find blocs and minorities not already tied up by the Democratic opposition?

Takes Two To Make A Contest

No one ever remembers to congratulate the losers in political contests.

They are left on their own. One of them was musing about this the day after election. "It's funny," he said, "how no one seems to know you. They have forgotten what you look like. They don't want to hear your views on anything — not even why you lost."

It's true. But there's more to it than the bald truth. Part of the reason for avoiding the candidate who lost is tact. Maybe he'd rather not talk about it. At the same time, you'd rather not talk about it, especially if it means telling a white lie — that you voted for him.

"If all the people who have told me they voted for me were telling the truth," chuckled the musing loser who started this line of thought, "my defeated opponent would be demanding a recount."

It's like the losing side in a football game, or any kind of athletic contest. The cheers are for the winner — always. The winner gets the attention. But a gracious winner acknowledges there could have been no contest without a loser.

Actually, most political contestants know this and take it into account. It's the public that ignores the losers in political contests and forgets to congratulate them.

There are places and races in this country that never have known political competition. Yet, there always are contestants. Republicans run for mayor of New York City, Chicago and Cleveland. Not even in the Solid South are Democrats permitted to win by default in important contests. There, particularly, losers deserve to be congratulated.

But they should be remembered gratefully everywhere and most gratefully in races they had no chance to win, provided they ran their best. In so doing they contribute as much to good government as the winners.

Reform The Campaign

By Raymond Moley

In the course of the next four years, responsible party leaders should reconsider the sort of campaigning which we have witnessed this year.

The public's curiosity and the advent of new mechanical devices have created conditions which not only demand more from the candidates than any human beings should bear but frustrate any real examination of the issues by voters.

Television and the airplane have not helped the public to understand what is going on. Perhaps democracy will, as it has in many instances in world history, destroy itself.

No one who saw, on the ground or on the television screen, the exhausted candidates in their final two weeks needs to be told what the physical exactions were.

WE HAVE HEARD a lot about the times demanding young men as candidates. The Wisdom of that can be questioned but even young men can be battered into the ground by too much campaigning. And considering the fact that many ailments in these days, especially coronary failure, become more prevalent among men in the 40s and 50s, this sort of strain might well provide us, as it has in the past, with presidents who are unable to bear the weight of office after election.

The burdens of the presidency exceed those of any other job on earth, excepting, perhaps, that of the prime minister of the Soviet Union.

The dizzying hopping from place to place by air by the candidates involves such hazards that only the grace of luck has spared one or the other, or even both, a fatal crash.

To meet an engagement in Boston, Nixon flew into an airport which had been closed because of dense fog.

On another occasion, the Nixon plane made an instrument landing at Casper, Wyo., in a snowstorm which covered the ground to the depth of seven inches.

The flight to Alaska in November weather was nothing less than a stunt.

If one candidate had been killed in the course of these perils and exertions, the choice of the voters would have narrowed to one. For despite provision for a substitution, voters would have had little option except to vote for the one they knew best.

THIS SORT of campaign provides less education than that conducted by William McKinley, who limited his campaigning to his own front porch.

That was a campaign in which William Jennings Bryan traveled more miles and received relatively few more votes than preceding Democratic candidates who moved sparingly and talked very little.

Since the pace of the campaigning during the past six weeks called for several speeches by each candidate each day, no newspaper could reflect in any detail what they were saying. Toward the end, both candidates were incessantly repeating themselves.

Speeches delivered in the midst of howling mobs in Chicago, Los Angeles, and New York were reduced to a few short sentences and gestures. Stevenson in 1956 and Nixon to a limited degree this year tried to fill in the gaps with papers on specific subjects.

In the turmoil, these were read by a relatively few. And so an uninformed electorate has gone to the polls to vote for two completely wornout candidates. Considering what the candidates went through, they are lucky to be alive.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — East Liverpool observed two minutes of silence on Armistice Day in tribute to the nation's war dead.

R. A. Douglass claimed the miniature golf championship of Chester as the result of his victory over A. I. Rabenstein, superintendent of schools.

TWENTY YEARS AGO —Geraldine Oyster of the Sharpshooters 4-H Club received a silver medal in recognition of her work in the Hancock County 4-H dress revue.

William Parker, clerk and lock man at Dam 8 for 14 years, was transferred to the Tionesta (Pa.) flood control dam. He was succeeded by Wayne Reed of Brilliant.

Mayor O. Earl Greenawalt asked Council to consider the purchase of new fire-fighting equipment to forestall an anticipated increase in East Liverpool fire insurance rates.

TEN YEARS AGO — The 175th birthday of the Marine Corp was observed by the John R. Fox detachment of the Marine Corps League and its auxiliary during a banquet at Travelers Hotel.

It has been suggested that the Abominable Snowman might be a half-human monster, perhaps a relic of a prehistoric race. But scientists believe it is nothing more than a Himalayan red bear or a langur, an ape that lives in the Himalayas.

Election Post-Mortems

By David Lawrence

Religious Factor Seen Aiding Kennedy

Anybody who tries to figure out just what was the mandate of the election will find it difficult to defend his analysis. About the only thing the election indicated is that the American people, dividing their votes about equally between the two nominees, gave no evidence of how they really feel about the various issues discussed in the campaign speeches.

David Lawrence

Did they decide, for instance, by a narrow margin that one candidate was better looking or would have better judgment in the presidency than the other?

Did they decide that the Eisenhower policies were to be repudiated — that America was "standing still" and needed to "restore" its "prestige" abroad?

Moscow naturally is rejoicing and claims the Eisenhower administration has been repudiated and that Sen. Kennedy will be more reasonable.

Just what did decide the election?

Nobody can prove his thesis absolutely but it turns out that the pre-election polls were accurate in their forecast of the closeness of the vote.

Hence, it is logical to believe that the polls were also accurate in diagnosing in advance the tremendous part the so-called religious issue played in the final voting.

THIS CORRESPONDENT last week wrote that Sen. Kennedy's election was assured by reason of a shift of about five million Catholics from their vote four years ago for the Republican ticket to the Democratic ticket this year.

The forecast was based on the results of the Gallup Poll which showed that the Catholics, who had voted 51 per cent Democratic in 1956, would vote 79 per cent Democratic in 1960. No other religious group or minority bloc showed any such shift in the Gallup Poll.

It was easy enough to calculate the popular vote by subtracting this five million from the Republicans and putting it in the Democratic column. Thus, in 1956 about 35.6 million votes in all were cast for the Republican presidential nominee, who won.

Taking five million away leaves 30.6 million. By adding this five million to the Democratic total of about 26 million of four years ago, the total this time would become 31 million. And that's just about how the contest shaped up this week.

Analyzing the results on the basis of the percentages predicted in the Gallup Poll on the Catholic vote, it is to be noted that, while Catholics gave Stevenson a margin of only 309,000 votes four years ago throughout the country, the Catholics are estimated—using the same percentages—to have given Kennedy a margin of 9.3 million votes.

This shift helped Kennedy in the big states — New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California — where the Catholic population is very large in number.

IN NEW YORK STATE, for instance, with 45 electoral votes, Catholic voters are estimated to have given the Democratic national ticket a margin of only 57,000 votes four years ago, but this time the margin of Catholics for Kennedy over Nixon was 1.7 million, and the state finally went by about 400 000 for Kennedy.

The Catholic margin in Pennsylvania for the Democrats this year was 1.1 million, as compared with a margin of only 35,000 for the Democratic ticket from the Catholic voters four years ago.

In California, a 26,000 majority of the Catholic vote for Stevenson four years ago was transformed this year into a 600,000 majority for Kennedy.

In Illinois a 28,000 majority among the Catholics for the Democratic ticket in 1956 was changed in 1960 to a majority of almost 900,000 from Catholic voters for Kennedy. Thus the 847,000 margin for Eisenhower in the state was entirely erased.

If it was fated for a Roman Catholic to become president — and many people, including a large number of Protestants, felt that the precedent should be established sometime — it is too bad that it wasn't a landslide election so that America would appear before the world as having disregarded any religious factor and as having elected the better man decisively on his own qualifications or proposed policies.

IT IS APPARENT that there were many Protestant Democrats who switched to the Republican ticket this time because of religious prejudice, but the number was proportionately small, especially in the South, where loyalty to the Democratic senators and congressmen and the Democratic slate and local organizations superseded any anti-Catholic influence.

The Gallup Poll showed a shift of only 3 per cent among Protestants for the whole country away from the Republican ticket.

The South, with its large bloc of electoral votes, could have changed the election result had there been an anti-Catholic vote of the proportions often predicted during the campaign. Instead, it cast its decisive votes for the Democrats, while in the North, especially in the states with big Catholic populations, at least 80 per cent of the Catholic voters supported Sen. Kennedy, making it possible for the first time in history for a Roman Catholic to become president.

As was indicated in these dispatches last week, this factor, rather than any issue relating to public policy or qualifications for office, swung the American presidential election of 1960.

Remember, Ma'am

By Truman Twill

Mrs. John F. Kennedy
Enroute to White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. Kennedy:

You don't know me, but I extend sympathy. As First Lady-elect of the United States, what is going to happen to you shouldn't happen. It will.

You are going to be second-guessed, torn apart, worked over, sniffed at, elbowed, clawed, scratched and shin-kicked by a countryful of pursed-lip, glint-eyed, prim-backed women who won't give you the benefit of a doubt or their old fingernail parings because they resent you with every indignant fiber of their beings.

Don't let it scare you, ma'am. These ladies are your countrymen. They are fellow members of the human race, female branch. And they can't help hating you at this stage of your life and your marriage, because you're young, you have had advantages, your husband is a success story, you have a young daughter all the biddies think they know more about raising than you do, and you do not dress to please them but yourself.

Oh, lady! As if that weren't enough, you do not buy your clothes off plain gaspipe racks, you have made no effort to act as if you felt older than you are, and there is that awful thing about speaking four (or is it 44?) languages hanging over your piled-up coiffure.

All you have to do to set off a women's march on Washington, madam, is to admit you don't do your own washing and ironing and that housework bores you.

Or it would be quicker and slicker just to let a snooping photographer snap a picture of you strolling on the east lawn of the White House next May in a pair of those toreador pants, maybe puffing a cigar. We're kidding about the cigar, ma'am. We don't want to get rumors started.

But it's no rumor that all the sturdy women of America who are older than you and many who are younger will make a hobby of clawing your eyes out.

It's going to be the cattiest episode since Grover Cleveland married his law partner's young daughter and set her up as First Lady. They didn't like Frances Cleveland, and they aren't going to like Jackie Kennedy.

Why am I telling you this ma'am?

Because I like you. I've had nothing against any of the First Ladies — Martha, Abigail, Dolly, Rachel, Anna, Letitia, Sarah, Jane, Julie, Ellen, Grace, Lou, Bess and Mamie. I even liked Eleanor, as long as she remembered it wasn't her job to fool with politics as long as she had the country's leading expert sitting at the head of the table.

But you I like especially, without knowing you, because I like the idea of a young mother in the White House. I like the idea of middle-aged mothers, too; I was strong for Grace Coolidge. And I like the idea of grandmothers; Mamie has been a passion of mine in a distant way.

I am looking forward to coming to Washington next spring and looking for a line of diapers flapping in the White House back yard and a baby buggy parked on the balcony. You might be in sight with that little girl. I'd like that.

But remember, ma'am, that for every sentimentalist like met here will be a couple of upstanding American women trying to catch you in the act of doing something they won't approve of — and essentially what they won't approve of is your being in the White House. Don't let it scare you and don't let it embitter you. When you've lived as long as most of the girls have, you'll be sniffing at things too. It's human nature, ma'am.

Special Legislature Hinted

DiSalle Would Call GOP Heads If Jobless Climbs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says if the state's unemployment situation "continues to become aggravated I would call the Republican leadership in and see if they would be responsive to a special session (of the legislature) and why."

The Democratic governor told newsmen Thursday "there would be no purpose in calling a special session unless we (the Democrats) had 90 votes" in the House.

But the Democrats don't have that many votes—the number required to pass emergency measures effective upon enactment.

And if they can't get emergency measures passed, then DiSalle's thinking is that things can wait until the regular 1961 session convenes Jan. 2—less than 60 days away with the Republicans, incidentally, in control of both House and Senate.

In the present lame duck legislature, DiSalle explained, House Democrats would have only two votes more than the required 70 to pass regular legislation, which doesn't become effective until 90 days after the governor signs it.

Although he hasn't said it, it's clear he believes this: Why go to the trouble and expense of calling a special session when any measures that might be passed could become effective a lot sooner if enacted as emergency legislation in the next session.

DiSalle said he didn't know how long the unemployment situation would have to continue before he deemed it necessary to propose extending jobless benefit payments beyond the regular 26-week limit. That was done last year when the benefit period was temporarily extended an extra 13 weeks.

"I have been hoping there would be a pickup in employment," the govrenor said, although he noted that new unemployment claims totaled 26,194 for the week ended Nov. 5—an increase o. 22 per cent over the previous week.

That boosted unemployment claims to 152,259, a total that exceeds the figure for November 1958, in the recession year, for the first time, DiSalle added.

The governor asserted he won't change his legislative program because Republicans gained control of the General Assembly in Tuesday's election.

The 159 Democratic - controlled legislature increased taxes more than $300 million and enacted other DiSalle-sponsored measures.

"The program I submitted before wasn't a Democratc or Republican program," DiSalle commented. "The one I will submit (to the next legislature) will be one that I feel is necessary to the state and it will not be modified in an way by the election."

Republicans can cut out any programs they want to, he said, "but we will not have programs without funds to operate them."

"We are going to continue with a balanced budget," he promised.

"I am awaiting any information on how we can continue these programs with less money. I know one thing," he quipped, jabbing at the opposition, "things will be better now.

"We are going to get more and better services with less money now and I am looking forward to it."

Only 16 Ohio School Bond Issues Defeated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only 16 of 111 school bond issues submitted to the Ohio Electorate Tuesday failed to pass, the Ohio Education Association reports.

Approval of 85.6 per cent of all school bond issues compares with 79.7 per cent that were approved in November 1959 and 71.4 per cent in November 1958, the OEA says.

Of the almost $93 million in school bond issues that were up for a vote Tuesday, more than $79 million worth gained approval, an OEA survey showed. Twenty-six of the approved issues were for amounts of $1 million or more.

Burgettstown Boy Dies Of Accidental Gunshot

BURGETTSTOWN — Michael Sabatassi, 15, was shot and killed Thursday night by the discharge of a gun with which he and a cousin were playing.

Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie said the gun was being held by his cousin, Harry James Sabatassi when it went off. Hit in the abdomen by the bullet, the boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

School Marks Veterans Day; Some Buildings Take Holiday

An assembly at the high school this afternoon marked Veterans Day as some of the buildings in the district took a holiday.

All Hancock County public schools were dismissed. The 7,905 students in the system return to classes Monday at buildings in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown and Weirton.

Wellsville public schools observed the holiday with dismissal of classes. The city's lone parochial school, Immaculate Conception, held regular classes.

Stanton Local schools remained in session with pupils attending classes as usual in Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Empire and Stratton.

The special assembly at East Liverpool High School included talks by three students and selections by the Concert Band.

Jeffrey Taylor spoke on "A History of Wars from the American Revolution to Korea;" Dave Lampman's topic was "A History of Veterans Day" and the final talk by Gary Hicks was on "What Veterans Day Should Mean To Us."

The Concert Band directed by Vincent Maola, supervisor of instrumental music, played the national anthem, "America The Beautiful" and "America."

Robert Lawrence, student chairman, gave the invocation and benediction. The program closed with the playing of "Taps."

At East Palestine, some 2,250 public and parochial students were out of school marking the holiday.

Schools in Southern Local School District—including Salineville, No. 16, Highlandtown and Wayne—were also closed.

Beaver Local and other county district schools were in session, however, along with Lisbon schools.

St. Aloysius Parochial School was dismissed at 11::30 a. m. today and an open house was held this afternoon in observance of Catholic Education Week.

Schools in the Midland, South Side and Western Beaver districts along with the Presentation Parochial School in Midland were closed in the observance.

Assistant Priest Gets New Duties

Fr. Joseph Beller, an assistant priest at the Wellsville Immaculate Conception Catholic Church for the past four months, has been assigned to serve as an assistant at St. Casimir Church in Youngstown. He will assume his new duties next Friday.

The appointment was made by Bishop Emmet M. Walsh of the Youngstown Diocese.

A native of Youngstown, Fr. Beller came to Wellsville from St. Mary's Church at Conneaut.

He was graduated from Ursuline High School and from Mt. St. Mary's Seminary in Cincinnati in 1958. He was ordained in 1958 in St. Patrick's Pro-Cathedral in Youngstown.

Fr. John Lyons is pastor of the Wellsville church.

3 Detroit Boys Toss $188,613 To The Wind

DETROIT (AP) — Three boys tossed $188,613 to the wind Thursday.

The money was in the form of non-negotiable checks, however.

The boys, 9 and 10 years old, found the checks under a mail box. They were marked for delivery to a Detroit bank. The boys tried to cash them, but couldn't.

So they tossed them away. Someone saw them and told police, who recovered all but about a thousand dollars' worth.

The checks were stamped so that they could only be deposited to a special account.

The boys were not held.

Freeway Affect Aired For Westgate PTA Unit

About 190 attended a meeting of the Westgate School Elementary Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday night at which Supt. Ralph Betts discussed how the proposed freeway may affect safety conditions in the school area.

Using a drawing of the roadway plans, Betts discussed the traffic flow and protection for students.

Betts also spoke briefly on the State House Conference on Education theme, "What Do We Want from Our Schools?"

Ralph Widger was presented a past president's pin. Clyde McCain, president, was in charge.

3 Detroit Boys Toss $188,613 To The Wind

DETROIT (AP) — Three boys tossed $188,613 to the wind Thursday.

The money was in the form of non-negotiable checks, however.

The boys, 9 and 10 years old, found the checks under a mail box. They were marked for delivery to a Detroit bank. The boys tried to cash them, but couldn't.

So they tossed them away. Someone saw them and told police, who recovered all but about a thousand dollars' worth.

The checks were stamped so that they could only be deposited to a special account.

The boys were not held.

Booster Event Canceled

SALINEVILLE — A scheduled meeting of the Salineville Athletic Boosters Club was canceled Thursday night because of low attendance. The next meeting will be Thursday at 7:30 in the high school when movies of the Salineville - United grid game will be screened.

Ceramic Society Officers To Start Terms On Jan. 1

Terms will begin Jan. 1 for new officers of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society, which includes many East Liverpool district technicians and executives.

F. H. McRitchie of the Mellon Institute at Pittsburgh will become chairman, succeeding Edwin Ruh of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., also of Pittsburgh.

Other officers, all of Pittsburgh, are: James B. Allardice, chairman-elect; J. Thomas Markham, vice chairman; E. D. Miller, secretary; and W. B. Midgette, treasurer.

Allardice is the present vice chairman. Markham is the incumbent secretary. Widgette was re-elected as treasurer.

The new officers were named at the society's meeting Tuesday night in Pittsburgh following a report from a nominating committee headed by Ralph Gibson of the Shenango China Co. at New Castle.

North Georgetown Man Heads Constable Group

LISBON — Merle Hardy of North Georgetown was elected president of the Columbiana County Constables Association Wednesday evening at the Washington Township house in Salineville. He succeeds Roy Painter of Hanover Township.

Alvin K. Johnson of Salineville was elected vice president and Roy Painter secretary-treasurer.

Forrest Young of Summitville was elected trustee for a three-year term.

The next meeting will be Dec. 13 at the Franklin Township house in Summitville. Seven townships were represented.

'Won't Fail' President-Elect

Role Of Being First Lady 'Unreal' To Mrs. Kennedy

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy had a hectic and historic three-day election reunion with her fast traveling husband—and their paths separate again today.

They hardly had time to savor the idea of moving into the White House.

Sen. John D. Kennedy, the president-elect, was off to a sunny Florida vacation. His wife headed back to Washington, D.C., so she could stay near her doctor because she is expecting a baby about Dec. 15.

The circumstances were reminiscent of 1956, when Kennedy, edged out in a bid for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, had gone to the French Riviera while Mrs. Kennedy, expecting a child then too, waited back home.

That time, Mrs. Kennedy had a miscarriage, blamed on the tension and excitement of the convention events.

But now, she was taking things as easily as she could, staying out of most of the election campaign—even going to bed at 11 p.m. on election night—because "I knew I couldn't get involved in the tension of the all-night vote counting."

Mrs. Kennedy said Thursday she thought her husband should have a month's rest in order to properly carry on his duties as president. She observed colorfully: "You can't race a car endlessly without taking it into the shop."

But her husband had alloted himself just 10 to 14 days, despite the advice of his wife, America's first lady-elect, who views her main role as "taking care of the president."

She said: "I've every confidence that my husband would be most magnificent" in his presidential job "and I assume I won't fail him in any way."

Before leaving Hyannis Port Mrs. Kennedy reported she was finding the idea of being first lady "rather unreal" in the familiar Cape Cod family surroundings with the rainswept seashore "practically like any other fall weekend."

"I really don't think of myself as first lady—but of Jack as president," she told 10 reporters at her first news conference in her new role.

She said she was proud and happy of Kennedy's success over what had seemed insurmountable odds.

Was she happy for herself? "Yes," she said, adding: "I think a wife's happiness does come when her husband is happy."

Midland Council Has Praise For Kennedy, Schools

Midland Council was in a congratulatory mood at its meeting Thursday night — it spread enconiums over the Democratic Presidential winner and three Beaver County high schools for their successful grid season.

Burgess Eli Corak's recommendation was approved that Council send a resolution to Sen. John F. Kennedy, wishing him success in his administration.

Burgess Corak, both borough and county Democratic chairman, commented on the Democratic victory in Midland and the county and said that the 1st Precinct, for the first time in the borough's 54-year history, voted a complete Democratic slate. All councilmen are Democrats.

Steve Germusa, president, congratulated the burgess for the successful vote in Midland and the county, and praised Councilman Joseph D. Alesio, also president of Steelworkers Local 1212, for his help.

Council also approved the recommendations of Councilman Harvey Sponcer and William Vinovich that letters of congratulation be sent to Beaver Falls High, Class AA Champions; Beaver High, Section 8 and Class A champs, and Northwestern High at Darlington, undefeated in Class B.

A letter expressing confidence will be sent to Midland High, whose team has had a losing season.

Driver Loses License

LISBON — The driving license of Theodore J. Andrella, 17, of Warren, was suspended for 30 days when he pleaded guilty of speeding at a hearing at the Courthouse. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Most Of Lake Ore Boat Operations Due To End

CLEVELAND (AP)—Only about 7 per cent of the 230 ore boats in the American bulk fleet on the Great Lakes are expected to be in operation by the middle of next week.

U. S. Steel Corp.'s Pittsburgh Steamship Division, operator of the largest fleet on the U.S. side of the lakes, will load its last boat at Two Harbors, Minn. Sunday.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. will load its last boat about Nov. 24. It probably will be the last company to close shop for the winter.

Several ore boats were tied up earlier than usual this season due to a slump in the steel industry.

25-Year Employe Of Store Honored

Mrs. Virginia Baker of St. George St., was honored with a luncheon Wednesday afternoon at Travelers Hotel, honoring her 25 years service with the McCrory's Store. Some 25 attended.

She was presented a check for $500 and a diamond-set 25-year pin in behalf of F. W. Paul, president of the McCrory-McLellan Stores Corp., who also sent a letter of congratulations which was read. She received an orchid corsage from fellow employes.

Mrs. Baker was welcomed into the "McCrory 25-year Club" by 2 other members, Roy Richards, who has 34 years service, and Miss Catherine O'Reilly, 26 years.

She joined the company Nov. 1, 1935, as a saleslady and during the war years served as assistant manager in charge of dry goods. She is now floor supervisor in that section.

An arrangement of mums formed the centerpiece for the table decorated in a fall theme of leaves and sheaves of wheat. Jerry Adams led group singing. H. T. Powers, manager, extended congratulations.

Lions Official Speaks At Chester Club Dinner

About 38 attended a Chester Lions Club "Ladies Night" meeting Thursday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home at which Zack Springer of the Valley Grove club, district governor, paid an official visit.

Springer spoke on "Your Lions Club." He was accompanied by Andrew Edwards and William Foose of the Valley Grove club and Mrs. Springer.

A dance followed. The next meeting is Nov. 24.

Council Authorizes Midland Help To Santa

Santa Claus got a warm hand at Midland Council Thursday night.

The group approved requests of the Chamber of Commerce for use of a fire truck to haul Santa in the Christmas parade Nov. 25 and for permission to use the fire station for Santa's headquarters in the distribution of treats to the youngsters.

The Social -:- Notebook

"How To Celebrate Christmas" was the program topic presented by Mrs. Fred Neiser for the meeting of the Afternoon Circle Wednesday in the social rooms of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church.

Using "The Methodist Woman," a religious periodical, for reference, she suggested several readings for the holiday season. Her Scripture was from John 10: 11. Mrs. George Welker accompanied group singing.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Welker, president, with Mrs. Paul Jones reading the minutes and financial report.

A report was given on the rummage sale now in progress at the rear of the City Market Building. Twenty shut-in baskets were made. These will be filled with cookies on Dec. 14 for distribution.

Mrs. Jack Mossman displayed Christmas tags she is making to be sold for the project fund. Members were reminded to bring canned goods for the Thanksgiving baskets for needy families.

The group is assisting in dressing dolls for the Salvation Army. Members will present the program for the general meeting Wednesday at the church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Jackson. Milk glass appointments were used on the buffet table.

Bandages will be rolled at the meeting Dec. 7. Mrs. Mossman will be program chairman and Mrs. James Nottingham, hostess.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Mrs. Evelyn Wolfe received club award at 500 at the meeting of the BHNO Club Wednesday night with Mrs. Phyllis Schell of W. 2nd St.

Other winners at two tables were Mrs. Vada Blackhurst and Pauline Nelson. Mrs. June Campbell received a wedding anniversary gift from the club.

Mrs. Mary Clendenning, president, conducted business with reports given by Mrs. Blackhurst and Mrs. Schell.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Burlingame, who will entertain Nov. 30 at her home on W. 2nd St.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Plans to attend the 6th District meeting Saturday at Canton were discussed at the meeting of the Mothers Circle of Harding Chapter of DeMolay Wednesday afternoon in the Masonic Temple.

Eight members plan to attend the luncheon. The group also discussed the February meeting for which it will be hostess unit for the district.

Mrs. Donald Baxter, chaplain, read a Thanksgiving meditation and a poem, "Be Ye Thankful." Mrs. Harry Hicks read Scripture from Col. 3: 12-17. The group repeated "The Mother's Prayer."

Mrs. Thomas Mackey, president, conducted business. Mrs. John Smith read the minutes and Mrs. Eric Young the treasurer's report.

A Christmas program will be presented for the meeting Dec. 14.

Miss Frances Jones, librarian of the Carnegie Public Library, spoke at the meeting of the Women's Association of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in the social rooms.

Introduced by Mrs. Clyde Bennett, acting program chairman, she reviewed the book, "She Had a Magic." Mrs. Robert Pyle led devotions.

Mrs. Samuel Wolfe, president, conducted business. Mrs. E. R. Tittle read the minutes and Mrs. Robert Vocial the financial report. Routine reports were given by committee chairmen.

A buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Dallas Clapsadle, Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Margaret Craft of Circle 1. Mrs. Paul Burrows was a guest.

The combined circles will meet Dec. 14 at the church. A Christmas program will be presented by Mrs. P. R. Blake. Mrs. Tittle will have devotions. Honorary memberships will be awarded. Circle 2 will be hostess unit.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Sewing projects featured the meeting of the Magnolia Club Wednesday night with Mrs. Jessie McCune of the Lincoln Highway.

Miss Ora McElroy, president, conducted business. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Linda See. An arrangement of yellow mums in the Thanksgiving theme decorated the buffet table.

Mrs. Mae Wray of W. 3rd St. will entertain Dec. 13.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

A wedding anniversary shower was presented Mrs. Donna Cain at the meeting of the UNI Club Wednesday night when Mrs. Kitti Wilson entertained at the home of Mrs. Laura Moore of Holliday St.

Canasta winners were Mrs. Thelda Davis, Mrs. Joyce Wilson and Mrs. Kate Wilson.

A spaghetti supper was served by the hostess and Mrs. Moore. The next meeting is Nov. 23 with Mrs. Jean Grafton of Dresden Ave.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

George Dunn will have devotions for the meeting of the Four Square Class Tuesday in the social rooms of the Grace United Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Byrne will be program chairman and Mr. and Mrs. William Burson, social.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

The Adult Class of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church will meet Tuesday in the social rooms.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Miss Gladys DeBolt will present the program for the meeting of the Deborah Circle of the First Methodist Church Tuesday night with Mrs. E. King Mathews of Fairmont St.

Mrs. Beryl Lightner will be associate hostess.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Pleasant Heights Bible Baptist Church will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Mildred Alford of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Mrs. Lorraine Barnhart will be associate hostess.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Mrs. Fraser Jackson will present a program on "Fads and Fashions" for the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Columbiana County Medical Society Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. W. Dewalt of Columbiana.

Mrs. Janis Lauva will speak on paramedical career recruitment.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Officers will be elected at the meeting of the Loyal Workers Class of the First Church of Christ Tuesday in the social rooms.

Mrs. Frances North and Mrs. Mary Bayley will be hostesses.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

The United Mothers Club will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Albert Garner of Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Agnes Kittridge will have devotions and Mrs. Hilda Laufenberger, the program.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This is no gag. I'm on the level and need some serious advice. I happen to snore quite heavily when I am very tired.

My wife read of a "sure-cure for snores." She wants me to sleep with a plastic band around my head. On this band is fastened a bicycle horn. The horn is right in the back, so when the snorer turns on his back the horn blows and wakes him up.

My wife actually ordered this silly contraption through the mail. She paid $4 for it and wants me to wear it. I refused.

She said if I really cared about her I'd do anything to see that she gets the sleep she needs.

Do you think I am justified in my position? Please answer in the paper.—O'CONNER.

Dear O'Conner: "You're tootin."

Nephew Trouble

Dear Ann: Before my brother died he asked me to take his son into our home and finish raising him. I agreed. The boy was 17 when we took him. He's 20 now, and we've had nothing but trouble.

Johnny wouldn't stay in school and we had to get him a diploma through summer school and private instruction. He's a handsome kid, loaded with personality and the girls are always giving him presents and lending him their cars.

We could never understand such behavior as our own two sons are attractive and charming, too, but no girl ever gave them so much as a handkerchief.

In the past year Johnny has passed half a dozen bum checks. I always covered for him because I didn't want him to have a record. I warned him the last time it happened that I wouldn't come through for him again.

Well, the bank called yesterday about a $50 check that looked forged. When I saw the check I lied and said it was my signature. I knew I had taken the kid off the hook again. I just can't let my brother's son go to prison. Please help me.—MIXED EMOTIONS.

Dear Mixed: This boy will continue to get into trouble so long as he knows someone will save his hide.

You haven't helped by covering for him time after time. You've merely delayed the day of reckoning. It's high time Johnny got his lumps and I hope you'll let him.

Too Much Family

Dear Ann: My parents are divorced but Dad rents a room in the house. There's no trouble—in fact, no conversation.

My grandparents live on the third floor and they argue quite a lot with my aunt who lives with them. She's about 40, won't work, and sometimes brings men friends home.

My two brothers repair TV sets in the basement and they also live in the work shop.

The problem is I'm going to be married soon and my mother wants me and my bride to rent a couple of rooms in the house.

She can use the money and says it will be a great saving for us because Hilda can use her kitchen and we won't have to buy any appliances or furniture.

Hilda is against it. I want to do the sensible thing. What is it?—W.T.H.

Dear W.T.H.: Don't move a bride into that squirrel cage. It could be the most expensive saving you ever made. Start out alone with whatever you can afford. You'll be glad you did.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$75 Million Suit Against Dayton Firm Dismissed

NEW YORK (AP) — A $75-million suit against the National Cash Register Co. of Dayton, Ohio, and others has been dismissed because after eight years the plaintiffs weren't prepared for trial.

The suit was filed in March 1952, by a Belgian family named Demeulenaere and the Universal Cash Register Corp. of New York.

The Belgian family owned Belgian and American patents on calculating and registering machines, and charged that National Cash Register and others had conspired to create a monopoly in cash registers.

Federal District Judge John Cashin dismissed the suit, saying the complainants "failed to exercise diligence" in preparing the case.

Among the other defendants were the Ohmer Corp. of Bellefontaine, Ohio; Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh; William F. Rockwell and William F. Rockwell Jr., chairman and president of the Rockwell company.

X-Raying Of Prisoner Now To Be Compulsory

LISBON — X-ray examination of prisoners in the County Jail will now be compulsory, according to a court entry by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

As another jail rule, the prisoner will receive an X-ray examination upon admission, or as soon thereafter as possible, without cost.

Prisoners have been getting X-ray examnations but it had not been one of the rules before Judge Sharp made it compulsory, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said. The chest X-ray is made by the County TB Clinic.

Sending Of Gas, Auto Tag Money Started By Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has begun its November distribution of gasoline tax money and auto license money to the 88 counties and 1,328 townships, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced.

The counties will get $1,760,000 as their share of gasoline tax revenue and $1,059,523 in auto license money. Townships will divide up $1,062,400 in gas tax revenue and $588,624 in auto license fees.

The November payment of motor vehicle license money will bring to $65,298,590 the amount of such funds that the state has returned to municipalities, counties and townships this year. That's $2,229,809 more than they received in 1959.

The November distribution of gasoline tax money will mean $20,000 for county highways in each county and $800 for roads in each township.

Cities and villages won't share in the gas tax revenue this month. There isn't enough money in the municipal gasoline tax fund to make such a distribution, Rhodes said. But he added that they can expect to receive such funds next month, when the final payment of the year will be made to counties and townships.

Wilmington Faces Water Shortage

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Faced with a critical water shortage, Wilmington residents and the Clinton County Air Force Base have been asked to reduce their water consumption.

In addition, the Clinton County Water Co. is seeking permission to tap into nearby Lake Cowan.

Lack of rainfall and growth of the area served was blamed by water company officials Thursday for depletion of the supply in its underground reservoir.

Mayor Bates Marcum said unless consumption is curtailed the water company will be able to supply the city only one-third to one-half of its present requirements. He warned that fire protection could be endangered.

Gasoline service stations were asked not to wash automobiles and restaurants were requested to cut down on water usage.

Jury Awards $2,300 To Leetonia Plaintiff

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury Thursday afternoon returned a verdict of $2,300 for Anthony Leone, of Leetonia in his suit for $4,620.27 claimed due as the balance on a loan for repairs and remodeling the propert of Guiseppe Leone, deceased.

Emma Gregorine of New Waterford, executrix of estate, was the defendant.

The new trial began Wednesday morning before Judge Joel H. Sharp. The jury included:

City Pastor To Hold Services In Ireland

The Rev. R. L. Page of Pennsylvania Ave., superintendent of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church, will be among a delegation of 35 of the denomination who will leave Saturday by plane from New York for Belfast, Ireland, to conduct rallies and a crusade.

The group will hold rallies next week in the area of Belfast, and a crusade will be conducted in Wellington Hall in Belfast Nov. 20-27.

The rally is being sponsored by the evangelism department of the denomination, of which the Rev. Lyle Northrup of Winona Lake, Ind., is chairman,, and the youth organization, with the Rev. C. Mervin Russell, also of Winona Lake, as director.

The group is expected to return Nov. 28.

Couple Faces Charges On Mortgaged Property

Della Mae and Clemmie Robinson of Henry Ave. Ext. were served with warrants Thursday night alleging they removed mortgaged property from the state without permission of the Loan & Finance Corp., the lending agency which held a claim against the property.

The affidavit filed by the loan company says the property which was removed was a 1954 auto which had a value of $2,559 at the time it allegedly was taken out of Ohio. The couple probably will be arraigned Monday, as Municipal Court is closed today for Veterans Day and does not normally function on Saturday.

Police said the finance company contends the couple took the mortgaged car to Alabama about four years ago and failed to return it to East Liverpool.

Lions Plan To Honor Midland School Staff

Final arrangements for the "Faculty Appreciation Night" were made at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Lions Club Thursday night at Deramo's Restaurant.

Members of the Board of Education and faculty will be honored by the club at its meeting Thursday night at Deramo's, Albert Masters, president, said.

Plans also were discussed to visit the Kittanning Lions Club on Nov. 22.

ROME (AP) — Oscar De Giamberardino, 79, retired admiral of the Italian navy, died Thursday.

Electric Union Local, GE Plant Agree On Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—A contract agreement has been reached between Local 1377, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the General Electric Co.'s Euclid lamp plant.

Announcing the agreement Thursday, Peter J. Zicarelli, IBEW chief, said it followed the same pattern as that of the International Union of Electrical Workers, which struck for three weeks before reaching an agreement.

The IUE strike, part of a nationwide walkout against GE, ended Oct. 22. The IBEW had been negotiating separately for 425 members since the end of the IUE strike.

Zicarelli said the agreement calls for a wage increase for three per cent for the first 18 months and another 4 per cent or a possible adjustment of other benefits after months, plus fringe benefits and local supplements to be worked out.

Newell Man Gets Suspended Fine

A suspended fine was ordered for Charles Monroe Jr. of Snow Hill near Newell by Chester Mayor Ray Collins Thursday night on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Monroe, cited after a mishap on Fairview Rd. Oct. 19 in which his truck hit a Bergholz woman's car, said he left his name and address with a neighbor.

Mayor Collins last night reminded him the law states a driver whose auto strikes a parked vehicle must leave his name and address on a note placed on the struck auto. The mayor suspended a $10 fine.

A hearing slated last night for Samuel J. Bryan of Carolina Ave. for failure to halt for a traffic signal was continued until Saturday.

Lester C. White of Ridgeway Ave., East Liverpool, forfeited a $46 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing on charges of improper registration and operating a vehicle without a muffler.

Pottery Worker Hurt On Jigger Machinery

A potter hurt at work and a woman injured washing dishes were treated at City Hospital Thursday along with a Salineville boy hurt playing football.

Fred Goddard, 505 California Ave., Chester, was treated yesterday afternoon for an arm injury suffered on an automatic jigger at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

Mrs. Kathryn Baker, 938 Lisbon St., received a cut of the right hand on a glass while washing dishes.

Paul Stewart, 18, of Salineville R. D. 1 received an injury to the left shoulder while playing football for Salineville High School.

Few Nixon Telegrams Sent By Local Voters

While only a few telegrams have been sent to Richard M. Nixon by East Liverpool residents, the Western Union office in Cleveland Thursday was literally swamped by Clevelanders suggesting the vice president insist on a national recount of the ballots in Tuesday's general election.

The wires urged that the Republican presidential loser to Sen. John F. Kennedy undertake a national recount in the areas where the Democratic margin of victory was small.

About 2,000 wires were sent Nixon from the Cleveland telegraph office, apparently the result of a telephone campaign by Republicans.

Nixon carried East Liverpool and Columbiana County.

The problem is I'm going to be married soon and my mother wants me and my bride to rent a couple of rooms in the house.

She can use the money and says it will be a great saving for us because Hilda can use her kitchen and we won't have to buy any appliances or furniture.

Hilda is against it. I want to do the sensible thing. What is it?—W.T.H.

Dear W.T.H.: Don't move a bride into that squirrel cage. It could be the most expensive saving you ever made. Start out alone with whatever you can afford. You'll be glad you did.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$75 Million Suit Against Dayton Firm Dismissed

NEW YORK (AP) — A $75-million suit against the National Cash Register Co. of Dayton, Ohio, and others has been dismissed because after eight years the plaintiffs weren't prepared for trial.

The suit was filed in March 1952, by a Belgian family named Demeulenaere and the Universal Cash Register Corp. of New York.

The Belgian family owned Belgian and American patents on calculating and registering machines, and charged that National Cash Register and others had conspired to create a monopoly in cash registers.

Federal District Judge John Cashin dismissed the suit, saying the complainants "failed to exercise diligence" in preparing the case.

Among the other defendants were the Ohmer Corp. of Bellefontaine, Ohio; Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh; William F. Rockwell and William F. Rockwell Jr., chairman and president of the Rockwell company.

X-Raying Of Prisoner Now To Be Compulsory

LISBON — X-ray examination of prisoners in the County Jail will now be compulsory, according to a court entry by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

As another jail rule, the prisoner will receive an X-ray examination upon admission, or as soon thereafter as possible, without cost.

Prisoners have been getting X-ray examnations but it had not been one of the rules before Judge Sharp made it compulsory, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said. The chest X-ray is made by the County TB Clinic.

Sending Of Gas, Auto Tag Money Started By Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has begun its November distribution of gasoline tax money and auto license money to the 88 counties and 1,328 townships, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced.

The counties will get $1,760,000 as their share of gasoline tax revenue and $1,059,523 in auto license money. Townships will divide up $1,062,400 in gas tax revenue and $588,624 in auto license fees.

The November payment of motor vehicle license money will bring to $65,298,590 the amount of such funds that the state has returned to municipalities, counties and townships this year. That's $2,229,809 more than they received in 1959.

The November distribution of gasoline tax money will mean $20,000 for county highways in each county and $800 for roads in each township.

Cities and villages won't share in the gas tax revenue this month. There isn't enough money in the municipal gasoline tax fund to make such a distribution, Rhodes said. But he added that they can expect to receive such funds next month, when the final payment of the year will be made to counties and townships.

Wilmington Faces Water Shortage

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Faced with a critical water shortage, Wilmington residents and the Clinton County Air Force Base have been asked to reduce their water consumption.

In addition, the Clinton County Water Co. is seeking permission to tap into nearby Lake Cowan.

Lack of rainfall and growth of the area served was blamed by water company officials Thursday for depletion of the supply in its underground reservoir.

Mayor Bates Marcum said unless consumption is curtailed the water company will be able to supply the city only one-third to one-half of its present requirements. He warned that fire protection could be endangered.

Gasoline service stations were asked not to wash automobiles and restaurants were requested to cut down on water usage.

Jury Awards $2,300 To Leetonia Plaintiff

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury Thursday afternoon returned a verdict of $2,300 for Anthony Leone, of Leetonia in his suit for $4,620.27 claimed due as the balance on a loan for repairs and remodeling the propert of Guiseppe Leone, deceased.

Emma Gregorine of New Waterford, executrix of estate, was the defendant.

The new trial began Wednesday morning before Judge Joel H. Sharp. The jury included:

City Pastor To Hold Services In Ireland

The Rev. R. L. Page of Pennsylvania Ave., superintendent of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church, will be among a delegation of 35 of the denomination who will leave Saturday by plane from New York for Belfast, Ireland, to conduct rallies and a crusade.

The group will hold rallies next week in the area of Belfast, and a crusade will be conducted in Wellington Hall in Belfast Nov. 20-27.

The rally is being sponsored by the evangelism department of the denomination, of which the Rev. Lyle Northrup of Winona Lake, Ind., is chairman,, and the youth organization, with the Rev. C. Mervin Russell, also of Winona Lake, as director.

The group is expected to return Nov. 28.

Couple Faces Charges On Mortgaged Property

Della Mae and Clemmie Robinson of Henry Ave. Ext. were served with warrants Thursday night alleging they removed mortgaged property from the state without permission of the Loan & Finance Corp., the lending agency which held a claim against the property.

The affidavit filed by the loan company says the property which was removed was a 1954 auto which had a value of $2,559 at the time it allegedly was taken out of Ohio. The couple probably will be arraigned Monday, as Municipal Court is closed today for Veterans Day and does not normally function on Saturday.

Police said the finance company contends the couple took the mortgaged car to Alabama about four years ago and failed to return it to East Liverpool.

Lions Plan To Honor Midland School Staff

Final arrangements for the "Faculty Appreciation Night" were made at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Lions Club Thursday night at Deramo's Restaurant.

Members of the Board of Education and faculty will be honored by the club at its meeting Thursday night at Deramo's, Albert Masters, president, said.

Plans also were discussed to visit the Kittanning Lions Club on Nov. 22.

Electric Union Local, GE Plant Agree On Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—A contract agreement has been reached between Local 1377, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the General Electric Co.'s Euclid lamp plant.

Announcing the agreement Thursday, Peter J. Zicarelli, IBEW chief, said it followed the same pattern as that of the International Union of Electrical Workers, which struck for three weeks before reaching an agreement.

The IUE strike, part of a nationwide walkout against GE, ended Oct. 22. The IBEW had been negotiating separately for 425 members since the end of the IUE strike.

Zicarelli said the agreement calls for a wage increase for three per cent for the first 18 months and another 4 per cent or a possible adjustment of other benefits after months, plus fringe benefits and local supplements to be worked out.

Newell Man Gets Suspended Fine

A suspended fine was ordered for Charles Monroe Jr. of Snow Hill near Newell by Chester Mayor Ray Collins Thursday night on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Monroe, cited after a mishap on Fairview Rd. Oct. 19 in which his truck hit a Bergholz woman's car, said he left his name and address with a neighbor.

Mayor Collins last night reminded him the law states a driver whose auto strikes a parked vehicle must leave his name and address on a note placed on the struck auto. The mayor suspended a $10 fine.

A hearing slated last night for Samuel J. Bryan of Carolina Ave. for failure to halt for a traffic signal was continued until Saturday.

Lester C. White of Ridgeway Ave., East Liverpool, forfeited a $46 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing on charges of improper registration and operating a vehicle without a muffler.

Pottery Worker Hurt On Jigger Machinery

A potter hurt at work and a woman injured washing dishes were treated at City Hospital Thursday along with a Salineville boy hurt playing football.

Fred Goddard, 505 California Ave., Chester, was treated yesterday afternoon for an arm injury suffered on an automatic jigger at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

Mrs. Kathryn Baker, 938 Lisbon St., received a cut of the right hand on a glass while washing dishes.

Paul Stewart, 18, of Salineville R. D. 1 received an injury to the left shoulder while playing football for Salineville High School.

Few Nixon Telegrams Sent By Local Voters

While only a few telegrams have been sent to Richard M. Nixon by East Liverpool residents, the Western Union office in Cleveland Thursday was literally swamped by Clevelanders suggesting the vice president insist on a national recount of the ballots in Tuesday's general election.

The wires urged that the Republican presidential loser to Sen. John F. Kennedy undertake a national recount in the areas where the Democratic margin of victory was small.

About 2,000 wires were sent Nixon from the Cleveland telegraph office, apparently the result of a telephone campaign by Republicans.

Nixon carried East Liverpool and Columbiana County.

408 Pounds Lost Through Diet Forum

Never underestimate the will power of a woman once she has made up her mind to carry through on a project. The heroine in our story had been a shining success as a member of a diet club in her community. She had reduced 60 pounds in six months, which was almost halfway to her goal.

By Ida Jean Kain

At this crucial time the family moved to another city where no reducing club existed. Convinced that reducing together is the most effective plan, this resolute dieter proceeded to organize a reducing club — and a large scale. Here is her report:

"I had 74 more pounds to lose and doubted that I could go it alone. Since I was a stranger in the city, I wracked my brains as to how to go about organizing a diet group.

—:—

"FORTUNATELY, I saw a pamphlet about two or three civic club leaders, and called them all. One, a real 'doer' in club activities, promptly invited me to speak at the next civic club meeting.

"I did and, from the audience and their friends, a new and original Diet Forum was born! Later our meetings were held at the local YWCA.

"Since last January 22 until early fall, our group of about twenty has lost a total of 408 pounds. I have shed 50 more pounds and I am now on the last lap of my reducing program. Our members have sent to you for your most complete Calorie Chart.

"Our aim is a weight loss of one pound a week. We discovered that slow losing is best for it takes a good while to re-learn proper eating habits."

The success of this Diet Forum makes its club rules newsworthy: Members pledge to make an honest effort to lose weight safely and sanely. No member cuts calories below 1,000 a day. Serious attention is given the weekly calorie account.

Those who fail to turn in this important record are fined five cents. Individual weight is recorded each week. Weight gainers are fined. Members missing three meetings in a row without valid reason are dropped.

Prizes are awarded once a month for the champion weight-loser of the 4-week period. Any teen-ager who joins must have her doctor's written approval to diet.

The diet sessions last for one hour. This is followed by the exercise period. A YWCA exercise authority conducts the exercise part of the program. A nutrition specialist is a guest speaker once a month. The question period is lively.

FINALLY, THE graduates who attain normal weight attend once a month for a weight check.

This Diet Forum has spirit and purpose. Results have been triumphant. The leader has lost a grand total of 110 pounds. The club members have lost 408 pounds. Cheers!

Stabbed Fatally By Wife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Elmer Griffin, 33, was stabbed fatally in the chest by his wife, Mary, 29, at their home Thursday night, Detective Wayne Morgan reported.

Lt. Morgan said the mother of four stabbed her husband once with a kitchen knife after he allegedly hit her and knocked her down during an argument that followed a drinking bout. Mrs. Griffin was held without charge for investigation of homicide.

Jaycees To Open 'Toys-For-Tots' Drive Next Week

Doug Capehart, chairman, said today the Junior Chamber of Commer's annual Toys - for - Tots campaign will officially open within the next week.

Capehart said 2,000 letters will be mailed businessmen and individuals, asking for contributions to help defray the costs. The project is made possible through donations and from profits from various projects held throughout the year by the Jaycees.

Capehart said the program is being enlarged again this year with more toys scheduled to be distributed than ever in the past.

The names of children are collected from various welfare agencies. The toys are given the parents, who may present them to the children on Christmas morning as gifts from Santa Claus.

Capehart said anyone desiring to make a contribution may mail it to the Jaycees or give it to one of the members.

Further arrangements will be announced later. The committee includes Jim Moore, Ralph Smith, Dick Martin, Mark Forssell, Jack Hales, Dave Powers and Bob Birch.

Ohio Cities' Intake, Outgo Set New Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The financial intake and outgo for Ohio cities in 1959 both were in excess of $1 billion for the first time ever, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced.

The auditor said Thursday that according to the annual financial reports filed with him by the 149 cities, their total receipts came to $1,318,393,078 and their expenditures totaled $1,288,556,163.

This was an increase of $390,732,552 in income and $344,782,360 in outgo over the preceding year, Rhodes said.

Forty cities reported municipal income tax collection of $55,646,754 and proceeds of all cities from bond sales totaled $151,871,576. The latter increased the debt of cities from $871,544,994 at the beginning of the year to $931,399,291 at year's end.

Truck Driver Killed

MARION, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo truck driver was killed Thursday night when his tractor-trailer hit an Erie Railroad freight train almost headon where the tracks cross Ohio 739 at a sharp angle at nearby Green Camp. The Highway Patrol said there was no flasher light at the crossing where Robert Head, 29, met his death.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Solves Religious Issue

If you had a different religion from that of most of your friends, wouldn't you lose something inside if you indicated in any way you were ashamed to be different from them? A Pennsylvania mother writes of a family experience that is apropos. "My children and I are Catholics, and they go to the regular public school. However, I have made arrangements for them to attend religious classes on Saturdays. "My third-grade son, Steve, and my fourth-grade daughter, Frances, were going to be confirmed one afternoon during the last week of March. We had one problem: the time of the confirmation ceremony interfered with school.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"I TOLD THE children that I had to write notes to their teachers, asking for an early dismissal for them. They both seemed very disturbed then, and Frances asked me what reason I would give the teachers.

"I said:

" 'Well, that you are going to be confirmed'.

"Steve said, 'Why not tell the teachers that we had to see the dentist or the doctor'?" Frances suggested some other excuses.

"I was shocked. I got a sinking feeling, a feeling of failure. I tried to keep my composure and told them that I would discuss the matter later on.

"Meanwhile, I kept asking myself if I have made these children cowards who did not have the courage of their convictions, who were afraid to let it be known that they were Catholics.

"Next day, when their children's magazine arrived, I read in it a simple talk by you about people of different religions and the way they can enjoy learning how they are diffenent and can respect, appreciate and feel kindly toward one another. It was the answer to my problem.

"THAT EVENING we read aloud what you said; we discussed it together. We talked about the different people we know who are Jews and others who are Protestants.

"We asked ourselves if our likes or dislikes of any of them had anything to do with their religion. We found that we never even thought of their religion.

"We also laughed about how silly it would be if the fourth-grade teacher, who is a Jew, would tell her children the day after a Jewish holiday:

" 'Boys and girls, I was sick yesterday; that's why you had a substitute teacher.'

"Then I asked Frances and Steve if they thought it would be right for me to write a lie to their teachers. They both asked me to tell their teachers they were going to be confirmed.

"I must say that, since that incident, I have not noticed any more self-consciousness about religion. Religion seems to be a matter of fact for these children, as it should be."

My bulletin "Honesty and Truthfulness" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ohio Farm Unit To Consider Proposal Of State Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation takes under consideration today a resolution recommending adoption of a state income tax.

Dr. R. Stanfield, federation executive vice president, recommended that delegates to the group's 42nd annual meeting take that stand and campaign for it.

"This income tax," he said, "could provide relief to property taxes in the early 1960s and provide for education needs of the state, without an additional burden to property taxes, by 1970."

Stanfield's resolution was one of more than 200 covering virtually every aspect of the farm problem. The federation was to wind up its three-day meeting today by adopting many of these resolutions, which will comprise its policy format for 1961.

Thursday the 2,000 delegates heard from Charles B. Schuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Schuman said, "The farm problem is so acute that the wheat surplus situation is spilling over and jeopardizing other types of farming."

He said, "It is essential that members of the new Congress put aside election year partisanship and develop a sound, forward-looking program for wheat.

"America's farm families do not want to become wards of the federal government, dependent upon paternalism for an income of subsidies."

Schuman said farm prices should be determined by markets, not the government.

The federation honored T. C. Kennard of Columbus, former state director of the Soil Conservation Service, and Murray D. Lincoln of suburban Gahanna, president of Nationwide Insurance Cos. here, with awards for distinguished service to Ohio agriculture.

Lincoln served as federation executive secretary for 28 years and was instrumental in organizing the Farm Bureau Insurance Cos., now known as Nationwide.

Representatives from Wood, Lorain, Butler, Knox and Highland counties received special awards for their participation in the federation's farm program.

Mother Kills 2 Children, Fails In Suicide Bid

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 27-year-old mother put her two children to death in the garage at their home in suburban Lyndhurst Thursday, but failed in an attempt to kill herself, police reported.

The children were found dead and their mother seriously ill in an automobile parked in the garage. The motor of the car was running and the garage was filled with fumes.

Dead are Joel Morrison, 4, and his sister, Diane, 3.

The mother, Mrs. Jerome Morrison, was held under police guard at Hanna Pavilion of University Hospitals. No charge was filed against her.

Lyndhurst Police Chief G. Glenn Schneider said Mrs. Morrison left three notes indicating she was going to kill the children and herself. One of the notes said, "Forgive me for what I have done," the chief said.

Two notes were found on a bedroom dresser and another was in the automobile. The notes on the dresser were addressed to "Jerry" the husband, and "Dear Mother and Dad," Chief Schneider said. He did not say to whom the third note was addressed. Mrs. Morrison's parents are attorney and Mrs. Joseph Dachman.

Morrison, an accountant, found his wife and children huddled in the car when he returned home from work about 6 p.m. He carried them to the front lawn and started administering artificial respiration.

The children were dead, but Mrs. Morrison was revived and hospitalized.

Man Leaves Doghouse But Goes To Jail

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fred Bobbs got out of the doghouse here Thursday—but he went to jail.

Responding to a burglar alarm, Patrolman William Vogel found the front door of a food market broken open and a rear window shattered. Vogel started searching the area and found Bobbs huddled in a doghouse next door.

Bobbs was hustled off to jail for further investigation.

Dr. Adler Divorced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, 57, an internationally known philosopher and editor, was divorced Thursday in a brief, uncontested court proceeding. His wife, Helen, to whom he had been married 33 years, charged extreme cruelty.

Ohio's Revenues Down 9.3% From '59 Period

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first four months of the current fiscal year, which started July 1, the state's revenues have dropped 9.3 per cent compared with the same period last year.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports that revenues totaled $548,482,001, which is $56,854,262 less than the take for the corresponding period.

Expenditures for the last four months totaled $562,475,979, a decrease of eight-tenths of one per cent, or $5,093,347, from the same period a year ago.

October's revenues amounted to $115,788,588 and expenditures $121,182,831, showing drops of 4.7 and 8 per cent, respectively in comparison with October 1959.

what's new at Olsen's

Festive Fashions

"Ollie Olsen"

Get into the mood—for great occasions and glamorous evenings, for a gala, grand and glorious holiday season. Get into the mood for dancing and laughter, for friendship and festivity. Truly the loveliest season of the year.

You're sure to find the dress of your dreams in the wonderful selection of party dresses at Olsen's. Floating chiffons, gleaming satins, flattering laces, and glamorous brocades. Whether you prefer full, full skirts or sleek sheaths — Olsen's have both. Colors you will love, too, Misty White, Hyacinth Blue, gleaming Black, Spruce Green and of course — Christmas Red.

One of the top fashion items of the year, of course, is brocades—in a beautiful shade called candlelight. Here you will find the all time favorite—the shirtwaist. There's no prettier dress in this fabric. Full skirt ¾ sleeves with deep turned back cuff, wide sash belt finished with a gleaming rhinestone pin.

We found a very smart brocaded jacket dress, slim sheath fashioned with deep cut neckline accented with a wide cumberbund of a contrasting color. Wear it with or without the jacket. Loads and loads of wear with a dress of this type—particularly for all the holiday parties. At prices that will fit right into your budget — in both junior and missy sizes.

Marvelous moutons—That's what everyone is saying. As delightful over party dresses as it is with a daytime suit or a casual skirt and sweater. Whether you're hinting or hunting for a Christmas gift, you don't have to wait any longer —coeds, career girls, and grandmothers love the luxury look of a mouton jacket. Soft, lustrous deep pile, a fur of supreme warmth and remarkable durability. Roll collar, sleeves that taper ever so gently into a dainty cuff, popular hip length style. The fur with the million dollar look but a very low price tag. Only 39.95 in Logwood or Charcoal. Be sure to stop in and see for yourself. Take advantage of Olsen's liberal layaway plan. Make the girl in your life very happy on Christmas morning.

Have you seen the heavenly gifts in Olsen's lingerie department? A beautiful collection of holiday robes, pajamas, sleeping gowns and slips. The glamorous gifts that are practical, too. Every woman loves the fragile loveliness of delicate dainty things.

Somehow a robe always seems so exactly right for Christmas. Perhaps it's because a robe belongs with the yuletide tradition of at home gathering. Perhaps it's because a robe combines all she wants most in a gift. You'll certainly find one here at Olsen's. We saw a nylon quilted robe that you'll love—dainty lace trimming, ¾ full sleeves, button front and best of all—it's washable. There are many, many styles to choose from. Priced from 5.79 up. Remember at Christmas she deserves to be pampered.

For sweet sleeping—what could be nicer than the whisper of soft nylon and lace? So dainty and pretty with their lace and embroidery trim, delicate nylon gowns, dangerously beautiful—the kind of night fare even a dream would covet. Some with matching robes. These are just a few of the lovely things we found in Olsen's lingerie department.

Remember Olsen's are open every night till nine for your shopping pleasure. That's all today, see you next Friday.

408 Pounds Lost Through Diet Forum

Never underestimate the will power of a woman once she has made up her mind to carry through on a project. The heroine in our story had been a shining success as a member of a diet club in her community. She had reduced 60 pounds in six months, which was almost halfway to her goal.

By Ida Jean Kain

At this crucial time the family moved to another city where no reducing club existed. Convinced that reducing together is the most effective plan, this resolute dieter proceeded to organize a reducing club — and a large scale. Here is her report:

"I had 74 more pounds to lose and doubted that I could go it alone. Since I was a stranger in the city, I wracked my brains as to how to go about organizing a diet group.

—:—

"FORTUNATELY, I saw a pamphlet about two or three civic club leaders, and called them all. One, a real 'doer' in club activities, promptly invited me to speak at the next civic club meeting.

"I did and, from the audience and their friends, a new and original Diet Forum was born! Later our meetings were held at the local YWCA.

"Since last January 22 until early fall, our group of about twenty has lost a total of 408 pounds. I have shed 50 more pounds and I am now on the last lap of my reducing program. Our members have sent to you for your most complete Calorie Chart.

"Our aim is a weight loss of one pound a week. We discovered that slow losing is best for it takes a good while to re-learn proper eating habits."

The success of this Diet Forum makes its club rules newsworthy: Members pledge to make an honest effort to lose weight safely and sanely. No member cuts calories below 1,000 a day. Serious attention is given the weekly calorie account.

Those who fail to turn in this important record are fined five cents. Individual weight is recorded each week. Weight gainers are fined. Members missing three meetings in a row without valid reason are dropped.

Prizes are awarded once a month for the champion weight-loser of the 4-week period. Any teen-ager who joins must have her doctor's written approval to diet.

The diet sessions last for one hour. This is followed by the exercise period. A YWCA exercise authority conducts the exercise part of the program. A nutrition specialist is a guest speaker once a month. The question period is lively.

—:—

FINALLY, THE graduates who attain normal weight attend once a month for a weight check.

This Diet Forum has spirit and purpose. Results have been triumphant. The leader has lost a grand total of 110 pounds. The club members have lost 408 pounds. Cheers!

Stabbed Fatally By Wife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Elmer Griffin, 33, was stabbed fatally in the chest by his wife, Mary, 29, at their home Thursday night, Detective Wayne Morgan reported.

Lt. Morgan said the mother of four stabbed her husband once with a kitchen knife after he allegedly hit her and knocked her down during an argument that followed a drinking bout. Mrs. Griffin was held without charge for investigation of homicide.

Jaycees To Open 'Toys-For-Tots' Drive Next Week

Doug Capehart, chairman, said today the Junior Chamber of Commer's annual Toys - for - Tots campaign will officially open within the next week.

Capehart said 2,000 letters will be mailed businessmen and individuals, asking for contributions to help defray the costs. The project is made possible through donations and from profits from various projects held throughout the year by the Jaycees.

Capehart said the program is being enlarged again this year with more toys scheduled to be distributed than ever in the past.

The names of children are collected from various welfare agencies. The toys are given the parents, who may present them to the children on Christmas morning as gifts from Santa Claus.

Capehart said anyone desiring to make a contribution may mail it to the Jaycees or give it to one of the members.

Further arrangements will be announced later. The committee includes Jim Moore, Ralph Smith, Dick Martin, Mark Forssell, Jack Hales, Dave Powers and Bob Birch.

Ohio Cities' Intake, Outgo Set New Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The financial intake and outgo for Ohio cities in 1959 both were in excess of $1 billion for the first time ever, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced.

The auditor said Thursday that according to the annual financial reports filed with him by the 149 cities, their total receipts came to $1,318,393,078 and their expenditures totaled $1,288,556,163.

This was an increase of $390,732,552 in income and $344,782,360 in outgo over the preceding year, Rhodes said.

Forty cities reported municipal income tax collection of $55,646,754 and proceeds of all cities from bond sales totaled $151,871,576. The latter increased the debt of cities from $871,544,994 at the beginning of the year to $931,399,291 at year's end.

Truck Driver Killed

MARION, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo truck driver was killed Thursday night when his tractor-trailer hit an Erie Railroad freight train almost headon where the tracks cross Ohio 739 at a sharp angle at nearby Green Camp. The Highway Patrol said there was no flasher light at the crossing where Robert Head, 29, met his death.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Solves Religious Issue

If you had a different religion from that of most of your friends, wouldn't you lose something inside if you indicated in any way you were ashamed to be different from them? A Pennsylvania mother writes of a family experience that is apropos. "My children and I are Catholics, and they go to the regular public school. However, I have made arrangements for them to attend religious classes on Saturdays. "My third-grade son, Steve, and my fourth-grade daughter, Frances, were going to be confirmed one afternoon during the last week of March. We had one problem: the time of the confirmation ceremony interfered with school.

"I TOLD THE children that I had to write notes to their teachers, asking for an early dismissal for them. They both seemed very disturbed then, and Frances asked me what reason I would give the teachers.

"I said:

" 'Well, that you are going to be confirmed'.

"Steve said, 'Why not tell the teachers that we had to see the dentist or the doctor'?" Frances suggested some other excuses.

"I was shocked. I got a sinking feeling, a feeling of failure. I tried to keep my composure and told them that I would discuss the matter later on.

"Meanwhile, I kept asking myself if I have made these children cowards who did not have the courage of their convictions, who were afraid to let it be known that they were Catholics.

"Next day, when their children's magazine arrived, I read in it a simple talk by you about people of different religions and the way they can enjoy learning how they are diffenent and can respect, appreciate and feel kindly toward one another. It was the answer to my problem.

"THAT EVENING we read aloud what you said; we discussed it together. We talked about the different people we know who are Jews and others who are Protestants.

"We asked ourselves if our likes or dislikes of any of them had anything to do with their religion. We found that we never even thought of their religion.

"We also laughed about how silly it would be if the fourth-grade teacher, who is a Jew, would tell her children the day after a Jewish holiday:

" 'Boys and girls, I was sick yesterday; that's why you had a substitute teacher.'

"Then I asked Frances and Steve if they thought it would be right for me to write a lie to their teachers. They both asked me to tell their teachers they were going to be confirmed.

"I must say that, since that incident, I have not noticed any more self-consciousness about religion. Religion seems to be a matter of fact for these children, as it should be."

My bulletin "Honesty and Truthfulness" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ohio Farm Unit To Consider Proposal Of State Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation takes under consideration today a resolution recommending adoption of a state income tax.

Dr. R. Stanfield, federation executive vice president, recommended that delegates to the group's 42nd annual meeting take that stand and campaign for it.

"This income tax," he said, "could provide relief to property taxes in the early 1960s and provide for education needs of the state, without an additional burden to property taxes, by 1970."

Stanfield's resolution was one of more than 200 covering virtually every aspect of the farm problem. The federation was to wind up its three-day meeting today by adopting many of these resolutions, which will comprise its policy format for 1961.

Thursday the 2,000 delegates heard from Charles B. Schuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Schuman said, "The farm problem is so acute that the wheat surplus situation is spilling over and jeopardizing other types of farming."

He said, "It is essential that members of the new Congress put aside election year partisanship and develop a sound, forward-looking program for wheat.

"America's farm families do not want to become wards of the federal government, dependent upon paternalism for an income of subsidies."

Schuman said farm prices should be determined by markets, not the government.

The federation honored T. C. Kennard of Columbus, former state director of the Soil Conservation Service, and Murray D. Lincoln of suburban Gahanna, president of Nationwide Insurance Cos. here, with awards for distinguished service to Ohio agriculture.

Lincoln served as federation executive secretary for 28 years and was instrumental in organizing the Farm Bureau Insurance Cos., now known as Nationwide.

Representatives from Wood, Lorain, Butler, Knox and Highland counties received special awards for their participation in the federation's farm program.

Mother Kills 2 Children, Fails In Suicide Bid

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 27-year-old mother put her two children to death in the garage at their home in suburban Lyndhurst Thursday, but failed in an attempt to kill herself, police reported.

The children were found dead and their mother seriously ill in an automobile parked in the garage. The motor of the car was running and the garage was filled with fumes.

Dead are Joel Morrison, 4, and his sister, Diane, 3.

The mother, Mrs. Jerome Morrison, was held under police guard at Hanna Pavilion of University Hospitals. No charge was filed against her.

Lyndhurst Police Chief G. Glenn Schneider said Mrs. Morrison left three notes indicating she was going to kill the children and herself. One of the notes said, "Forgive me for what I have done," the chief said.

Two notes were found on a bedroom dresser and another was in the automobile. The notes on the dresser were addressed to "Jerry" the husband, and "Dear Mother and Dad," Chief Schneider said. He did not say to whom the third note was addressed. Mrs. Morrison's parents are attorney and Mrs. Joseph Dachman.

Morrison, an accountant, found his wife and children huddled in the car when he returned home from work about 6 p.m. He carried them to the front lawn and started administering artificial respiration.

The children were dead, but Mrs. Morrison was revived and hospitalized.

Man Leaves Doghouse But Goes To Jail

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fred Bobbs got out of the doghouse here Thursday—but he went to jail.

Responding to a burglar alarm, Patrolman William Vogel found the front door of a food market broken open and a rear window shattered. Vogel started searching the area and found Bobbs huddled in a doghouse next door.

Bobbs was hustled off to jail for further investigation.

Dr. Adler Divorced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, 57, an internationally known philosopher and editor, was divorced Thursday in a brief, uncontested court proceeding. His wife, Helen, to whom he had been married 33 years, charged extreme cruelty.

Ohio's Revenues Down 9.3% From '59 Period

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first four months of the current fiscal year, which started July 1, the state's revenues have dropped 9.3 per cent compared with the same period last year.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports that revenues totaled $548,482,001, which is $56,854,262 less than the take for the corresponding period.

Expenditures for the last four months totaled $562,475,979, a decrease of eight-tenths of one per cent, or $5,003,347, from the same period a year ago.

October's revenues amounted to $115,788,588 and expenditures $121,182,831, showing drops of 4.7 and 8 per cent, respectively in comparison with October 1959.

what's new at Olsen's

Festive Fashions

"Ollie Olsen"

Get into the mood—for great occasions and glamorous evenings, for a gala, grand and glorious holiday season. Get into the mood for dancing and laughter, for friendship and festivity. Truly the loveliest season of the year.

You're sure to find the dress of your dreams in the wonderful selection of party dresses at Olsen's. Floating chiffons, gleaming satins, flattering laces, and glamorous brocades. Whether you prefer full, full skirts or sleek sheaths — Olsen's have both. Colors you will love, too, Misty White, Hyacinth Blue, gleaming Black, Spruce Green and of course — Christmas Red.

One of the top fashion items of the year, of course, is brocades—in a beautiful shade called candlelight. Here you will find the all time favorite—the shirtwaist. There's no prettier dress in this fabric. Full skirt ¾ sleeves with deep turned back cuff, wide sash belt finished with a gleaming rhinestone pin.

We found a very smart brocaded jacket dress, slim sheath fashioned with deep cut neckline accented with a wide cumberbund of a contrasting color. Wear it with or without the jacket. Loads and loads of wear with a dress of this type—particularly for all the holiday parties. At prices that will fit right into your budget — in both junior and missy sizes.

Marvelous moutons—That's what everyone is saying. As delightful over party dresses as it is with a daytime suit or a casual skirt and sweater. Whether you're hinting or hunting for a Christmas gift, you don't have to wait any longer —coeds, career girls, and grandmothers love the luxury look of a mouton jacket. Soft, lustrous deep pile, a fur of supreme warmth and remarkable durability. Roll collar, sleeves that taper ever so gently into a dainty cuff, popular hip length style. The fur with the million dollar look but a very low price tag. Only 39.95 in Logwood or Charcoal. Be sure to stop in and see for yourself. Take advantage of Olsen's liberal layaway plan. Make the girl in your life very happy on Christmas morning.

Have you seen the heavenly gifts in Olsen's lingerie department? A beautiful collection of holiday robes, pajamas, sleeping gowns and slips. The glamorous gifts that are practical, too. Every woman loves the fragile loveliness of delicate dainty things.

Somehow a robe always seems so exactly right for Christmas. Perhaps it's because a robe belongs with the yuletide tradition of at home gathering. Perhaps it's because a robe combines all she wants most in a gift. You'll certainly find one here at Olsen's. We saw a nylon quilted robe that you'll love—dainty lace trimming, ¾ full sleeves, button front and best of all—it's washable. There are many, many styles to choose from. Priced from 5.79 up. Remember at Christmas she deserves to be pampered.

For sweet sleeping—what could be nicer than the whisper of soft nylon and lace? So dainty and pretty with their lace and embroidery trim, delicate nylon gowns, dangerously beautiful—the kind of night fare even a dream would covet. Some with matching robes. These are just a few of the lovely things we found in Olsen's lingerie department.

Remember Olsen's are open every night till nine for your shopping pleasure. That's all today, see you next Friday.

Chester School Group Hears Pittsburgh Guest

Andrew Kaye of Pittsburgh spoke on "Unification of Parents and Children In Education" at a meeting of the Washington Home and School Association Thursday night at the Chester school.

He was introduced by Atty. Ruth Cox Turner.

Miss Helen Allison, principal, spoke on the quality of education.

The group will sell candy to raise money for projects. The attendance banner was won by the fourth grade taught by Miss Allison.

Refreshments were served 20 by Mrs. Harvey Werkheiser and committee. Mrs. Turner, president, was in charge. Kent Manley was program chairman.

The next meeting is Dec. 8.

Springfield Woman 'Paid' To Cast Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Margaret C. Flint is one voter who "paid" to cast her ballot Tuesday. The Springfield woman feels certain that an envelope containing money for a bank deposit slipped through a space beside the voting lever into the election machine.

The Clark County election board asked Secretary of State Ted W. Brown what to do, since law requires the machines to be sealed for a 60-day period after the election. Brown replied that another section of the law permits the machine to be searched for the lost money.

Anti-DeGaulle Riots Staged; U.S. Office Hit

ALGIERS (AP) — Angry European settlers fought off tear gas attacks, stoned police, wrecked buses and attacked the United States information center in bloody anti-De Gaulle riots here today.

Almost all the demonstrators were students and youngsters. About two score were injured. Thousands hurled stones, tomatoes or whatever was at hand.

The U.S. cultural center was stormed by the demonstrators after several hours of pitched battles in nearby streets. The center was sacked once before, during the turbulent days of 1958, and has been the target of right-wingers in lesser demonstrations on many occasions. Initial reports mentioned no injuries there this time nor was there any word as to what damage was done to the center.

The temper of the European demonstrators mounted toward the boiling point as French President Charles de Gaulle's civilian chief in Algeria, Paul Delouvrier, drove through the Boulevard Pasteur to lay a wreath at the monument for war dead.

The crowd shouted "Resign!" and "De Gaulle to the stake!"

Delouvrier laid his wreath without interference, however. The violence came after he drove off.

Anger has mounted among Algeria's militant French settlers since De Gaulle, in a broadcast a week ago, promised that the North African territory would no longer be governed by Metropolitan France but would have "its own government, its own institutions, its own laws." The settlers generally interpreted De Gaulle's words to mean an Algerian republic in which they would be overwhelmed by the Moslem Majority.

Paris newspapers reported Thursday De Gaulle may soon proclaim Algeria a republic in a bold move to liquidate the festering six-year-old nationalist rebellion.

Thursday night a crowd of about 1,000 demonstrators, in an Armistice Eve wreath ceremony at the war dead monument, clashed with security forces. Several persons were injured by police clubs.

2 Rotarians Honored For Perfect Records

Two special awards for more than a quarter of a century of perfect attendance were made at the meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday night at the New Riviera Restaurant.

Richard Steebner was presented with an award for 28 years' perfect attendance and Alex Della Valle received an award for 26 years without missing a meeting. The awards were made by William Moll, attendance chairman.

Thomas Fannin, program chairman, discussed the Rotarian magazine and reviewed plans for the organization's international convention next year in Tokyo. Donald Green, president, presided.

Dr. J. A. Helfrich will be program chairman at the meeting next Thursday night.

Peters Returned By Local NAACP

Caesar Peters was re-elected president of the area chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at a meeting Thursday night at the Second Baptist Church in the East End.

Others named were the Rev. William Caswell of Wellsville, vice president; Mrs. Thelma Leak, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Peters, financial secretary; Mrs. Roberta Chavis, treasurer; Miss Olivia Lacey, corresponding secretary, and the Rev. J. L. Lassiter and the Rev. R. L. Latimore, chaplains.

Named to the Executive Board were Earl Taylor, Oliver Spencer, Clyde Christian and Mrs. Alice Carter.

About 25 attended the session. The next meeting will be in December at the church.

Blaze Kills 4 Children; 11 Persons Flee

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four children died Thursday night in a fire at a 2½-story house on the East Side. Eleven other persons fled their first and second-floor apartments.

Dead are Shirley Ann Ross, 4; Edward, 3; Richard, 2, and Nager, 8 months, children of Mrs. Christine Ross, 28.

The mother, who had been watching television at the home of a next door neighbor, was driven back by flames and smoke when she tried to reach the youngsters.

Firemen found the children in two bedrooms of the four-room suite on the third floor occupied by Mrs. Ross and her family. Morgue attendants said they had inhaled much smoke and also were burned severely.

Mrs. Ross, who is separated from her husband, said she had left the children about 45 minutes before the fire broke out.

It was the second fire here in less than a week to take the lives of four youngsters. Mrs. Vera Gordon and her sister, Mrs. Valeria Ames, each lost two children early last Saturday in a fire at their home.

Fire Battalion Chief John Eble estimated the damage in Thursday night's fire at $7,500. It was confined mostly to the third floor.

Capt. Frank Hubach of the arson squad said the blaze might have been started accidentally by the Ross children. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry, occupants of a second-floor suite, said they heard the children running around soon after they noticed the odor of smoke.

Blow To U.S., Tass Says Of Viet Nam Coup

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today the coup against South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem is a blow to United States prestige, no matter who is behind it.

"So far it is difficult to judge the character of the events which developed in Saigon and of the forces which have carried out the coup d'etat," wrote Tass commentator V. Kharkou.

"But it is quite obvious that the fall of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime, this offspring of Washington, represents a new blow at United States' prestige."

Midland PTA To Hear Specialist In Reading

The 1st St. Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Midland School and Miss Mary Conlon, remedial reading teacher of the Midland public schools, will speak on "Improving Your Child"s Reading Ability."

A question-and-answer period will follow.

Mrs. George J. Suznevich, president, will preside for business. The Executive Board will meet at 1:45 p. m. A tea will be served in conclusion.

Yule Checks Mailed

SALINEVILLE — A total of $19,125 in Christmas Club checks have been mailed to 250 customers, Robert Cole, cashier of the Citizens Banking Co., announced Thursday. The total was a slight increase over the previous year, he said.

'Showdown' Scheduled On Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—An integration showdown loomed in Louisiana today as Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright maneuvered like military strategists in a day of lightning developments.

Wright issued a temporary restraining order Thursday prohibiting state interference with New Orleans schools and banning enforcement of the state's new package of school segregation laws passed in a 12-day special session that recessed last Tuesday.

Davis, in a surprise move late Thursday night, countered by calling a second session to convene 30 days starting Tuesday—the day the Legislature returns to end its current session.

Davis, a singer of hillbilly songs who took office six months ago on a platform of "peace and harmony," used the same broad language as in his first call.

He said the next session would deal with schools, states rights, education, and protection of public order. Omitted this time was any reference to a state militia.

Previously, a member of a state committee appointed to seize control of the schools speculated it might be necessary to call another special session to put the full weight of the Legislature behind the committee's actions.

Within hours after Wright signed the temporary restraining orders, the New Orleans School Board okayed admission of five Negro first grade girls into two of the city's all-white schools.

Departing Lock Crew Honored At Farewell

A farewell party was held Thursday night at the lockhouse of Dam 8 near Newell for the employes who will be reassigned with the razing of the river landmark.

About 36 attended. Guests included Lafayette Wills, area chief, William Shults, assistant area chief, and Irwin Parker, of the area office, all from the Pittsburgh Corps of Army Engineers.

Harry Springer, lockmaster, said two Dam 8 employes already have been assigned to Dam 7 at Midland and a third will begin duties Monday at Dam 9 in New Cumberland.

The engineers are demolishing Dam 8 with the near completion of the Stratton super-dam and locks farther down the river.

Kitchen Trends Aired For Guilford Sorority

LISBON — The Guilford Lake Delta Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Young for business.

Mrs. Robert Greenawalt and Mrs. Young led a discussion on "Modern Trends In Kitchen and Dining Areas" as the chapter continued its study of interior decorating.

Mrs. John Mason, co-hostess, will entertain the group at a taffy-pull next Thursday evening.

7 Hancock Residents To Serve On U.S. Jury

Seven Hancock County residents have been named to serve as petit jurors for the October term of Federal Court in Wheeling, which convenes Wednesday at 9:30 a. m.

Judge Charles F. Paul Jr. will preside for the docket of civil and criminal cases scheduled during the term.

Jurors include Ray C. Gilliland, William S. Miller and Earl G. Parsons of Chester, Joan Rees of New Cumberland, and Thomas G. Anas, Eugene G. McKitrick and Jack W. Hamill, all of Weirton.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I serve to someone who doesn't like eggs and who I feel should have the benefits of eggs?

A. You might try a "soupnog." Use a rotary beater and blend one can of cream of chicken, celery, or mushroom soup with one can of milk. Chill. Just before serving, beat in an egg for each portion. Serve ice cold. Good with tomato soup, too.

Q. How can I remedy a sweater that is unsightly because its pockets are stretched and sagging?

A. Sew a strip of elastic inside the top of the pockets and tack the wool to it in a few places. It will draw the pocket back into position and stop the sagging.

Q. How can I make better tasting fudge?

A. A teaspoonful of cornstarch added to the fudge will greatly improve its texture and flavor.

Board Airs Business During PTA Meeting

SALINEVILLE — School business was discussed by the Southern Local Board of Education in an informal session as part of a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the high school.

About 65 attended and the PTA budget, submitted by Howard Adams of the finance committee, was adopted. Some playground equipment was purchased.

Mrs. Helen McClellan, president, was in charge. Refreshments were served by the fifth grade homeroom mothers. A fifth grade science display was arranged under the direction of Mrs. Mary Whitaker, teacher.

The next meeting is Dec. 8.

220 Died In Climbs

ROME (AP) — A total of 220 persons died in mountain climbing accidents in the Alps this year, a survey in the five Alpine nations of Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and France showed today. The toll last year was 281.

The Australian sea horse is almost invisible when it is in the midst of seaweed because of the leaflike growths on its body.

Psychology At Work In His Service Station

SHELBY, N. C. (AP) — A sign over the empty soft drink crates at a service station here reads, "Test your I.Q. Put the round bottle in the square hole."

The operator claims it's hard for people to pass up the chance to prove their intelligence, and he says the gimmick has ended the problem of picking up bottles scattered around the station.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 3-6 degrees above normal. Normal high 48-56, normal low 33 - 41. Warming trend through Tuesday turning cooler Wednesday. Rain on Sunday north and more generally Tuesday or Wednesday.

Because of its low salt content, large sections of the Baltic Sea freeze over for three to five months each winter.

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims Widow At 88

Mrs. Cynthia Ann Spires, 542 Wells Hollow Rd., Wellsville, widow of Phillip E. Spires, died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday at 7:30 p. m. while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Inez Carter, 311 Wells Ave., Wellsville. She was 88.

She was a life member of Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and a member of the auxiliary of VFW Post 9285, both of Wellsville.

Besides her daughter, she leaves two sons, William Spires at home, and Francis E. Spires of Cleveland, and 9 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Haugh Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. R. L. Hunter. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Leora Simones

Mrs. Leora Simones, widow of Thomas E. Simones, died Thursday at 9 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Moyer, of Carrollton R. D. 5, with whom she resided. She was 85 and had been in failing health.

She was born Sept. 22, 1875, in Ravenswood, W. Va., daughter of William Anderson and Margaret Doolittle Anderson. She was a member of the United Brethren Church of Ravenswood.

She is survived by four other daughters, Mrs. Blanche Roach and Mrs. Lonnie Moyer, both of Carrollton R.D. 1, Mrs. Norman Mobley of Wellsville and Mrs. Harold Bracken of St. Petersburg, Fla., and 30 grandchildren, 52 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren. Her husband died in October 1954.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Sweeney Funeral Home in Carrollton by the Rev. Ambert Sands of Carrollton. Burial will be in New Harrisburg Cemetery near Carrollton.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Marion Hartsough

HANOVERTON — Marion Hartsough, tobacco salesman, died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the home. He was 57.

He was born in Baden, May 2, 1903, son of Mrs. Caroline S. Hartsough of Louisville, Ohio. He resided in the Hanoverton area for 29 years and was employed as a route man for the S. & H. Wholesale Tobacco Co. of Salem. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Winona, the Sandy Valley Masonic Lodge of Hanoverton and the Butler Grange of Salem R. D.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Anderson Hartsough, and mother, he is survived by a son, Lewis Hartsough at home; a sister, Mrs. George Caples of Louisville, and three brothers, Norman Hartsough of Salem R. D. Raymond Hartsough of Philadelphia and Frank Hartsough of Detroit.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Maple Funeral Home in Kensington by Rev. Alonzo Wise, pastor of the Hanoverton Christian Church. Burial will be in Union Cemetery at Uhrichsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and Saturday afternoon and night.

Mike Bishop

Services for Mike Bishop, who resided at the Thompson Hotel, will be held Saturday morning at 11 at the Martin Funeral Home by Fr. Carl Nicolay, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery in Chester.

He was found dead Wednesday morning, apparently of a heart condition.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Chester School Group Hears Pittsburgh Guest

Andrew Kaye of Pittsburgh spoke on "Unification of Parents and Children In Education" at a meeting of the Washington Home and School Association Thursday night at the Chester school.

He was introduced by Atty. Ruth Cox Turner.

Miss Helen Allison, principal, spoke on the quality of education.

The group will sell candy to raise money for projects. The attendance banner was won by the fourth grade taught by Miss Allison.

Refreshments were served 20 by Mrs. Harvey Werkheiser and committee. Mrs. Turner, president, was in charge. Kent Manley was program chairman.

The next meeting is Dec. 8.

Springfield Woman 'Paid' To Cast Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Margaret C. Flint is one voter who "paid" to cast her ballot Tuesday. The Springfield woman feels certain that an envelope containing money for a bank deposit slipped through a space beside the voting lever into the election machine.

The Clark County election board asked Secretary of State Ted W. Brown what to do, since law requires the machines to be sealed for a 60-day period after the election. Brown replied that another section of the law permits the machine to be searched for the lost money.

Anti-DeGaulle Riots Staged; U.S. Office Hit

ALGIERS (AP) — Angry European settlers fought off tear gas attacks, stoned police, wrecked buses and attacked the United States information center in bloody anti-De Gaulle riots here today.

Almost all the demonstrators were students and youngsters. About two score were injured. Thousands hurled stones, tomatoes or whatever was at hand.

The U.S. cultural center was stormed by the demonstrators after several hours of pitched battles in nearby streets. The center was sacked once before, during the turbulent days of 1958, and has been the target of right-wingers in lesser demonstrations on many occasions. Initial reports mentioned no injuries there this time nor was there any word as to what damage was done to the center.

The temper of the European demonstrators mounted toward the boiling point as French President Charles de Gaulle's civilian chief in Algeria, Paul Delouvrier, drove through the Boulevard Pasteur to lay a wreath at the monument for war dead.

The crowd shouted "Resign!" and "De Gaulle to the stake!"

Delouvrier laid his wreath without interference, however. The violence came after he drove off.

Anger has mounted among Algeria's militant French settlers since De Gaulle, in a broadcast a week ago, promised that the North African territory would no longer be governed by Metropolitan France but would have "its own government, its own institutions, its own laws." The settlers generally interpreted De Gaulle's words to mean an Algerian republic in which they would be overwhelmed by the Moslem Majority.

Paris newspapers reported Thursday De Gaulle may soon proclaim Algeria a republic in a bold move to liquidate the festering six-year-old nationalist rebellion.

Thursday night a crowd of about 1,000 demonstrators, in an Armistice Eve wreath ceremony at the war dead monument, clashed with security forces. Several persons were injured by police clubs.

2 Rotarians Honored For Perfect Records

Two special awards for more than a quarter of a century of perfect attendance were made at the meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday night at the New Riviera Restaurant.

Richard Steebner was presented with an award for 28 years' perfect attendance and Alex Della Valle received an award for 26 years without missing a meeting. The awards were made by William Moll, attendance chairman.

Thomas Fannin, program chairman, discussed the Rotarian magazine and reviewed plans for the organization's international convention next year in Tokyo. Donald Green, president, presided.

Dr. J. A. Helfrich will be program chairman at the meeting next Thursday night.

Peters Returned By Local NAACP

Caesar Peters was re-elected president of the area chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at a meeting Thursday night at the Second Baptist Church in the East End.

Others named were the Rev. William Caswell of Wellsville, vice president; Mrs. Thelma Leak, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Peters, financial secretary; Mrs. Roberta Chavis, treasurer; Miss Olivia Lacey, corresponding secretary, and the Rev. J. L. Lassiter and the Rev. R. L. Latimore, chaplains.

Named to the Executive Board were Earl Taylor, Oliver Spencer, Clyde Christian and Mrs. Alice Carter.

About 25 attended the session. The next meeting will be in December at the church.

Blaze Kills 4 Children; 11 Persons Flee

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four children died Thursday night in a fire at a 2½-story house on the East Side. Eleven other persons fled their first and second-floor apartments.

Dead are Shirley Ann Ross, 4; Edward, 3; Richard, 2, and Nager, 8 months, children of Mrs. Christine Ross, 28.

The mother, who had been watching television at the home of a next door neighbor, was driven back by flames and smoke when she tried to reach the youngsters.

Firemen found the children in two bedrooms of the four-room suite on the third floor occupied by Mrs. Ross and her family. Morgue attendants said they had inhaled much smoke and also were burned severely.

Mrs. Ross, who is separated from her husband, said she had left the children about 45 minutes before the fire broke out.

It was the second fire here in less than a week to take the lives of four youngsters. Mrs. Vera Gordon and her sister, Mrs. Valeria Ames, each lost two children early last Saturday in a fire at their home.

Fire Battalion Chief John Eble estimated the damage in Thursday night's fire at $7,500. It was confined mostly to the third floor.

Capt. Frank Hubach of the arson squad said the blaze might have been started accidentally by the Ross children. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry, occupants of a second-floor suite, said they heard the children running around soon after they noticed the odor of smoke.

Blow To U.S., Tass Says Of Viet Nam Coup

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today the coup against South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem is a blow to United States prestige, no matter who is behind it.

"So far it is difficult to judge the character of the events which developed in Saigon and of the forces which have carried out the coup d'etat," wrote Tass commentator V. Kharkou.

"But it is quite obvious that the fall of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime, this offspring of Washington, represents a new blow at United States' prestige."

Midland PTA To Hear Specialist In Reading

The 1st St. Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Midland School and Miss Mary Conlon, remedial reading teacher of the Midland public schools, will speak on "Improving Your Child"s Reading Ability."

A question-and-answer period will follow.

Mrs. George J. Suznevich, president, will preside for business. The Executive Board will meet at 1:45 p. m. A tea will be served in conclusion.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Robert Morley Reigns As Conversationalist

When I was much younger, I recall with great pleasure Robert Morley playing Oscar Wilde, the greatest conversationalist since Samuel Johnson, perhaps the greatest of all time.

John Crosby

That was almost 25 years ago, and today Morley himself occupies the perilous position of one of the greatest talkers—if not the greatest talker—of our day. What makes a great talker? Well, Wilde had no Boswell to take down the exact words, most of which are forever lost, but innumerable people who listened to him testified to the immense aura of charm which surrounded his conversation, his fluency on any subject (there must not be a sense of strain or it ceases to be conversation and becomes an act), his grace, his wit, his rippling command and precision of language, his explosive but delicately phrased irreverence of opinion.

-:-

FLOW IS WHAT conversation must do and it must leave you breathless with wonder and delight—without too clear a recollection of exactly what was said. It's like watching Fred Astaire dance. Matchless display of virtuosity — but what did he do exactly?

Lunching with Morley, who is in New York to appear in "Heaven Can Wait" on "Show of the Month" next Wednesday (CBS-TV), is such an experience. He opened with:

"I'm so sorry you couldn't come to rehearsal but Mr. Segal (the director) doesn't permit visitors. Pity. It's lovely to have strangers wandering in. The actors wake up and do a bit of acting for 10 minutes."

He sighed at this delicate punch at Mr. Segal and added: "It's awfully difficult not to bite the hand that feeds you, isn't it? I have very sharp teeth, so why not bite?"

WE TALKED about television: "American television seems to be 17 networks in search of a program, doesn't it? It's a shame, too, because it's the only thing visitors judge you by.

"We have the same thing in London. Visitors just stay in their hotel room and watch television. I'd like a little television station in New York. We'd run it like an art house—run it for indigenous foreigners."

He ate a lump of sugar and shook his head: "I never read television scripts or film scripts because it's all too confusing."

I said I thought he had done splendidly on the David Susskind show last year.

"Only because of its enormous length," he said. "Mr. Susskind's shows are characterized by people who want to sell something or who want to grind axes. I much prefer to be on the Paar show. There's no reason at all to be on the Paar show.

"He is the great American tranquilizer. He puts America to sleep. When he left for three days to go to Japan—or wherever he went—I wrote to the Sunday Express that no one in America went to bed for three days. Then Nanny had to come back to the night nursery."

I ASKED HIM to name some of the world's great conversationalists.

"If you name them, they stop talking," he said. "They're so afraid they'll destroy their reputation they shut up. The best thing to say about your enemies is that they are good conversationalists. It gets back to them and stops them talking."

He mentioned Wilfred Hyde White and David Cecil as good English talkers and, among Americans, Mort Sahl "and this fellow Bob Newhart — very funny."

"I belong to the Garrick (a London club)," he continued. "On the whole it has a very high standard of chat. And here there seems to be an articulate minority.

"Television is the fine art of insincerity. Logan Piersall Smith said, 'When you go into a roomful of people, you always ask yourself, "What shall I be tonight?" '—a charming gay blade, what? You do the same thing on television."

Council Delays Fluoridation For Midland

Councilman Joseph Hibbard told Midland Council Thursday night his water committee needs more time to study the proposed fluoridation of the borough's water supply.

The Municipal Water Authority Oct. 27, on the recommendation of Dr. Zanvel Sigal, authority president and also a dentist, asked Council to endorse the proposal.

Hibbard, whose committee was asked to study the proposal and authorized to act, said that after talking to a few residents he found fluoride "a touchy and controversial subject."

He said he understands that no city or town in Beaver County has fluoride in its water. He said he will contact the Association of Boroughs for information.

Dr. Sigal had assured Council that the tooth decay retardant has no ill effects and does not harm steel making.

Council approved annual donations to both of the borough's fire companies — $300 to Company 1 downtown and $200 to Company 2 in Midland Heights, on the motion of Councilman Harvey Spencer, fire committee chairman.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough and Council secretary, reported that the Crucible Steel Co. is not interested in selling any property. The borough had sought company's property in front of the water department on Railroad Ave.

The Municipal Authority informed Council that it will install a fire hydrant soon at 12th St. and Beaver Ave., as requested.

Council approved the request of Dan Borato to cut curbing at 825 Maryland Ave. for a driveway.

No action was taken on a recommendation made at the last meeting for a street light at Murphy Hill Rd. and Delaware Ave. R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, who was asked to investigate, said the Duquesne Light Co., believes the light is not needed.

He said that according to the order in which lights in that area are spaced, there should be sufficient light without another.

Vinovich said Mrs. Mildred Lona, 120 Midland Ave. informed him that a tree limb is touching an electric wire in that area. Councilman Raymond Presutti, tree committee chairman, will confer with the power company.

Asked at the last meeting to make a study of broken curbing in the borough, Steebner reported that some 150 feet is bad or dangerous and 200 feet is cracked or deteriorated. He said also that some 360 feet along driveways is bad.

Steve Germusa, president, submitted the curbing needs to Councilman Joseph D'Alesio's street committee for recommendation in next year's budget.

Since Council's next regular meeting would fall on Thanksgiving, it was canceled. But Council will meet in the event of an emergency.

Council will hold a special meeting next Thursday at 9 p. m. with the Planning Commission for a public hearing on a land subdivision ordinance. Public hearings on a zoning ordinance have been scheduled by the Planning Commission next Wednesday and Thursday, both at 7:30 p. m. in the Borough Building.

Council approved Sponcer's motion that borough officers' reports be accepted as submitted without reading. Bills were ordered paid.

Degassing Unit Tried At Crucible Facility

L. L. Ferrall, executive vice president of the Crucible Steel Co., announced that a unique degassing treatment unit has been installed at the Midland Works and experimental production has been started.

The unit was built by the Lectromelt Division of the McGraw-Edison Co. under licenses from a firm in West Germany. It is the first unit of this type on the North American continent, he said.

Use of the unit in specialty steel products will be studied.

Salesman Turns Self In

Man Who 'Skipped' Bond Held On Forgery Charge

A Youngstown salesman who skipped bond on 3 charges in Municipal Court Sept. 28 found a fourth charge had piled up against him after he surrendered himself Thursday to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Gerald Risner, 30, was held to the Grand Jury under $2,500 bond yesterday on a forgery charge that was filed after he skipped. It alleged that he forged the name of an East End woman on a promissory note after selling her a sewing machine and then discounted the note with a lending agency. Risner pleaded not guilty and waived the taking of testimony on the charge.

Judge Chertoff entered an order vacating the forfeiture of bonds which he decreed Sept. 28 after Risner failed to appear on the first 3 charges. Arrested in connection with sales of $339 sewing machines to East Liverpool housewives on a "sew-at-home" plan, Risner was charged with violation of a state law that requires the salesman to give the purchaser a copy of a retail installment sales agreement.

He also was accused of two auto law violations — using illegal license plates and driving without a permit. When Risner failed to show for the September hearing, the court forfeited the $500 bond which he had posted on the sales contract charge and bonds of $56 each posted on the two auto law charges.

The sureties had been posted for Risner by the United Bonding Co. of Youngstown, a professional bonding concern. The judge's action yesterday allowed the return of the forfeiture to the bonding company.

The judge then ordered the 3 charges continued and fixed new bonds for Risner — $300 on the sales contract case and $100 on each of the traffic violations — which means he must put up a total of $3,000 to regain his freedom.

The forgery charge was filed against Risner after his disappearance. Signed by Mrs. Frances Criswell, one of his customers, it alleges that he forged her name on a promissory note "with intent to defraud." The affidavit does not list the amount of the note.

The three charges filed originally against Risner will be heard after the forgery case is disposed of in Common Pleas Court, the judge indicated.

Judge Chertoff said Risner appeared in court yesterday partly "through the efforts of the bondsman," whose money was at stake. Risner gave no explanation of his disappearance, the judge said.

While Risner was taken to jail in lieu of the bonds, two other "holds" were placed against him by out-of-town authorities. He was served with a warrant by Capt. Robert H. Pyle alleging he issued a check with insufficient funds in Wyoming County, W. Va. Another "hold" order was received from authorities at Niles, who said he is wanted for non-payment of a fine assessed against him there on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

At the time of Risner's arrest, police said he and an employe sold sewing machines to several East Liverpool women on the promise that the price could be repaid by a "sew-at-home" arrangement. Later, the purchasers learned that the sellers then financed the purchases by turning over chattel mortgages to a bank and a loan company without the buyers' knowledge, police alleged.

Charges of failure to deliver a sales contract also are pending in Municipal Court against a second man in the same case. He is Elmer Ellsworth, 38, also of Youngstown, who identified himself as a salesman employed by Risner.

Godfrey's Discharged After Tumor Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey, operated upon Wednesday for removal of a fatty tumor on his right side, was discharged from the hospital today. The operation was described as minor.

Doctors said the tumor was non-malignant.

Godfrey was operated upon in April 1959 for removal of a lung cancer. The operation was pronounced a success and he returned to television and radio the following fall.

Will Seek Recount

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Frederick K. Randolph, an apparent 83-vote loser for judge of the Butler County Common Pleas Court, said Thursday he will seek a recount of ballots. A tabulation showed Randolph, a Republican, was beaten by Arthur L. Fiehrer, Democrat, for the judicial post from which Judge P. P. Boli will retire after this year.

Trucker Gets Fine In Crash

A West Virginia trucker was fined $25 and costs Thursday in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to charges filed by the State Highway Patrol as an aftermath of a car-truck collision Wednesday afternoon on Route 7 near Rogers in which an elderly woman was injured.

Ray Williams, 32, of Moundsville was accused of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his tractor-trailer hit the rear of a car driven by John C. Gibson, 43, of Rogers R. D. 1. A passenger in the car, Mrs. Lillian Gibson, 78, of Rogers R. D. 1, suffered a neck injury.

Meanwhile, the judge Thursday ordered a continuance until Monday at 10 a. m. in a hearing for Victor S. Dunn, 48, of 746 St. Clair Ave., charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless operation.

Dunn was arrested Nov. 4 after three witnesses told police his auto nearly hit an oncoming car on Harvey Ave. and then struck a parked auto. Dunn's hearing originally had been set for yesterday afternoon.

Richard Baker, 938 Lisbon St., scheduled to appear Thursday on a charge of operating a car with an illegal muffler, appeared Wednesday instead and entered a guilty plea. He was fined $15 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of the $6 costs.

Salineville Post Plans Veterans Day Dinner

SALINEVILLE — A Veterans Day dinner and dance will be held by members of American Legion Post 442, families and guests Saturday.

A roast beef dinner will be held at the post home from 4:30 to 7:30, followed by a dance, Dean Wright, commander, announced.

Ex-Officer Kills Self

CINCINNATI (AP)—Keith Scott, 55, who retired only last Oct. 11 as assistant Cincinnati police chief, shot himself to death in his home Thursday night. Lt. Lloyd Simon said Mrs. Scott told him she found her husband slumped in his chair after hearing a shot while she was preparing dinner. A gun was lying alongside him. Scott retired because of ill health.

Woman Picks Up Automobile She Ordered In '50

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—It'll be 10 years late, but better late than never for California here I come, when Miss Ruth Sprague hits the road Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. Sprague, a registered nurse who is "past 65—past the retiring age," Thursday picked up the Dodge automobile she ordered here in 1950.

In February of 1950 she had decided to retire, buy a car and go to California.

She bought the car all right, paid $2,400 for it in 18 monthly payments, but didn't go through with her retirement plan.

The car was kept in good condition for her by garage mechanics who took it for a short spin every six months, putting eight miles on the speedometer over the years.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

Tall Like Daddy
• D & C
• B. S.
• Hair Thinning

Q. Is it possible to predict how tall a child will be when he grows up?

A. It is possible to make an educated guess. If interested, request a "How Tall" card, directing your request to SCIENCE EDITORS, P. O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., New York 10, N. Y.

Q. I am 35, and have had two D and C's for blocked tubes, but no luck. Is there any chance of having children?

A. First, D and C (dilatation and curettage) is done for purposes other than to "unblock" the tubes. Infertility is often a very complex problem. Both the husband and wife should be examined and the cause of the difficulty pinpointed, if possible. Having discovered the cause, the doctor will employ whatever is called for by way of corrective treatment. Don't be discouraged if the doctor fails to solve the problem in a few visits. It may take time to determine the reason for the difficulty.

Q. Why is "bachelor" used in connection with college degrees?

A. It is probably derived from the word "baccalarius," a term applied to young English knights who fought under the banner of someone else, hence, knight bachelor. Pope Gregory IX (1227-41) first used the term to designate a person who had passed an academic examination but who was not yet a "master" or "doctor".

Q. What causes hair thinning in young women?

A. Hair thinning in younger women seems to occur more often now than formerly. A group of New York doctors investigated this problem but failed to come up with an answer. To quote the physicians, "There has been no specific approach, and indeed no satisfactory approach, to treatment of this condition."

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Robert Morley Reigns As Conversationalist

When I was much younger, I recall with great pleasure Robert Morley playing Oscar Wilde, the greatest conversationalist since Samuel Johnson, perhaps the greatest of all time.

John Crosby

That was almost 25 years ago, and today Morley himself occupies the perilous position of one of the greatest talkers—if not the greatest talker—of our day. What makes a great talker? Well, Wilde had no Boswell to take down the exact words, most of which are forever lost, but innumerable people who listened to him testified to the immense aura of charm which surrounded his conversation, his fluency on any subject (there must not be a sense of strain or it ceases to be conversation and becomes an act), his grace, his wit, his rippling command and precision of language, his explosive but delicately phrased irreverence of opinion.

-:-

FLOW IS WHAT conversation must do and it must leave you breathless with wonder and delight—without too clear a recollection of exactly what was said. It's like watching Fred Astaire dance. Matchless display of virtuosity — but what did he do exactly?

Lunching with Morley, who is in New York to appear in "Heaven Can Wait" on "Show of the Month" next Wednesday (CBS-TV), is such an experience. He opened with:

"I'm so sorry you couldn't come to rehearsal but Mr. Segal (the director) doesn't permit visitors. Pity. It's lovely to have strangers wandering in. The actors wake up and do a bit of acting for 10 minutes."

He sighed at this delicate punch at Mr. Segal and added: "It's awfully difficult not to bite the hand that feeds you, isn't it? I have very sharp teeth, so why not bite?"

WE TALKED about television: "American television seems to be 17 networks in search of a program, doesn't it? It's a shame, too, because it's the only thing visitors judge you by.

"We have the same thing in London. Visitors just stay in their hotel room and watch television. I'd like a little television station in New York. We'd run it like an art house—run it for indigenous foreigners."

He ate a lump of sugar and shook his head: "I never read television scripts or film scripts because it's all too confusing."

I said I thought he had done splendidly on the David Susskind show last year.

"Only because of its enormous length," he said. "Mr. Susskind's shows are characterized by people who want to sell something or who want to grind axes. I much prefer to be on the Paar show. There's no reason at all to be on the Paar show.

"He is the great American tranquilizer. He puts America to sleep. When he left for three days to go to Japan—or wherever he went—I wrote to the Sunday Express that no one in America went to bed for three days. Then Nanny had to come back to the night nursery."

I ASKED HIM to name some of the world's great conversationalists.

"If you name them, they stop talking," he said. "They're so afraid they'll destroy their reputation they shut up. The best thing to say about your enemies is that they are good conversationalists. It gets back to them and stops them talking."

He mentioned Wilfred Hyde White and David Cecil as good English talkers and, among Americans, Mort Sahl "and this fellow Bob Newhart — very funny."

"I belong to the Garrick (a London club)," he continued. "On the whole it has a very high standard of chat. And here there seems to be an articulate minority.

"Television is the fine art of insincerity. Logan Piersall Smith said, 'When you go into a roomful of people, you always ask yourself, "What shall I be tonight?" "—a charming gay blade, what? You do the same thing on television."

Council Delays Fluoridation For Midland

Councilman Joseph Hibbard told Midland Council Thursday night his water committee needs more time to study the proposed fluoridation of the borough's water supply.

The Municipal Water Authority Oct. 27, on the recommendation of Dr. Zanvel Sigal, authority president and also a dentist, asked Council to endorse the proposal.

Hibbard, whose committee was asked to study the proposal and authorized to act, said that after talking to a few residents he found fluoride "a touchy and controversial subject."

He said he understands that no city or town in Beaver County has fluoride in its water. He said he will contact the Association of Boroughs for information.

Dr. Sigal had assured Council that the tooth decay retardant has no ill effects and does not harm steel making.

Council approved annual donations to both of the borough's fire companies — $300 to Company 1 downtown and $200 to Company 2 in Midland Heights, on the motion of Councilman Harvey Spencer, fire committee chairman.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough and Council secretary, reported that the Crucible Steel Co. is not interested in selling any property. The borough had sought company's property in front of the water department on Railroad Ave.

The Municipal Authority informed Council that it will install a fire hydrant soon at 12th St. and Beaver Ave., as requested.

Council approved the request of Dan Borato to cut curbing at 825 Maryland Ave. for a driveway.

No action was taken on a recommendation made at the last meeting for a street light at Murphy Hill Rd. and Delaware Ave. R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, who was asked to investigate, said the Duquesne Light Co., believes the light is not needed.

He said that according to the order in which lights in that area are spaced, there should be sufficient light without another.

Vinovich said Mrs. Mildred Lona, 120 Midland Ave. informed him that a tree limb is touching an electric wire in that area. Councilman Raymond Presutti, tree committee chairman, will confer with the power company.

Asked at the last meeting to make a study of broken curbing in the borough, Steebner reported that some 150 feet is bad or dangerous and 200 feet is cracked or deteriorated. He said also that some 360 feet along driveways is bad.

Steve Germusa, president, submitted the curbing needs to Councilman Joseph D'Alesio's street committee for recommendation in next year's budget.

Since Council's next regular meeting would fall on Thanksgiving, it was canceled. But Council will meet in the event of an emergency.

Council will hold a special meeting next Thursday at 9 p. m. with the Planning Commission for a public hearing on a land subdivision ordinance. Public hearings on a zoning ordinance have been scheduled by the Planning Commission next Wednesday and Thursday, both at 7:30 p. m. in the Borough Building.

Council approved Sponcer's motion that borough officers' reports be accepted as submitted without reading. Bills were ordered paid.

Degassing Unit Tried At Crucible Facility

L. L. Ferrall, executive vice president of the Crucible Steel Co., announced that a unique degassing treatment unit has been installed at the Midland Works and experimental production has been started.

The unit was built by the Lectromelt Division of the McGraw-Edison Co. under licenses from a firm in West Germany. It is the first unit of this type on the North American continent, he said.

Use of the unit in specialty steel products will be studied.

Salesman Turns Self In

Man Who 'Skipped' Bond Held On Forgery Charge

A Youngstown salesman who skipped bond on 3 charges in Municipal Court Sept. 28 found a fourth charge had piled up against him after he surrendered himself Thursday to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Gerald Risner, 30, was held to the Grand Jury under $2,500 bond yesterday on a forgery charge that was filed after he skipped. It alleged that he forged the name of an East End woman on a promissory note after selling her a sewing machine and then discounted the note with a lending agency. Risner pleaded not guilty and waived the taking of testimony on the charge.

Judge Chertoff entered an order vacating the forfeiture of bonds which he decreed Sept. 28 after Risner failed to appear on the first 3 charges. Arrested in connection with sales of $339 sewing machines to East Liverpool housewives on a "sew-at-home" plan, Risner was charged with violation of a state law that requires the salesman to give the purchaser a copy of a retail installment sales agreement.

He also was accused of two auto law violations — using illegal license plates and driving without a permit. When Risner failed to show for the September hearing, the court forfeited the $500 bond which he had posted on the sales contract charge and bonds of $56 each posted on the two auto law charges.

The sureties had been posted for Risner by the United Bonding Co. of Youngstown, a professional bonding concern. The judge's action yesterday allowed the return of the forfeiture to the bonding company.

The judge then ordered the 3 charges continued and fixed new bonds for Risner — $300 on the sales contract case and $100 on each of the traffic violations — which means he must put up a total of $3,000 to regain his freedom.

The forgery charge was filed against Risner after his disappearance. Signed by Mrs. Frances Criswell, one of his customers, it alleges that he forged her name on a promissory note "with intent to defraud." The affidavit does not list the amount of the note.

The three charges filed originally against Risner will be heard after the forgery case is disposed of in Common Pleas Court, the judge indicated.

Judge Chertoff said Risner appeared in court yesterday partly "through the efforts of the bondsman," whose money was at stake. Risner gave no explanation of his disappearance, the judge said.

While Risner was taken to jail in lieu of the bonds, two other "holds" were placed against him by out-of-town authorities. He was served with a warrant by Capt. Robert H. Pyle alleging he issued a check with insufficient funds in Wyoming County, W. Va. Another "hold" order was received from authorities at Niles, who said he is wanted for non-payment of a fine assessed against him there on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

At the time of Risner's arrest, police said he and an employe sold sewing machines to several East Liverpool women on the promise that the price could be repaid by a "sew-at-home" arrangement. Later, the purchasers learned that the sellers then financed the purchases by turning over chattel mortgages to a bank and a loan company without the buyers' knowledge, police alleged.

Charges of failure to deliver a sales contract also are pending in Municipal Court against a second man in the same case. He is Elmer Ellsworth, 38, also of Youngstown, who identified himself as a salesman employed by Risner.

Godfrey's Discharged After Tumor Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey, operated upon Wednesday for removal of a fatty tumor on his right side, was discharged from the hospital today. The operation was described as minor.

Doctors said the tumor was non-malignant.

Godfrey was operated upon in April 1959 for removal of a lung cancer. The operation was pronounced a success and he returned to television and radio the following fall.

Will Seek Recount

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Frederick K. Randolph, an apparent 83-vote loser for judge of the Butler County Common Pleas Court, said Thursday he will seek a recount of ballots. A tabulation showed Randolph, a Republican, was beaten by Arthur L. Fiehrer, Democrat, for the judicial post from which Judge P. P. Boli will retire after this year.

Trucker Gets Fine In Crash

A West Virginia trucker was fined $25 and costs Thursday in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to charges filed by the State Highway Patrol as an aftermath of a car-truck collision Wednesday afternoon on Route 7 near Rogers in which an elderly woman was injured.

Ray Williams, 32, of Moundsville was accused of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his tractor-trailer hit the rear of a car driven by John C. Gibson, 43, of Rogers R. D. 1. A passenger in the car, Mrs. Lillian Gibson, 78, of Rogers R. D. 1, suffered a neck injury.

Meanwhile, the judge Thursday ordered a continuance until Monday at 10 a. m. in a hearing for Victor S. Dunn, 48, of 746 St. Clair Ave., charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless operation.

Dunn was arrested Nov. 4 after three witnesses told police his auto nearly hit an oncoming car on Harvey Ave. and then struck a parked auto. Dunn's hearing originally had been set for yesterday afternoon.

Richard Baker, 938 Lisbon St., scheduled to appear Thursday on a charge of operating a car with an illegal muffler, appeared Wednesday instead and entered a guilty plea. He was fined $15 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of the $6 costs.

Ex-Officer Kills Self

CINCINNATI (AP)—Keith Scott, 55, who retired only last Oct. 11 as assistant Cincinnati police chief, shot himself to death in his home Thursday night. Lt. Lloyd Simon said Mrs. Scott told him she found her husband slumped in his chair after hearing a shot while she was preparing dinner. A gun was lying alongside him. Scott retired because of ill health.

Woman Picks Up Automobile She Ordered In '50

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—It'll be 10 years late, but better late than never for California here I come, when Miss Ruth Sprague hits the road Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. Sprague, a registered nurse who is "past 65—past the retiring age," Thursday picked up the Dodge automobile she ordered here in 1950.

In February of 1950 she had decided to retire, buy a car and go to California.

She bought the car all right, paid $2,400 for it in 18 monthly payments, but didn't go through with her retirement plan.

The car was kept in good condition for her by garage mechanics who took it for a short spin every six months, putting eight miles on the speedometer over the years.

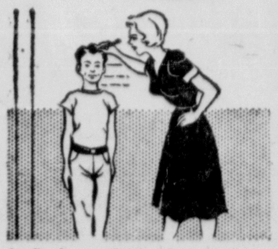
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

Tall Like Daddy
• D & C
• B. S.
• Hair Thinning



Q. Is it possible to predict how tall a child will be when he grows up?

A. It is possible to make an educated guess. If interested, request a "How Tall" card, directing your request to SCIENCE EDITORS, P. O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., New York 10, N. Y.

Q. I am 35, and have had two D and C's for blocked tubes, but no luck. Is there any chance of having children?

A. First, D and C (dilatation and curettage) is done for purposes other than to "unblock" the tubes. Infertility is often a very complex problem. Both the husband and wife should be examined and the cause of the difficulty pinpointed, if possible. Having discovered the cause, the doctor will employ whatever is called for by way of corrective treatment. Don't be discouraged if the doctor fails to solve the problem in a few visits. It may take time to determine the reason for the difficulty.

Q. Why is "bachelor" used in connection with college degrees?

A. It is probably derived from the word "baccalarius," a term applied to young English knights who fought under the banner of someone else, hence, knight bachelor. Pope Gregory IX (1227-41) first used the term to designate a person who had passed an academic examination but who was not yet a "master" or "doctor".

Q. What causes hair thinning in young women?

A. Hair thinning in younger women seems to occur more often now than formerly. A group of New York doctors investigated this problem but failed to come up with an answer. To quote the physicians, "There has been no specific approach, and indeed no satisfactory approach, to treatment of this condition."

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Jobless Took 191,000 Jump In October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment jumped by 191,000 in October although the idle rate normally declines in the fall. Employment dropped by 277,000.

When the figures were released at the Labor Department, a government spokesman acknowledged in response to questions that the report could have been announced before Tuesday's election.

Some Democratic partisans had contended the administration was holding up an unfavorable employment report for political reasons.

Seymour Wolfbein, the Labor Department's manpower chief, said that the over-all employment - unemployment data was available around the first of every month.

But he said it was the usual procedure to hold up the figures until supplemental date was available.

The October report showed that unemployment rose by 191,000, increasing from 3,388,000 in September to 3,579,000. The idle figure usually declines by around 200,000 in October.

This contra - seasonal climb in unemployment sent the seasonally adjusted employed rate from 5.7 per cent in September to 6.4 per cent in October. This is the highest such rate of the idle in proportion to the total work force since December, 1958.

Employment declined from 67,767,000 to 67,490,000. October usually brings a seasonal increase of about 400,000 jobs.

The number of long-term unemployed, those idle 15 weeks or longer, rose to nearly one million.

For many months, the figure on long-term unemployment has been at around 800,000.

Wolfbein, asked whether he thought the October job report looked "ominous," said he liked to shy away from such an expression, but considered the worsening job picture as "significant."

Wolfbein said that underlying the unemployment problem is some slackness in business activity and in failure of steel production to increase from its present rate of little more than 50 per cent of capacity.

The job report showed an increase in the factory work week in October from 39.5 to 39.6 hours. This was a somewhat favorable sign, halting a decline of recent months.

Salem High's basketball roster for the 1960-61 season reads like a college lineup.

For example, it lists the following: Bill Beery, 6-foot-2, of Greenford; "Hoss" Wahnhas, 6-foot-1, of Hopedale; Ron Janovec, 6-foot-1, of Greenford; Don Davidson, 6-foot-5, of Columbiana, and two other sophomores, one from Carrollton and one from California.

It's going to be tough for a local boy to crack the starting five.

Greenford High School, located in the adjoining school district has lost several outstanding athletes to Salem and we understand the feeling between the two schools isn't pleasant.

This year, a few weeks before the school term opened, Beery, who is a sophomore this season, and his family moved from Greenford into Salem, where they are residing with Mrs. Beery's mother.

Beery played at Greenford High last season, where he averaged 11 points a game for the varsity. He was called by his coach, Jerry Suess, "The best high school freshman basketball player I have ever seen."

Suess said Beery gave no indication at the end of the last school term that his family was planning to move, but in late August they pulled stakes for Salem.

Greenford Coach Does Slow Burn . . .

Greenford's head football coach, Harry Franklin, also has been stewing.

Janovec, Salem's outstanding fullback, left Greenford after his sophomore year and immediately was a hit on the Quaker football and basketball teams.

"With Janovec we would have gone undefeated this season," Franklin said.

Franklin is burned up and feels there are some underhanded tricks being pulled, but has not come up with the proper evidence to do anything about it.

In 1959, Davidson, who had been a standout at Columbiana, moved to Salem. Davidson has been a stellar performer on the basketball court as well as the gridiron, where he is being considered for all-state honors.

It was a big loss for Rich Berryman, Clipper basketball coach, and George Fisher, the gridiron mentor at Columbiana.

Wahnhas came to Salem from Hopedale when his father, an insurance man, was transferred there to become manager of a district office.

Not too much is known about the cagers from Carrollton and California.

Potts, Allen In Big Games . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL'S Jim Potts will be in the biggest game of his college career Saturday when Bowling Green meets powerful Ohio U.

It's the game of the year as far as small college competition goes. At stake is the Mid-American Conference championship and the small college crown.

Potts had a good day against Southern Illinois last weekend when he came up with an accurate passing exhibition, hitting on 7 of 9 for 102 yards.

—:—

BERNIE ALLEN is cast in a similar roll. The ex-Potter quarterback will attempt to engineer the Boilermakers to what would be the biggest upset in the nation over Minnesota Saturday.

Minnesota roared into the No. 1 spot among the nation's college powers after knocking off Iowa, which had clung to the top spot before the undefeated Gophers came along.

A victory by Purdue also would push Minnesota out of a possible bid to the Rose Bowl.

Allen winds up his college career Nov. 19 against Indiana in a game to be played at Purdue.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

SOME fine college basketball is expected Dec. 28-29 at the Canton Fieldhouse, which hosts its first annual collegiate invitational cage tournament.

Ohio University, Colgate University, Wittenberg and the University of South Dakota have been lined up to participate in the festival. The Junior League of Canton is sponsoring the tourney.

Ohio U. was the Mid - American Conference champ last season and is coached by Jim Snyder, a former Canton McKinley standout.

All seats will be reserved. Prices are $2 and $2.50 and may be ordered by sending checks or money orders to the Junior League Office, 1717 Market Ave., N. Canton 4, Ohio.

THIS IS our last big weekend to prove our worth as a football forcaster. So here we go!

The Wellsville-Leetonia battle shouldn't develop into a high scoring affair, but the Tigers rate a big edge. Wellsville 28, Leetonia 6.

A battle in Hancock County finds the Chester Panthers and New Cumberland Raiders completing their seasons. We like Chester in this one. Chester 26, New Cumberland 7.

Canton-Jackson may have a little too much for Coach Bud Bucher's Lisbon squad. We like Canton, 32-14.

In other contests around the district, Stanton Local 22, Springfield 8; Northwest 26, Beaver Local 14; East Palestine 32, Columbiana 14; Salem 13, Girard 6; and McDonald 28, Fairfield--Waterford 8.

Saturday at Canton, East Liverpool will have its hands full, but we will have to stick with the Potters again, as we have done most of the season. East Liverpool 28, Canton Central 14.

TOM BRYAN, former Potter three sports star, has been elected president of the junior class at Baldwin-Wallace College. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bryan of Ashland Place, Tom is majoring in physical education and plans to teach and coach after graduation.

—:—

TONIGHT'S Alliance-Niles game at Alliance has been a sellout for over a week. The Alliance stadium seats around 10,000.

—:—

LEON LOVE, the former Midland High gridder, now starring at the University of Cincinnati, has been selected to play with the Northern team in the annual Copper Bowl game at Pheonix, Ariz., Dec. 31.

—:—

S. S. COURTNEY, one of the originators of Little League baseball in Ohio, died this week in Canton. He was the Little League representative for District 4 which includes East Liverpool. Lawrence Zollinger of East Liverpool succeeded him as the district representative three years ago when Mr. Courtney retired because of ill health. He was 61.

Wellsville Eyes 7th Win At Leetonia; Panthers To Oppose New Cumberland

The curtain begins its descent tonight on district gridirons as high school football teams line up for their final bow.

After tonight only three more games remain on the local scene. East Liverpool plays at Canton Central tomorrow night and meets Alliance on Nov. 18. Columbiana will close Nov. 18 with Louisville.

The Wellsville Tigers will write an end to their finest season since the late '40's tonight at Leetonia. Coach Ken Woods' team takes a 6-2-1 record into the game and is favored to notch its seventh win. The kickoff is set for 7:45.

Leetonia is a decided underdog. The Bears show only one victory in eight starts, but do boast a good defensive unit led by All-Ohio candidate Joe Senevich, an outstanding linebacker.

Ten seniors will wear the Orange and Black of Wellsville for the last time. They are Phil Baldwin, Jack Betteridge, Dick Brown, Ralph Culp, Jay Hamilton, Bill Hickman, Bob Kiggans, Will Mobley, Doug Thomas and Bill Long.

In a surprise last season, Leetonia and Wellsville battled to an 8-8 deadlock.

The Chester Panthers will rate a slight edge when they perform for the last time this season at City Park. Kickoff time is 7:30.

Chester's record is 3-5 and Coach John Kuzio's Raiders' 3-6.

Coach Dom Amedeo of Chester has eight seniors on his squad. The list includes Gary Pugh, Charles Pugh, Jim Eberhart, Bill Mackall, John Bickerstaff, Joe Price, Bill Harper and Jim Rhodes.

Parents of members of the Chester High School football team will be guests at tonight's game with New Cumberland at the Chester field.

The parents will sit in a reserved seat section and will wear identification tags. Invitations to parents were mailed this week by the Pep Club, Joyce Wilson, president, said.

Beaver Local, completing the most successful season in the young school's history, invades the Canton area tonight, meeting Northwest High School. Northwest is located near Canal Fulton.

Beaver Local under Coach Jack O'Rourke has captured seven games in nine starts, having lost the last two after compiling seven straight.

If Salem loses to Girard tonight and Beaver Local wins, the Beavers would have an outside chance of finishing in a tie for top honors in the district. Salem enters tonight's game with a 8-1 mark.

Eleven Beaver Local gridders will perform for the last time. They are Paul Bontempt, Bob Possage, Gary Williams, Francis Campbell, Ron Westover, Jim Hall, Wayne Hickman, Dale Beagle, Ron McLaughlin, Bill Reed and Bill Williams.

East Palestine and Poland continue their dogfight in the Tri-County League. They are tied with records of 5-0-1. Tonight Coach Howard Weyers takes his Palestine eleven to Columbiana. The Clippers have lost only two games in league competition.

Salem attempts to get back on the right track after East Liverpool spoiled its undefeated season last Friday night. The Quakers wind up at Girard.

Stanton Local carries a 5-4 record into tonight's game at Springfield.

Lisbon, one of the hottest team's in the area during the last month, takes on a strong Canton-Jackson team at Canton.

It will be the final game for Coach Bud Bucher at Lisbon. The highly-successful mentor resigned earlier this season, effective after the final game.

The Blue Devils have won their last four games and a victory tonight would leave them at .500 for the season.

In 15 seasons at Lisbon, Bucher's teams have won 103, lost 26 and tied 5.

Fairfield-Waterford will have its hands full tonight trying to keep its head above the .500 mark. The Rebels take a 4-4 record to McDonald.

Wellsville-Leetonia Kickoff Set For 7:45

Wellsville fans are reminded that tonight's game at Leetonia begins at 7:45. Tickets will be sold at the gate. Adult tickets are $1 and students 50 cents.

Here's District Grid Schedule This Week

Tonight

Wellsville at Leetonia
New Cumberland at Chester
Lisbon at Canton-Jackson
Stanton Local at Springfield
Beaver Local at Northwest
East Palestine at Columbiana
Salem at Girard
Fairfield-Waterford at McDonald

It's No To Tiger Offer, Casey Looks To Others

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Is Casey Stengel through with baseball after 50 years in the game as a player and manager?

Fired by the New York Yankees after the World Series, Stengel has had several lucrative offers in and out of baseball, and Thursday he turned down the Detroit Tigers, who wanted to give him a free hand.

"I don't have any idea at this time what I want to do," said the grizzled Casey. "I love this game of baseball, but I've had so many outside offers to think over that I can't decide. Everybody is asking me when I'll make up my mind. I just don't know."

John Fetzer, president of the Detroit club, said that Stengel told him that "in fairness to Detroit he wanted us to proceed with our efforts to select a manager."

Fetzer said that Detroit's list of eligibles had been narrowed to eight and that the choice will be announced before the American League meeting Nov. 17.

Fetzer declined to name the candidates who have been screened by his aide, Rick Ferrell, but he admitted that Bill Rigney is one of the men.

Fetzer said he is convinced that if Stengel planned to remain in baseball as a manager he would have accepted the Detroit offer.

What is Casey waiting for? Los Angeles will be looking for a manager as soon as its American League franchise is granted next week. But the Los Angeles club will have to take players from the nonexempt lists of eight other AL teams, and a winning team may be years away in a city that had a world champion in 1959 and a contender in 1960—the Dodgers.

Stengel has indicated he isn't interested in a building project of that kind.

Panthers Get Use To 'Tough Ones'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Saturday's game with Army won't be any different than usual for the Pitt Panthers.

"This is just another tough game," Coach Johnny Michelosen said Thursday. "We've had eight tough ones in a row. "We're getting used to it."

Pitt, with a 4-2-2 record, is favored to defeat the Cadets who bring a 6-2 mark here.

"Army is a strong, hard-hitting team," Michelosen said. "It does not appear as physically big as it is because of the strict conditioning at West Point. The weight of the Army players is deceiving as far as strength goes."

Khayat Boys On Opposite Sides Sunday

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— When the Philadelphia Eagles, leaders of the National Football League's Eastern Conference, meet the Washington Redskins here Sunday brother will be pitted against brother.

Ed Khayat, defensive tackle of the Eagles who Coach Buck Shaw considers one of the most improved lineman, will be out to block any possible field goal or point-after-touchdown placements his brother, Bob might attempt.

Ed, 25, broke in with the Redskins after playing college ball at Tulane. He is in his third season with the Eagles, who are bidding for an NFL title.

Bob, 22, led the nation in placekicking for two seasons while at Mississippi. He kicked field goals this year which earned the Redskins ties with the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers. Against Dallas he booted four field goals.

The brothers opposed each other for the first time this year in an exhibition game at Norfolk last August. Bob kicked two field goals.

Dad Khayat, a Moss Point, Miss., bank official, is coming up for the game.

"We told Dad he had to sit in the end zone for this one," said Ed. "We've been teasing him for some time that he favors one of us over the other."

Horvath Scores 3 TDS In Youngstown U. Win

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Sophomore Frank Horvah scored touchdowns on runs of 39, 79 and 54 yards in leading Youngstown University a 55-35 football victory over Gustavus Adolphus Thursday night.

Quarterback Paul Thompson threw four touchdown passes and two more for extra points to lead the visitors' attack.

Youngstown quarterback Harold Green returned a punt 90 yards for the longest touchdown play of the game.

The victory was the fifth in seven starts for the Penguins, who end their season against Akron University here next Thursday night.

Local Club Sets Trial

The annual fall field trial of the East Liverpool Beagle Club will be held Saturday and Sunday at the club grounds on the Y. & O. Rd. The event will begin at 8 a. m. each day. Trophies will be awarded the winning beagles. Don Hull is club president.

Purdue Could Put Big 10 In Muddle

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can Minnesota keep its ranking as the nation's No. 1 team and gain a share of the Big Ten title? Will Washington wind up defending its Rose Bowl and Big Five crown?

These, and a few more important questions regarding conference titles and the like, are going to be answered before the weekend is over as the 1960 college football season hits the crucial stretch-run stage.

The Golden Gophers, atop the football world for the first time in two decades, play Purdue Saturday and a victory will give them at least a tie in the Big Ten race. Minnesota (7-0), top ranked in The Associated Press weekly poll, needs only to beat Wisconsin next Saturday to be king.

Washington, 7-1 and ranked sixth, must beat California (1-6-1) for the Big Five title and a ticket to the Rose Bowl.

Yale (7-0) plays Princeton for what will probably be the Ivy title. Both are 5-0 in league play and are favored in season windups next week against league foes.

Tonight, Virginia Tech, still in the running for the Southern Conference title, plays George Washington. Wichita is at Drake and Richmond at Furman in other games tonight.

Missouri, second ranked with an 8-0 mark, and 5-0 atop the Big Eight, plays Oklahoma (2-4-1), whom it hasn't beaten since 1945.

Third-ranked Ohio State (6-1) and Iowa (No. 5), which is 6-1 play to see who will have a chance to snatch the Big Ten title should Minnesota falter.

Duke, ranked seventh with a 6-1 mark after upsetting previously unbeaten Navy last week, can clinch a tie for the Atlantic Coast Conference title with a victory over Wake Forest (2-5). Second place North Carolina State, 4-1, in ACC play compared to Duke's 4-0, is out of the conference against Arizona State.

The Middies (7-1), ranked eighth play winless (0-6) Virginia. Arkansas (No. 9) must beat winless Southern Methodist (0-6-1) to stay atop the Southwest Conference.

Dodgers, New AL Club Get Okay For Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Both the Los Angeles Dodgers and the new American League team here have received approval of baseball dates in Memorial Coliseum for 1961.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said, after the Coliseum Commission meeting, that he believes the American League team may make the Coliseum its permanent home.

The Dodgers hope to be in their Chavez Ravine ballpark in 1962.

Ohio State Rates 1-Point Edge Over Iowa In Crucial Big 10 Contest Saturday

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Both teams will have an eye cocked to the north when Iowa matches its speed against Ohio State's power Saturday in a nationally televised football game.

Both have lost only once this season and the winner could share the Big Ten title if Purdue beats undefeated Minnesota at Minneapolis, or the Gophers lost next week to Wisconsin.

Ohio State, third-rated team in the latest Associated Press football poll, has been installed as a one-point favorite over the Hawkeyes, the nation's fifth - ranked team.

Iowa coach Forest Evashevski says the Buckeyes could win by a much bigger margin than Minnesota did last week "if our defense doesn't hold up against the biggest line we have met this season. If it doesn't, we'll get blown right out of the stadium."

Evashevski is slated to quit coaching after the season to concentrate on his chores as athletic director.

Evy's bid for his first undefeated season was spoiled by Minnesota 27-10 last week but he says "we'll be up for the Buckeyes and show we can come back after that disappointing loss."

Iowa has spent the week building defenses to contain the charges of Ohio State's powerful runners, quarterback Tom Matte and fullback Bob Ferguson.

Ferguson is the leading Big Ten rusher and Matte is second. Quarterback Wilburn Hollis, key to the Iowa attack, is third.

Hollis was stopped by Minnesota last week, however, and Evashevski says Iowa may try to whip Ohio with passes.

"We are not moving the ball on the ground as well as I would like and some of the trouble is the fact that our passing game has not helped," Evy says.

Ohio State also has relied on its running attack in building a 7-1 record. But Matte has completed 21 of 35 passes for the best aerial mark in the Big Ten.

The game is expected to attract 59,300. It has been a sellout for two weeks.

Race For All-American Backfield Is Wide Open

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for honors in the 1960 All-America backfield is wide open.

Although there are plenty of sound, capable candidates, as of now, there are no real standouts.

What happens over the next three Saturdays will go far in determining the men AP's eight regional boards, each representing an NCAA district, will recommend for the first team.

Here are some of the more prominent candidates:

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi quarterback; Tom Matte, quarterback, and Bob Ferguson, fullback, both of Ohio State; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback; Bill Kilmer, UCLA tailback; Joe Bellino, Navy halfback; Ronnie Bull, Baylor halfback, and Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State halfback.

Final determination of the all-America team will not be made until after the games of Nov. 26.

Among other backs who are coming in for close attention are:

Greer Marechal, 72, Patent Attorney, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Greer Marechal, 72, a patent attorney, died Thursday night following surgery after a long illness. He worked just after World War I as a patent lawyer for the late Charles F. Kettering at Dayton, Ohio. Kettering organized a number of concerns, including the Delco, Ethyl Gas and Frigidaire companies.

Marechal founded a law firm in Dayton and also maintained New York offices.

Coach Dom Amedeo of Chester has eight seniors on his squad. The list includes Gary Pugh, Charles Pugh, Jim Eberhart, Bill Mackall, John Bickerstaff, Joe Price, Bill Harper and Jim Rhodes.

Parents of members of the Chester High School football team will be guests at tonight's game with New Cumberland at the Chester field.

The parents will sit in a reserved seat section and will wear identification tags. Invitations to parents were mailed this week by the Pep Club, Joyce Wilson, president, said.

Beaver Local, completing the most successful season in the young school's history, invades the Canton area tonight, meeting Northwest High School. Northwest is located near Canal Fulton.

Beaver Local under Coach Jack O'Rourke has captured seven games in nine starts, having lost the last two after compiling seven straight.

If Salem loses to Girard tonight and Beaver Local wins, the Beavers would have an outside chance of finishing in a tie for top honors in the district. Salem enters tonight's game with a 8-1 mark.

Eleven Beaver Local gridders will perform for the last time. They are Paul Bontempt, Bob Possage, Gary Williams, Francis Campbell, Ron Westover, Jim Hall, Wayne Hickman, Dale Beagle, Ron McLaughlin, Bill Reed and Bill Williams.

East Palestine and Poland continue their dogfight in the Tri-County League. They are tied with records of 5-0-1. Tonight Coach Howard Weyers takes his Palestine eleven to Columbiana. The Clippers have lost only two games in league competition.

Salem attempts to get back on the right track after East Liverpool spoiled its undefeated season last Friday night. The Quakers wind up at Girard.

Stanton Local carries a 5-4 record into tonight's game at Springfield.

Lisbon, one of the hottest team's in the area during the last month, takes on a strong Canton-Jackson team at Canton.

It will be the final game for Coach Bud Bucher at Lisbon. The highly-successful mentor resigned earlier this season, effective after the final game.

The Blue Devils have won their last four games and a victory tonight would leave them at .500 for the season.

In 15 seasons at Lisbon, Bucher's teams have won 103, lost 26 and tied 5.

Fairfield-Waterford will have its hands full tonight trying to keep its head above the .500 mark. The Rebels take a 4-4 record to McDonald.

Wellsville-Leetonia Kickoff Set For 7:45

Wellsville fans are reminded that tonight's game at Leetonia begins at 7:45. Tickets will be sold at the gate. Adult tickets are $1 and students 50 cents.

Here's District Grid Schedule This Week

Tonight

Wellsville at Leetonia
New Cumberland at Chester
Lisbon at Canton-Jackson
Stanton Local at Springfield
Beaver Local at Northwest
East Palestine at Columbiana
Salem at Girard
Fairfield-Waterford at McDonald

It's No To Tiger Offer, Casey Looks To Others

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Is Casey Stengel through with baseball after 50 years in the game as a player and manager?

Fired by the New York Yankees after the World Series, Stengel has had several lucrative offers in and out of baseball, and Thursday he turned down the Detroit Tigers, who wanted to give him a free hand.

"I don't have any idea at this time what I want to do," said the grizzled Casey. "I love this game of baseball, but I've had so many outside offers to think over that I can't decide. Everybody is asking me when I'll make up my mind. I just don't know."

John Fetzer, president of the Detroit club, said that Stengel told him that "in fairness to Detroit he wanted us to proceed with our efforts to select a manager."

Fetzer said that Detroit's list of eligibles had been narrowed to eight and that the choice will be announced before the American League meeting Nov. 17.

Fetzer declined to name the candidates who have been screened by his aide, Rick Ferrell, but he admitted that Bill Rigney is one of the men.

Fetzer said he is convinced that if Stengel planned to remain in baseball as a manager he would have accepted the Detroit offer.

What is Casey waiting for? Los Angeles will be looking for a manager as soon as its American League franchise is granted next week. But the Los Angeles club will have to take players from the nonexempt lists of eight other AL teams, and a winning team may be years away in a city that had a world champion in 1959 and a contender in 1960—the Dodgers.

Stengel has indicated he isn't interested in a building project of that kind.

Panthers Get Use To 'Tough Ones'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Saturday's game with Army won't be any different than usual for the Pitt Panthers.

"This is just another tough game," Coach Johnny Michelosen said Thursday. "We've had eight tough ones in a row. "We're getting used to it."

Pitt, with a 4-2-2 record, is favored to defeat the Cadets who bring a 6-2 mark here.

"Army is a strong, hard-hitting team," Michelosen said. "It does not appear as physically big as it is because of the strict conditioning at West Point. The weight of the Army players is deceiving as far as strength goes."

Khayat Boys On Opposite Sides Sunday

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— When the Philadelphia Eagles, leaders of the National Football League's Eastern Conference, meet the Washington Redskins here Sunday brother will be pitted against brother.

Ed Khayat, defensive tackle of the Eagles who Coach Buck Shaw considers one of the most improved lineman, will be out to block any possible field goal or point-after-touchdown placements his brother, Bob might attempt.

Ed, 25, broke in with the Redskins after playing college ball at Tulane. He is in his third season with the Eagles, who are bidding for an NFL title.

Bob, 22, led the nation in placekicking for two seasons while at Mississippi. He kicked field goals this year which earned the Redskins ties with the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers. Against Dallas he booted four field goals.

The brothers opposed each other for the first time this year in an exhibition game at Norfolk last August. Bob kicked two field goals.

Dad Khayat, a Moss Point, Miss., bank official, is coming up for the game.

"We told Dad he had to sit in the end zone for this one," said Ed. "We've been teasing him for some time that he favors one of us over the other."

Horvath Scores 3 TDS In Youngstown U. Win

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Sophomore Frank Horvah scored touchdowns on runs of 39, 79 and 54 yards in leading Youngstown University a 55-35 football victory over Gustavus Adolphus Thursday night.

Quarterback Paul Thompson threw four touchdown passes and two more for extra points to lead the visitors' attack.

Youngstown quarterback Harold Green returned a punt 90 yards for the longest touchdown play of the game.

The victory was the fifth in seven starts for the Penguins, who end their season against Akron University here next Thursday night.

Local Club Sets Trial

The annual fall field trial of the East Liverpool Beagle Club will be held Saturday and Sunday at the club grounds on the Y. & O. Rd. The event will begin at 8 a. m. each day. Trophies will be awarded the winning beagles. Don Hull is club president.

Purdue Could Put Big 10 In Muddle

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can Minnesota keep its ranking as the nation's No. 1 team and gain a share of the Big Ten title? Will Washington wind up defending its Rose Bowl and Big Five crown?

These, and a few more important questions regarding conference titles and the like, are going to be answered before the weekend is over as the 1960 college football season hits the crucial stretch-run stage.

The Golden Gophers, atop the football world for the first time in two decades, play Purdue Saturday and a victory will give them at least a tie in the Big Ten race. Minnesota (7-0), top ranked in The Associated Press weekly poll, needs only to beat Wisconsin next Saturday to be king.

Washington, 7-1 and ranked sixth, must beat California (1-6-1) for the Big Five title and a ticket to the Rose Bowl.

Yale (7-0) plays Princeton for what will probably be the Ivy title. Both are 5-0 in league play and are favored in season windups next week against league foes.

Tonight, Virginia Tech, still in the running for the Southern Conference title, plays George Washington. Wichita is at Drake and Richmond at Furman in other games tonight.

Missouri, second ranked with an 8-0 mark, and 5-0 atop the Big Eight, plays Oklahoma (2-4-1), whom it hasn't beaten since 1945.

Third-ranked Ohio State (6-1) and Iowa (No. 5), which is 6-1 play to see who will have a chance to snatch the Big Ten title should Minnesota falter.

Duke, ranked seventh with a 6-1 mark after upsetting previously unbeaten Navy last week, can clinch a tie for the Atlantic Coast Conference title with a victory over Wake Forest (2-5). Second place North Carolina State, 4-1, in ACC play compared to Duke's 4-0, is out of the conference against Arizona State.

The Middies (7-1), ranked eighth play winless (0-6) Virginia. Arkansas (No. 9) must beat winless Southern Methodist (0-6-1) to stay atop the Southwest Conference.

Dodgers, New AL Club Get Okay For Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Both the Los Angeles Dodgers and the new American League team here have received approval of baseball dates in Memorial Coliseum for 1961.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said, after the Coliseum Commission meeting, that he believes the American League team may make the Coliseum its permanent home.

The Dodgers hope to be in their Chavez Ravine ballpark in 1962.

Ohio State Rates 1-Point Edge Over Iowa In Crucial Big 10 Contest Saturday

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Both teams will have an eye cocked to the north when Iowa matches its speed against Ohio State's power Saturday in a nationally televised football game.

Both have lost only once this season and the winner could share the Big Ten title if Purdue beats undefeated Minnesota at Minneapolis, or the Gophers lost next week to Wisconsin.

Ohio State, third-rated team in the latest Associated Press football poll, has been installed as a one-point favorite over the Hawkeyes, the nation's fifth - ranked team.

Iowa coach Forest Evashevski says the Buckeyes could win by a much bigger margin than Minnesota did last week "if our defense doesn't hold up against the biggest line we have met this season. If it doesn't, we'll get blown right out of the stadium."

However, the Hawkeyes reportedly will dedicate their efforts to Evashevski, making his last home appearance as coach after building a national power at Iowa in the last nine years.

Evashevshi is slated to quit coaching after the season to concentrate on his chores as athletic director.

Evy's bid for his first undefeated season was spoiled by Minnesota 27-10 last week but he says "we'll be up for the Buckeyes and show we can come back after that disappointing loss."

Iowa has spent the week building defenses to contain the charges of Ohio State's powerful runners, quarterback Tom Matte and fullback Bob Ferguson.

Ferguson is the leading Big Ten rusher and Matte is second. Quarterback Wilburn Hollis, key to the Iowa attack, is third.

Hollis was stopped by Minnesota last week, however, and Evashevski says Iowa may try to whip Ohio with passes.

"We are not moving the ball on the ground as well as I would like and some of the trouble is the fact that our passing game has not helped," Evy says.

Ohio State also has relied on its running attack in building a 7-1 record. But Matte has completed 21 of 35 passes for the best aerial mark in the Big Ten.

The game is expected to attract 59,300. It has been a sellout for two weeks.

Race For All-American Backfield Is Wide Open

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for honors in the 1960 All-America backfield is wide open.

Although there are plenty of sound, capable candidates, as of now, there are no real standouts.

What happens over the next three Saturdays will go far in determining the men AP's eight regional boards, each representing an NCAA district, will recommend for the first team.

Here are some of the more prominent candidates:

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi quarterback; Tom Matte, quarterback, and Bob Ferguson, fullback, both of Ohio State; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback; Bill Kilmer, UCLA tailback; Joe Bellino, Navy halfback; Ronnie Bull, Baylor halfback, and Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State halfback.

Final determination of the all-America team will not be made until after the games of Nov. 26.

Among other backs who are coming in for close attention are:

Greer Marechal, 72, Patent Attorney, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Greer Marechal, 72, a patent attorney, died Thursday night following surgery after a long illness. He worked just after World War I as a patent lawyer for the late Charles F. Kettering at Dayton, Ohio. Kettering organized a number of concerns, including the Delco, Ethyl Gas and Frigidaire companies.

Marechal founded a law firm in Dayton and also maintained New York offices.

OSU Set To Begin Where It Left Off In Basketball

Buckeyes Have Material To Go All The Way Again

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State, which turned this town's football-fanatic fans into a legion of basketball believers, seems destined to rank among the nation's best teams again this year.

The NCAA-champion Buckeyes uncanny shooting, good speed and rugged rebounding into a national title last season.

And there are reasons to believe they have the ingredients to go all the way again.

Even youthful Coach Fred Taylor, who takes a conservative approach on these things, chuckles when he says "that was a heck of a good club we had last year."

Most believers who saw the Bucks demolish mighty California in the NCAA finale last March prefer to use the term "great."

But Taylor has a word of caution for Buckeye boosters who already are looking at the 1960-61 cage picture through rose-colored glasses:

"We won't be as good as last year."

"From a physical standpoint, we can't be as good as last year. We lack the size and the bench strength. Another thing—just how good are some of the other teams going to be?"

Graduation has taken some key personnel, including 6-foot-6 Joe Roberts, a tremendous competitor on last year's first unit; Dick Furry, his 6-7 replacement, and Howard Nourse, another 6-7 performer.

"Why Roberts and Furry alone grabbed 300 rebounds for us last year," Taylor said dejectedly.

The Buckeye mentor, however, takes on an air of optimism when he talks about what Ohio State has coming back.

There are four returning starters, headed by All-America Jerry Lucas, the former high school phenom from Middletown.

The 6-8 Lucas, who could very well be the best college player in the country, averaged 26.3 points on just a shade over 16 shots a game and picked off a gaudy 442 rebounds in 27 contests.

Lucas, as brilliant in the classroom as he is on the basketball floor, displayed his talents on an international basis with his stellar play last summer in the Olympic games.

"We're counting on Luke to be better this year, particularly on defense," Taylor said confidently.

The Ohio coach is quick to add he expects improvement from three other starters — 6-5 John Havlicek, a strong rebounder; 6-2 Mel Nowell, a set-shooter extraordinary and 6-4 Larrk Siegfried, the Bucks' vigorous floor general. Lucas, Havlicek and Nowell are juniors and Siegfried is a senior.

Roberts' corner spot probably will go to Richie Hoyt, a senior, or junior Bob Knight, both 6-4. A Fostoria soph, 6-4 Doug McDonald is making a strong bid to crash the starting lineup at a forward position.

Taylor said Gary Gearhart, a junior, and newcomer Richard Reasbeck of Bellaire St. John, give state solid backcourt reserve strength.

As champions, Ohio can expect the "extra effort" from every one of its opponents on a 24-game schedule.

"We'll take them one at a time, but it's going to be tough matching our 25-3 record of last year," Taylor said.

"Sure we want to win another national championship. But right now our goal is the Big Ten title."

Lucas, Havlicek, Nowell, Siegfried Back This Year

Here's The Tentative Roster For 1960-61

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The tentative roster — player, hometown and class — of Ohio State's 1960-61 basketball team:

Gola, Arizin Spark Philly

NEW YORK (AP) —The other National Basketball Association clubs are finding out to their sorrow that the Philadelphia Warriors aren't a one-man team this season.

The New York Knickerbockers discovered Thursday night that the current Eastern Division leaders are composed of more than Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. The red-hot Warriors rolled up their eighth straight victory, outlasting the Knicks 116-112 in overtime with Tom Gola and Paul Arizin stealing the spotlight from Chamberlain.

Gola, playing the entire 53 minutes, supplied the impetus in the extra period. He scored seven of Philadelphia's 12 points — including the basket that put the Warriors ahead at the outset of the overtime session.

Arizin was high scorer with 33 points.

2 Minervans Fined

LISBON — Two Minerva residents were fined a total of $20 and costs Thursday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for traffic violations. Donald Bush, 38, was fined $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line and Ralph E. Scott, 18, $10 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Cancer Society Told Research Nears Cure

A breakthrough in cures for cancer may be close at hand, Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, pathologist, reported at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County unit of the American Cancer Society Thursday night at Lisbon.

Dr. Kolozsi said he feels research is nearing a solution and it probably will be in leukemia. Slides of different cancer growth were screened, followed by a question-and-answer session.

Mrs. Gertrude Reese, county coordinator, reported on the society's prevention study.

Mrs. Edna Jones of East Liverpool, president, was in charge. Dr. Marvin Kinsey of East Liverpool will speak at the next meeting Jan. 12 on oral cancer.

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP) — Three-year-old Susan Maris will have company when she has her tonsils removed next month.

Going through the same ordeal will be her daddy, Roger Maris, New York Yankee outfielder who earlier this week was named the most valuable player in the American League for 1960.

Maris has been troubled by a sore throat for the last several months and Thursday his physician recommended surgery.

Browns Show Six Straight Over St. Louis

CLEVELAND (AP)—The law of averages will be working against the Cleveland Browns when they meet the St. Louis Cardinals here Sunday afternoon.

The Browns have beaten the Cardinals six straight times and have dropped only two of the 20 games between the teams.

Both defeats were in 1956 when Cleveland had its lone losing campaign. The Cardinals were in Chicago then, but appear to be a different ball club since moving to St. Louis.

The Cards lost three of their first four games this season but then started to click and have won their last three. They have split even in two games with the New York Giants, who beat the Browns for the sixth straight time before a record crowd here last Sunday.

St. Louis last Sunday registered a 44-7 victory over the Washington Redskins, a team the Browns beat 31-10.

Coach Mike Nixon of the Redskins expressed the opinion that it was his team's poor performance rather than any tremendous showing by Cleveland that led to the loss to the Browns, but that wasn't his feeling in his post mortem on the Cardinals' victory.

He called Card halfback John Crow "the best back in the league, bar none."

Crow ranks second in the National Football League in rushing, having gained 524 yards in 107 carries for an average of 4.9 yards. Fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland is third with 521 yards in 95 attempts and a 5.5 - yard average.

Small College Title At Stake

Sellout Crowd To Watch OU-Bowling Green Battle

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The biggest battles of the campaign are on this weekend on Ohio's collegiate gridirons, with championship hopes riding on the results of several of the set-tos.

Sixteen of the state's 35 collegiate teams put their uniforms away after the weekend contests, only 13 games remaining on the slate.

Ohio State invades Iowa for a real big one. The Bucks, No. 3 in the nation, and the fourth-rated Hawkeyes need a victory to stay in the top echelon and close enough to pace-setting Minnesota to get into the Big Ten title picture should the Gophers bow to Purdue or Wisconsin in the last two tilts.

That one at Iowa City will be viewed by a nationwide television audience, and performances could have a lot to do with All-America nominations.

On the home front are three standout clashes. The eye-catching one is at Bowling Green where the Mid - American Conference champion Falcons will entertain (?) Ohio University's Bobcats.

The Athens powerhouse is No. 1 among the country's smaller colleges with an 8-0 record and a 207-21 scoring edge. The No. 4 Falcons are 7-0 with 168-47 in scoring. A crowd of 12,660 is assured, and no more tickets will be sold.

Bowling Green is riding an 18-game winning streak, and the favored Bobcats will be trying for their first verdict over the Bee-Gees since 1954.

The Ohio Conference also comes in for a share of the spotlight. Wooster, co-champion a year ago, carries a 5-2 record against unbeaten Muskingum's seven-game winners, and Ohio Wesleyan (6-1) goes against Wittenberg (7-1).

Muskingum and Wesleyan are deadlocked for the conference lead at 5-0, Wittenberg is 4-1 and Wooster 4-2, and victories for the latter pair could toss the standings into a turmoil.

Western Reserve, pace-setter in the Presidents' Conference with 5-0, has the title sewed up. The Red Cats could retain the crown even if they lose to neighboring Case in the circuit's final game. The Scientists, after beating John Carroll in the league opener, have dropped four in a row.

Dayton and Miami, each trying to salvage something from unsatisfactory seasons, meet at Oxford; Cincinnati hopes to break its losing streak by visiting Marquette; Xavier invades Kentucky, which appears a bit out of the Musketeer class, and Toledo is host to Bradley in a night game.

Other Saturday clashes have Kenyon at Hiram, Heidelberg at Akron, Otterbein at Capital, Denison at Oberlin, all in the Ohio Conference; Ohio Northern at Waynesburg, Findlay at Baldwin-Wallace, Wilmington at Earlham, Hobart at John Carroll, Kent State at Louisville, Defiance at Anderson, Central State at St. Joseph's, Grand Rapids at Bluffton, and Ashland at Mount Union (night).

The Ohioans must win one of the 11 interstate games to match last season's record of 54 conquests over outsiders. For the campaign the Buckeyes have a 53-31-2 interstate record. Last year it was 54-47-0.

Scholarship Given Lisbon High Gridder

JIM TANNER

Jim Tanner, former Lisbon High grid star, received the first annual Baglier Award at Youngstown University, Dr. Joseph Smith, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced today.

The Baglier Award is a $500 tuition grant and will be given annually by John Baglier of the Baglier Ford Co. to the freshman football player at Youngstown University that has achieved excellance in athletic competition, scholastic aptitude and leadership.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tanner, 238 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon.

Tanner is studying engineering. He was an All-County center and linebacker at Lisbon and is now the number one center on the Youngstown freshman team.

Bituminous coal mining in the United States is more than 90 per cent mechanized.

Whitworth Star Leads In Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny Spurlock of Whitworth (Wash.) College has increased his lead in total offense while moving into first place in pass completions in small college football.

Statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau today showed Spurlock's total yardage gained at 1,670. He leads runner-up charley Miller of Austin by 191 yards. Miller, however, has two games remaining to play compared with one for the Whitworth quarterback.

In completing 29 of 57 aerials last week, Spurlock lifted his total completions to 116.

Ron Puhl of Lock Haven wrested the rushing lead from Joe Iacone of West Chester, who was idle last week. Puhl has gained 1,052 yards in 164 attempts. Iacone has 1,046 yards in 157 carries.

In the team figures, Florida A&M retained its scoring lead with a 67.3 points a game average. Florida A&M also is the total offense leader with a 473.3-yard average.

Tulane's Star Missing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane basketball coach Cliff Wells wasn't too happy with early practice. Missing was Jack Ardon, 6-foot-9 pivotman who was sidelined with a back injury.

110 At Dinner For Chester Jr. High Team

About 110 attended the annual father-son Chester Junior High School football banquet Thursday night at the American Legion home at which 22 boys received grid letters and eight cheerleaders were given awards.

The Rev. William Claghorn of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church was speaker for the banquet sponsored by the Colt Football Mothers.

The minister said three essentials of a good team are character, self-control and cooperation, emphasizing all must be underlain by Christian principles.

S. L. Miller, elementary teacher, presented gifts from the Colt Mothers to Mrs. Robert Hindes, president of the mothers group, and to Rev. Claghorn, Tuttle, Miss Buben and Bob Blake, Colt football coach.

Rick Hindes, Kenny Louk, Pete Pittenger, Billy Miller, George Selman, Jim Williams, Bruce Wolfe, Bill Wright, Jess Mayles, Neil Conkle and Larry Forsyth.

Cheerleader letters went to Gretchen Smith, Mary Margaret Anderson, Sherry Flowers, Jackie Treleven, Jackie Jackson, Karen Conklin, Martha Hobbs and Marlene Mullins.

Tommy Paisley and Bill Marino, managers, were introduced. Dancing followed.

OSU Set To Begin Where It Left Off In Basketball

Buckeyes Have Material To Go All The Way Again

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State, which turned this town's football-fanatic fans into a legion of basketball believers, seems destined to rank among the nation's best teams again this year.

The NCAA-champion Buckeyes uncanny shooting, good speed and rugged rebounding into a national title last season.

And there are reasons to believe they have the ingredients to go all the way again.

Even youthful Coach Fred Taylor, who takes a conservative approach on these things, chuckles when he says "that was a heck of a good club we had last year."

Most believers who saw the Bucks demolish mighty California in the NCAA finale last March prefer to use the term "great."

But Taylor has a word of caution for Buckeye boosters who already are looking at the 1960-61 cage picture through rose-colored glasses:

"We won't be as good as last year."

"From a physical standpoint, we can't be as good as last year. We lack the size and the bench strength. Another thing—just how good are some of the other teams going to be?"

Graduation has taken some key personnel, including 6-foot-6 Joe Roberts, a tremendous competitor on last year's first unit; Dick Furry, his 6-7 replacement, and Howard Nourse, another 6-7 performer.

"Why Roberts and Furry alone grabbed 300 rebounds for us last year," Taylor said dejectedly.

The Buckeye mentor, however, takes on an air of optimism when he talks about what Ohio State has coming back.

There are four returning starters, headed by All-America Jerry Lucas, the former high school phenom from Middletown.

The 6-8 Lucas, who could very well be the best college player in the country, averaged 26.3 points on just a shade over 16 shots a game and picked off a gaudy 442 rebounds in 27 contests.

Lucas, as brilliant in the classroom as he is on the basketball floor, displayed his talents on an international basis with his stellar play last summer in the Olympic games.

"We're counting on Luke to be better this year, particularly on defense," Taylor said confidently.

The Ohio coach is quick to add he expects improvement from three other starters — 6-5 John Havlicek, a strong rebounder; 6-2 Mel Nowell, a set-shooter extraordinary and 6-4 Larrk Siegfried, the Bucks' vigorous floor general. Lucas, Havlicek and Nowell are juniors and Siegfried is a senior.

Roberts' corner spot probably will go to Richie Hoyt, a senior, or junior Bob Knight, both 6-4. A Fostoria soph, 6-4 Doug McDonald is making a strong bid to crash the starting lineup at a forward position.

Taylor said Gary Gearhart, a junior, and newcomer Richard Reasbeck of Bellaire St. John, give state solid backcourt reserve strength.

As champions, Ohio can expect the "extra effort" from every one of its opponents on a 24-game schedule.

"We'll take them one at a time, but it's going to be tough matching our 25-3 record of last year," Taylor said.

"Sure we want to win another national championship. But right now our goal is the Big Ten title."

Lucas, Havlicek, Nowell, Siegfried Back This Year

Here's The Tentative Roster For 1960-61

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The tentative roster — player, hometown and class — of Ohio State's 1960-61 basketball team:

Gola, Arizin Spark Philly

NEW YORK (AP) —The other National Basketball Association clubs are finding out to their sorrow that the Philadelphia Warriors aren't a one-man team this season.

The New York Knickerbockers discovered Thursday night that the current Eastern Division leaders are composed of more than Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. The red-hot Warriors rolled up their eighth straight victory, outlasting the Knicks 116-112 in overtime with Tom Gola and Paul Arizin stealing the spotlight from Chamberlain.

Gola, playing the entire 53 minutes, supplied the impetus in the extra period. He scored seven of Philadelphia's 12 points — including the basket that put the Warriors ahead at the outset of the overtime session.

Arizin was high scorer with 33 points.

2 Minervans Fined

LISBON — Two Minerva residents were fined a total of $20 and costs Thursday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for traffic violations. Donald Bush, 38, was fined $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line and Ralph E. Scott, 18, $10 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Cancer Society Told Research Nears Cure

A breakthrough in cures for cancer may be close at hand, Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, pathologist, reported at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County unit of the American Cancer Society Thursday night at Lisbon.

Dr. Kolozsi said he feels research is nearing a solution and it probably will be in leukemia. Slides of different cancer growth were screened, followed by a question-and-answer session.

Mrs. Gertrude Reese, county coordinator, reported on the society's prevention study.

Mrs. Edna Jones of East Liverpool, president, was in charge. Dr. Marvin Kinsey of East Liverpool will speak at the next meeting Jan. 12 on oral cancer.

300 At Palestine Prom

EAST PALESTINE — About 300 attended the Junior High School football prom Thursday night at which Margie Hunston and Ray Harper reigned as queen and king, selected by the grid squad. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunston and Mr. and Mrs. William Harper.

Yankees' Maris, Daughter To Have Tonsils Removed

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP) — Three-year-old Susan Maris will have company when she has her tonsils removed next month.

Going through the same ordeal will be her daddy, Roger Maris, New York Yankee outfielder who earlier this week was named the most valuable player in the American League for 1960.

Maris has been troubled by a sore throat for the last several months and Thursday his physician recommended surgery.

North Carolina's agricultural income is expected to be $90 million more this year than in 1959.

Browns Show Six Straight Over St. Louis

CLEVELAND (AP)—The law of averages will be working against the Cleveland Browns when they meet the St. Louis Cardinals here Sunday afternoon.

The Browns have beaten the Cardinals six straight times and have dropped only two of the 20 games between the teams.

Both defeats were in 1956 when Cleveland had its lone losing campaign. The Cardinals were in Chicago then, but appear to be a different ball club since moving to St. Louis.

The Cards lost three of their first four games this season but then started to click and have won their last three. They have split even in two games with the New York Giants, who beat the Browns for the sixth straight time before a record crowd here last Sunday.

St. Louis last Sunday registered a 44-7 victory over the Washington Redskins, a team the Browns beat 31-10.

Coach Mike Nixon of the Redskins expressed the opinion that it was his team's poor performance rather than any tremendous showing by Cleveland that led to the loss to the Browns, but that wasn't his feeling in his post mortem on the Cardinals' victory.

He called Card halfback John Crow "the best back in the league, bar none."

Crow ranks second in the National Football League in rushing, having gained 524 yards in 107 carries for an average of 4.9 yards. Fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland is third with 521 yards in 95 attempts and a 5.5 - yard average.

Small College Title At Stake

Sellout Crowd To Watch OU-Bowling Green Battle

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The biggest battles of the campaign are on this weekend on Ohio's collegiate gridirons, with championship hopes riding on the results of several of the set-tos.

Sixteen of the state's 35 collegiate teams put their uniforms away after the weekend contests, only 13 games remaining on the slate.

Ohio State invades Iowa for a real big one. The Bucks, No. 3 in the nation, and the fourth-rated Hawkeyes need a victory to stay in the top echelon and close enough to pace-setting Minnesota to get into the Big Ten title picture should the Gophers bow to Purdue or Wisconsin in the last two tilts.

That one at Iowa City will be viewed by a nationwide television audience, and performances could have a lot to do with All-America nominations.

On the home front are three standout clashes. The eye-catching one is at Bowling Green where the Mid - American Conference champion Falcons will entertain (?) Ohio University's Bobcats.

The Athens powerhouse is No. 1 among the country's smaller colleges with an 8-0 record and a 207-21 scoring edge. The No. 4 Falcons are 7-0 with 168-47 in scoring. A crowd of 12,660 is assured, and no more tickets will be sold.

Bowling Green is riding an 18-game winning streak, and the favored Bobcats will be trying for their first verdict over the Bee-Gees since 1954.

The Ohio Conference also comes in for a share of the spotlight. Wooster, co-champion a year ago, carries a 5-2 record against unbeaten Muskingum's seven-game winners, and Ohio Wesleyan (6-1) goes against Wittenberg (7-1).

Muskingum and Wesleyan are deadlocked for the conference lead at 5-0, Wittenberg is 4-1 and Wooster 4-2, and victories for the latter pair could toss the standings into a turmoil.

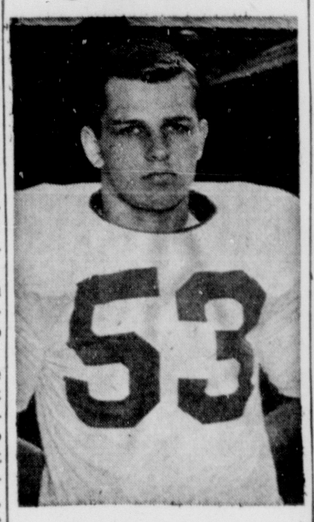
Western Reserve, pace-setter in the Presidents' Conference with 5-0, has the title sewed up. The Red Cats could retain the crown even if they lose to neighboring Case in the circuit's final game. The Scientists, after beating John Carroll in the league opener, have dropped four in a row.

Dayton and Miami, each trying to salvage something from unsatisfactory seasons, meet at Oxford; Cincinnati hopes to break its losing streak by visiting Marquette; Xavier invades Kentucky, which appears a bit out of the Musketeer class, and Toledo is host to Bradley in a night game.

Other Saturday clashes have Kenyon at Hiram, Heidelberg at Akron, Otterbein at Capital, Denison at Oberlin, all in the Ohio Conference; Ohio Northern at Waynesburg, Findlay at Baldwin-Wallace, Wilmington at Earlham, Hobart at John Carroll, Kent State at Louisville, Defiance at Anderson, Central State at St. Joseph's, Grand Rapids at Bluffton, and Ashland at Mount Union (night).

The Ohioans must win one of the 11 interstate games to match last season's record of 54 conquests over outsiders. For the campaign the Buckeyes have a 53-31-2 interstate record. Last year it was 54-47-0.

Scholarship Given Lisbon High Gridder



JIM TANNER

Jim Tanner, former Lisbon High grid star, received the first annual Baglier Award at Youngstown University, Dr. Joseph Smith, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced today.

The Baglier Award is a $500 tuition grant and will be given annually by John Baglier of the Baglier Ford Co. to the freshman football player at Youngstown University that has achieved excellance in athletic competition, scholastic aptitude and leadership.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tanner, 238 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon.

Tanner is studying engineering. He was an All-County center and linebacker at Lisbon and is now the number one center on the Youngstown freshman team.

Bituminous coal mining in the United States is more than 90 per cent mechanized.

Whitworth Star Leads In Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny Spurlock of Whitworth (Wash.) College has increased his lead in total offense while moving into first place in pass completions in small college football.

Statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau today showed Spurlock's total yardage gained at 1,670. He leads runner-up charley Miller of Austin by 191 yards. Miller, however, has two games remaining to play compared with one for the Whitworth quarterback.

In completing 29 of 57 aerials last week, Spurlock lifted his total completions to 116.

Ron Puhl of Lock Haven wrested the rushing lead from Joe Iacone of West Chester, who was idle last week. Puhl has gained 1,052 yards in 164 attempts. Iacone has 1,046 yards in 157 carries.

In the team figures, Florida A&M retained its scoring lead with a 67.3 points a game average. Florida A&M also is the total offense leader with a 473.3-yard average.

Tulane's Star Missing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane basketball coach Cliff Wells wasn't too happy with early practice. Missing was Jack Ardon, 6-foot-9 pivotman who was sidelined with a back injury.

110 At Dinner For Chester Jr. High Team

About 110 attended the annual father-son Chester Junior High School football banquet Thursday night at the American Legion home at which 22 boys received grid letters and eight cheerleaders were given awards.

The Rev. William Claghorn of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church was speaker for the banquet sponsored by the Colt Football Mothers.

The minister said three essentials of a good team are character, self-control and cooperation, emphasizing all must be underlain by Christian principles.

S. L. Miller, elementary teacher, presented gifts from the Colt Mothers to Mrs. Robert Hindes, president of the mothers group, and to Rev. Claghorn, Tuttle, Miss Buben and Bob Blake, Colt football coach.

Rick Hindes, Kenny Louk, Pete Pittenger, Billy Miller, George Selman, Jim Williams, Bruce Wolfe, Bill Wright, Jess Mayles, Neil Conkle and Larry Forsyth.

Cheerleader letters went to Gretchen Smith, Mary Margaret Anderson, Sherry Flowers, Jackie Treleven, Jackie Jackson, Karen Conklin, Martha Hobbs and Marlene Mullins.

Tommy Paisley and Bill Marino, managers, were introduced. Dancing followed.

Motorists Dispute Green Light After Right Angle Crash

Both motorists claimed the right-of-way after their cars collided at right angles at 25 miles an hour early today at a West End intersection, police reported.

The crash involved a 1960 model compact driven by Earl R. Rankin, 29, of 805 Alton St., and a 1951 two-door operated by Donald R. Shaw, 27, of 1004 May St., police said. It was timed at 1:42 this morning.

Each driver claimed the traffic signal at the intersection was in his favor, although Rankin was headed west on W. 9th St. and Shaw was driving north on Chestnut St., officers said. Police said it was impossible to determine which had the right-of-way.

The collision smashed the entire front of Rankin's auto and damaged the right rear fender and quarter panel of Shaw's car, police said.

Cincinnati U. Cage Clinic Set Saturday

CINCINNATI (AP) — An Ohio college coach and an Indiana high school mentor will be the headliners Saturday at the University of Cincinnati's fourth annual basketball clinic. Approximately 300 high chool coaches are expected to attend.

Ray Mears of Wittenberg University will discuss the controlled offense and attacks used against the zone defense. Howard Sharpe of Terre Haute (Ind.) Gerstmeyer High School will speak on offenses against a zone defense and against a sagging defense.

UC's head coach Ed Jucker also will speak at the clinic and there will be a one-hour scrimmage among players of the 1960-61 Cincinnati varsity for the benefit of the clinic guests.

Motorists Dispute Green Light After Right Angle Crash

Both motorists claimed the right-of-way after their cars collided at right angles at 25 miles an hour early today at a West End intersection, police reported.

The crash involved a 1960 model compact driven by Earl R. Rankin, 29, of 805 Alton St., and a 1951 two-door operated by Donald R. Shaw, 27, of 1004 May St., police said. It was timed at 1:42 this morning.

Each driver claimed the traffic signal at the intersection was in his favor, although Rankin was headed west on W. 9th St. and Shaw was driving north on Chestnut St., officers said. Police said it was impossible to determine which had the right-of-way.

The collision smashed the entire front of Rankin's auto and damaged the right rear fender and quarter panel of Shaw's car, police said.

Cincinnati U. Cage Clinic Set Saturday

CINCINNATI (AP) — An Ohio college coach and an Indiana high school mentor will be the headliners Saturday at the University of Cincinnati's fourth annual basketball clinic. Approximately 300 high chool coaches are expected to attend.

Ray Mears of Wittenberg University will discuss the controlled offense and attacks used against the zone defense. Howard Sharpe of Terre Haute (Ind.) Gerstmeyer High School will speak on offenses against a zone defense and against a sagging defense.

UC's head coach Ed Jucker also will speak at the clinic and there will be a one-hour scrimmage among players of the 1960-61 Cincinnati varsity for the benefit of the clinic guests.

Minister Gives Book Review At Meeting Of Club In Lisbon

A review of the book, "The Shape of Religion In America" (Marty), was given by the Rev. William Brown, pastor of the First Methodist Church, at a meeting of the Wednesday Evening Discussion Group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rutter of E. Chestnut St., Lisbon.

Stanley Kienzle, president, conducted business. Plans were made for a Christmas party, with a buffet supper and gift exchange, at the Hotel Wick Dec. 14. The host and hostess served lunch.

Lionettes Plan Events

The Lisbon Lionettes met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Fern Barnes on the Salineville Rd.

Plans were made for future events. On Nov. 18, the group will furnish the entertainment for the PTA at Rogers Elementary School. Dec. 5, it will hold a Christmas party for guests who assisted in programs which the group has presented at many places.

A club Christmas party will be held Dec. 14 at the Hotel Wick, with a gift exchange and dinner. The group entertained the Ruritan Club at a meeting Tuesday night in the Christian Church.

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons Club of Iva Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, met Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Leo Capehart, president, conducted business. Cards followed with five tables in play.

Christmas Party Set

Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Byron Albright, Mrs. Sara Rose, Mrs. Marie Leggett and Mrs. Esther Eells, hosts and hostesses.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party, with a coverdish dinner at 6 at the temple Dec. 14. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Marshall and Mrs. Julien S. Jones will be host and hostesses. Those attending will bring table service.

Mrs. Jack Lewis, a guest, Mrs. Thomas Liggett and Mrs. Russell Shaw were awarded prizes at bridge when Mrs. Edwin Bucher of Prospect St. entertained the Mercredi Club Wednesday night.

Lunch was served. Mrs. Galen Bye of the Lincoln Highway will entertain Dec. 7.

2 Win Prizes At Cards

Mrs. Robert McCaleese of the Franklin Square Rd. entertained club associates Wednesday night.

Two tables of 500 were in play, with prizes going to Mrs. William Burnip and Mrs. Carl Steitz. Mrs. Dean Rose and Mrs. Willis Coleman Jr. were guests. The hostess served lunch.

Mrs. Steitz will receive the group Dec. 14.

Caldwell Rebekah Lodge met Wednesday night in the Pythian Temple, with Mrs. Edna Ray, noble grand, presiding.

Games followed and lunch was served by Miss Sadie Pannier, Miss Nellie Gillis and Mrs. Kitty Snyder.

Gift Exchange Set

The next meeting will be Dec. 14, with a coverdish dinner at 6 and gift exchange.

Family Night Marked

Family Night was observed at the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday, when some 125 attended a coverdish dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Niland of New Waterford presented a magic act.

Miss Diana May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard May of Pleasant Heights, and a sophomore in Lisbon High School, underwent an emergency appendectomy at Salem City Hospital Wednesday.

More Used Dolls Asked For Repair

Mrs. Margaret Griffith of Gaston Pl. is appealing again for donations of more used dolls that she will repair and dress in time for Christmas. The Salvation Army will distribute them to needy children.

She said she hopes that dolls will be turned in as soon as possible and not the week before Christmas. She has 125 dolls and desires to receive more. Her phone is FU. 6-6718.

At the Salvation Army, new 12-inch dolls are being dressed by women volunteers. Mrs. William Henthorn said about 50 dolls remained to be dressed and any women of any denomination interested in helping may pick up the dolls to dress them.

Mrs. Hathorn said that these dolls will be combined with those that Mrs. Griffith repairs and they will be distributed the day before Christmas from the citadel toy shop.

Ohio Man Sentenced 1-20 Years In Slaying

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Edward Buckler's new mate has a long wait before they can start living together again as man and wife.

Buckler, 51, of nearby Lucasville, was married last week while out on bond. Thursday he was sentenced to 1-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary after pleading guilty to manslaughter in the Sept. 9 slaying of Luther Alley, 35-year-old Lucasville father of 15. Sheriff's deputies said the shooting of Alley in Buckler's front yard followed a drinking spree.

Chamber To Postpone Rural-Urban Program

The Chamber of Commerce announced today it will postpone a Rural-Urban Day program set next Wednesday, in which farm residents from nearby areas of Beaver, Hancock and Columbiana Counties were to be guests at a series of plant tours and a luncheon.

Recent bad weather has delayed the harvest for many district farmers, who consequently would be unable to take a day off from their fall chores to attend the program, the Chamber explained. The event will be rescheduled after the end of the year.

The program had been arranged by the Chamber's agriculture and conservation committee in cooperation with rural groups. The exchange of visits between farm and city residents has been held annually about four years.

Kentucky Bus Line May Be Dissolved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Blue Ribbon Lines, Inc., of Ashland, Ky., may be dissolved. Virginia Stage Lines, Inc., proposed dissolution of its wholly owned subsidiary in asking the Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday for permission to purchase the operating rights of Blue Ribbon and its remaining assets—a one-half acre tract on U.S. 23 in South Portsmouth, Ky., valued at $6,164.

Blue Ribbon operates buses between Ashland and Cincinnati; Ashland and Catlettsburg, Ky.; Portsmouth, Ohio, and South Shore, Ky.; Portsmouth and King's Addition, Ky.; Portsmouth and New Boston, Ohio; and Fullerton, Ky., and Carter, Ky.

Beauty Shop Unit Receives Reports

Reports were given on the recent state show in Columbus at the meeting of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association Unit 15 Tuesday night at Tice's Restaurant. Fourteen attended.

Reporting were Clyde Silverthorn, president; Mrs. Dorothy Putnam, hair fashion director; Mrs. Diane DeVille, unit chairman, and Clarence Gilbert, Mrs. Dora Fickle and Mrs. Jo Ann Dobbs.

Mrs. Putnam and her model, Mrs. Marian Zelasko, presented the "fluid bang" coiffure during the "Parade of Units."

A dinner dance followed along with another hair style show, "Fantasy Hair Styles," in which Mrs. Putnam and Mrs. Zelasko participated.

Silverthorn conducted business and welcomed Mrs. Eileen Oates, Mrs. Janice Brown and Mrs. Lee Mullen as new members.

Educational features will be presented at each meeting.

Officers will be elected at the Christmas party Dec. 13 at the restaurant.

2 Escapees Sentenced For Kidnap, Robbery

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two men who walked away from the Ohio reformatory honor camp here last month pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Thursday to charges of kidnaping, armed robbery and escaping confinement. Judge James McCrystal sentenced Sam Wellman, 21, and John Greenhill, 26, both of New Boston, Ohio, to undetermined terms in Ohio Penitentiary.

The pair was caught at Huron shortly after their escape. Authorities said that during their few hours of freedom Wellman and Greenhill stopped at a motel between here and Huron, demanded money and clothing from the proprietor and forced him to drive them to Huron.

We salute all those who served Freedom's Cause

Veterans Day, 1960 is set aside as a reminder that the "battle" for freedom and peace is never ending; that we must always be vigilant in its cause. We pay tribute today to all of the brave men and women, living and dead, who honorably served our country and helped preserve the freedom and democracy we all enjoy today. They will never be forgotten.
